PLAQUE TO MARILYN UNVEILED

Faubus Considers Closing of School

Jimmy Hoffa, What's He Like?

James Hoffa, who is fighting for the presidency of the powerful Brotherhood of Teamsters despite a rough time before the U.S. Senate committee investigating labor racketeering, is the subject of a feature article in Weekend Magazine in this issue.

Better Than Bayonet Rule

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Arkansas Governor Orval Faubus said today he might try to close Central High School rather than continue its integrated classes at federal bayonet point.

"It would be a very pleasant development," he said.

Faubus said enactment of new laws at a special session of the state legislature would be a necessary prelude to such a step. Earlier, he said he was considering calling such a session.

Asked whether a law to close the school would stand up in court, Faubus replied:

"I don't see why it shouldn't."

The embattled governor talked to reporters after conferring with a mothers' group which beseeched him to close the school.

About 140 mothers of Central High School students asked that the institution be closed and then reopened "under new sponsorship."

Earlier, President Eisenhower said the governor had encouraged mob action in the crisis.

He said it would have been "tantamount to acquiescence in anarchy" and would have resulted in "dissolution of the union" had he not ordered in troops. (See story below.)

In reply, Faubus told reporters:

TUESDAY MEETING

Asked whether he would adhere to any agreement made by a committee of southern governors which will see Eisenhower Tuesday on integration problems, the governor said: "any deal would have to meet with my approval."

He indicated he is studying the possibility of calling an emergency session of the legislature.

Faubus said Friday night he may call the legislature within 10 days.

The governor had said earlier that many legislators "pressured" him to call them to Little Rock so they could fight back against the federal government's forcible integration measures. Faubus also said that some legislators even offered to serve without pay.

Death Linked With Teamsters

WASHINGTON (AP)—A witness told the Senate rackets committee today an ailing Michigan auto dealer was told "they'd wheel him out in a casket" and later died during a Teamster Union strike backed by James R. Hoffa.

The witness was Joseph Kritch, now an automobile dealer in Northville, Mich., and once a big league baseball scout for the old St. Louis Browns.

Kritch also testified that Hoffa, leading candidate for the presidency of the Teamsters' Union, was the real backer of a Florida real estate venture which Kritch said sold useless lots to union members after a high-pressure advertising campaign.

Kritch said that an auto dealer named Love in Rosedale, a Detroit suburb, died during a strike in which Kritch said the Teamsters "put the pressure on" after learning that Love "had a bad heart."

Kritch said he heard the story from Henry Lower, one of Hoffa's lieutenants, and Mrs. Love.

FEW PICKETS

Kritch said the strike occurred in the early 1950s when Lower was head of Teamsters' local 376 in Michigan, which sought to organize automobile salesmen. He said Lower told him the union had only a few pickets at the company until Lower and Hoffa learned that "Mr. Love, who owned Rosedale Motors, had a bad heart."

Kritch quoted Lower as saying the union then "put the pressure on" and sent in 50 to 75 pickets who made obscene remarks to Love's daughter. He said Lower personally acknowledged telling Love "they'd wheel him out in a casket."

Kritch said Mrs. Love told him:

"My husband died. It was a horrible thing. Actually that killed my husband."

Notts Forest Suffers First Home Defeat

LONDON (Reuters) — Nottingham Forest, Cinderella team of the flu-ridden English Soccer League, today suffered its first home defeat of the season at the hands of West Bromwich Albion.

The victory lifted Albion, undefeated this year on the road, into third place over league champion Manchester United, which toppled to a 3-1 defeat at the hands of Wolverhampton.

MESSRS. FAIR, WARMER STAY FOR WEEKEND

Weatherman Bill Mackie has fingers and toes crossed, for luck, but he's pretty certain of this weekend's weather.

"I'm optimistic. The weather should be even better than during the last two or three days. Skies will be sunny, and temperatures will be near 70 degrees.

"This is better than average for this time of year," he said.

City's 'Best' Go to Marilyn

Victoria's good wishes winged across 2,500 miles today as "our" swimming sweetheart, Marilyn Bell, became the bride of Joseph W. Di Lascio.

While Marilyn repeated her wedding vows at Alderwood, Ont., a group of her Victoria admirers gathered at the finish point of her successful swim of Juan de Fuca Strait.

At a ceremony in Beacon Hill Park, tribute was paid to Marilyn and best wishes went forth for a happy married life.

Main purpose of the ceremony was to unveil a handsome plaque, carved in Toronto, and mounted on a cairn at Finlayson Point, directly above the spot where the plucky swimmer landed after her victorious swim. The added bonus was the opportunity to wish Marilyn the best on the occasion of her wedding, held this morning in Alderwood, Ont.

SENDS THANKS

Ald. Austin Curtis, chairman at the 10 a.m. ceremony, suggested "most of us can cast our minds back 13 months, to the time when a young Canadian girl arrived from the United States right down here."

The taped greetings made by Marilyn and Gus will be broadcast tonight over CJVI on the 11.05 p.m. sports program.

At this stage of the proceedings Marilyn's voice was heard from a record thanking "the people of Victoria for a wonderful memorial to mark our swim."

Her famous coach, Gus Ryder, also was heard on the record.

"It was grand to be in that great western country and to enjoy its famous hospitality," he said.

WON HEARTS

"Marilyn won the hearts of Victoria people soon after her arrival a year ago," he said. "We saw her as a typical Canadian girl, and we all came to love her while she was here. I'm going to unveil what will be a permanent memento of

Colorful Rite Unites Marilyn, Ex-Lifeguard

From BUP and CP Dispatches

ALDERWOOD, Ont. — Marilyn Bell, 19, Canada's favorite long-distance swimmer, and Wesley Di Lascio, an ex-lifeguard at Atlantic City, N.J., were married today in flower-decked St. Ambrose Roman Catholic Church.

The tiny bride was clad in a heavily brocaded gown of "Monastery" white.

"It's not an off-white or ivory tone," she explained, "it's just about the whitest white there is." Clouds of veiling fell from a pearl-encrusted bandeau atop the bride's blonde head, over the gently-scooped neckline and fitted bodice of her gown to her fingertips. Long-sheathed lilypoint sleeves and a slight sweep to the bouffant skirt

'MIKE' PEARSON SAYS:

Town Meeting Of World: UN

By HON. LESTER B. PEARSON

(Copyright, 1957. All rights reserved.)

The twelfth Assembly of the United Nations has been meeting now for almost two weeks. Its 82 delegations are hard at work on the 65 items on its agenda (many of them hardy perennials).

The great hall and the committee rooms on the East River in New York are resounding to the appeals and the accusations of orators from every corner of the globe. It is indeed the town meeting of the world and it is good that it is taking place.

PEARSON

Newspapers, radio and television are carrying these United Nations discussions into living rooms from Patagonia to Pakistan. Unfortunately, this will too often be done in terms of dissension and difference. Conflict is always news.

No one, however, is likely to hear much about a United Nations expert sub-committee working on the eradication of malaria in some African land or one which may be trying to improve food production in Afghanistan. This kind of quiet but essential achievement does not often have anybody to sing its praises—at least on the front page.

The United Nations is the subject of increasing criticism these days. Some of that criticism is constructive; much of it is ill-informed, or occasionally, malevolent.

It is true that the voice of reason and conciliation at New York is often drowned out by angry shouts; by appeals to prejudice or self-interest.

From my own experience I know that the assembly can become a rough forum for diplomacy and negotiation. But it is a realistic one, reflecting the world as it is today, not as it once was or as we would like it to be; and it is the only one we have

CANVASSERS READY

Red Feather Drive Under Way Tuesday

Advance canvassers of the Community Chest will swing into action Tuesday in a campaign reaching out to 400 local firms and individuals.

By Oct. 15, 1,400 volunteers will join in a two-day campaign of Greater Victoria homes.

This year their goal is $251,717, an increase of 14.2 per cent over 1956 returns.

"This amount is the minimum required if vital services of the 20-member agencies are to be maintained in 1958," campaign chairman H. L. Alexander said today.

"We have the team to do the job. To make their job lighter I would ask only one favor on their behalf. Please plan your contributions in advance so that 'call backs' are kept to a minimum."

Community Chest rally for canvassers will be held at the Odeon Theatre Sunday at 9 p.m., prior to a showing of "The Admiral Crichton."

The picture and theatre staff services will be provided free of charge to the chest.

WIRE BRIEFS

Argentine Strike Ends

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—A 24-hour strike which made idle most Argentine factories ended Friday night as quietly as it had begun.

Hunt for Pair Dropped

VANCOUVER (CP) — An air search for two sports fishermen was called off today after five aircraft failed Friday to find any trace of them. Missing are Peter Van Kleek, 27, and D. H. Cherry, 35, both of Vancouver.

Soviet Reports Denied

LONDON (Reuters) — The foreign office today categorically denied Soviet reports that Jordan has asked for the return of a number of British officers dismissed from the Jordanian army after the expulsion of Gen. Sir John Glubb, former commander of Jordan's Arab Legion.

Seek Wage Boost

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP) — The Amalgamated Civil Servants of Canada (CCL) Friday decided at its annual convention here to ask the federal government for a salary increase.

Flu Closes Schools

TRAIL, B.C. (CP)—Closing of two more schools Friday brought to four the number shut down in Trail district as result of an influenza epidemic which started here Monday.

Ike Accuses Faubus Of Encouraging Mobs

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — President Eisenhower today indirectly accused Arkansas Governor Orval Faubus of encouraging "mobs of extremists to flout the orders of a federal court."

Eisenhower set forth his views in a telegram to Senator Richard Russell (Dem., Ga.) who had accused the troops sent to Little Rock of high-handed tactics reminiscent of Hitler's Nazi storm troopers.

On that point, the president told Russell in replying to the senator's protest: "I must say that I completely fail to comprehend your comparison of our troops to Hitler's storm troopers. In one case military power was used to further the ambitions and purposes of a ruthless dictator; in the other to preserve the institutions of free government."

In sharp criticism of how the Arkansas state government handled the situation in Little Rock prior to the call-out of federal troops, Eisenhower did not mention Faubus by name. But there was no mistaking that the criticism was directed at the governor.

The president said: "My conviction is that had the police powers of the State of Arkansas been utilized not to frustrate the orders of the court but to support them, the ensuring violence and open disrespect for the law and for the federal judiciary would never have occurred."

Turn Clocks BACK One Hour Tonight

Clocks will be turned back one hour tonight to give B.C. residents the hour taken away from them last April when daylight saving time was started for the year.

Official timepieces will be turned back between midnight and 2 a.m. Sunday, but it is not necessary for householders to sit around sleepily before adjusting their own clocks and watches.

It can be done Saturday night before bedtime, Sunday on waking up, or can even be hoarded all day Sunday and not taken off the clock until Monday morning, when an extra hour of bedtime can be picked up before going to work.

The important thing to remember is — turn the clock BACK. Not forward. Back, not forward. Back, not . . .

I see Marilyn's taken th' plunge.

It is true also that there is often a yawning gap between words in New York and deeds at home. Indeed some good words, like peace, democracy, freedom, have been abused and misused at United Nations meetings to the point where the original meaning is in danger of being completely lost.

There is no rule against verbal aggression at these meetings and the president's gavel is not much protection against it.

More depressing—and dangerous—is the difference in the respect shown by various members for United Nations decisions. I know, of course, that resolutions under the charter are only recommendations, not orders; that confusion on this point is one of the main sources of unfounded criticism of the United Nations. But I know also that countries which have "a decent respect for the opinion of mankind" will be influenced by such resolutions passed by a two-thirds majority. Others ignore or treat them with contempt.

The attitude, for instance of the United Kingdom and France and Israel toward the Suez resolutions at the last assembly session was in startling contrast with that of the Communist members to those about Hungary. Even some Arab and Asian states—suspicious generally of Western motives and cherishing their "neutrality" in the cold war—acknowledged that difference.

This "double standard" has no sanction in the charter. It is the fault of the members concerned; nevertheless its demonstration in the Hungarian tragedy and the feeling of anger and impotence in the face of Soviet aggression at that time has been a main reason for increased criticism of the world organization.

Superstate Role Opposed

Would Hungary, however, be better off if there had been no United Nations. No, worse. Would its people have benefitted if those members of the United Nations, who wished to do so, had met the challenge of Russian intervention by force and risked a general war?

Certainly under the United Nations charter the assembly could not order such force to be used. Those who complain of this should recall that not one of the great powers at San Francisco would have tolerated for a minute giving the United Nations the power and authority of a superstate; the right to resort to force by majority decision. The Soviet was not alone in its fear of the effect of the United Nations charter on national sovereignty.

So today the United Nations is merely a collection of sovereign states. It can do only what those states are willing to do through resolutions accepted by them.

There is one exception to this; certain decisions in the security council which are binding on all under the charter. But these decisions can be taken only by the unanimous vote of the permanent members. That doesn't happen in "cold war"; though in San Francisco in 1945, we hoped it might happen.

What is required is the will and desire of nations to act together for peace and progress as laid down in the Charter.

What we must do is to keep trying to use our present organisation to better advantage; to strengthen it wherever possible; do our very best to come to acceptable arrangements even with those we have reason to fear; and to work out increasingly friendly relationships with those new nations who now represent a restless and insistent force in the world.

were other traditional choices Marilyn made.

They included some who watched the gallant little swimmer battle her way across Lake Ontario, the English Channel, and Strait of Juan de Fuca, schoolmates and old family friends.

Marilyn and Joe will settle in Camden, N.J., where the bridegroom has a job as a state parole officer.

BOUQUET A SECRET

Marilyn's bouquet, which she had kept a secret even from bridesmaids until the last minute, was a bright array of white gardenias, stephanotis and lily of the valley. The church decorations of white dahlias and mums echoed the simplicity of her glowing gown and the white-carpeted aisle.

The bridesmaids, her schoolmate Maria Brenk, who was maid of honor, her younger sister, Karen, and two cousins of the bridegroom from Atlantic City, Carmella and Mary Gertrude Caserano, were clad in etheral blue faille and carried showers of red roses, vivid pink carnations, and lily of the valley.

About 1,000 persons were on hand when the couple stepped smilingly from the church into bright September sunshine.

Some 600 persons jammed the small church during the long service, but no cameras had been allowed inside the door.

The Rev. William O'Brien, who brought Marilyn into the Roman Catholic faith 18 months ago, performed today's wedding ceremony and celebrated the nuptial low mass that followed.

Marilyn is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sydney Bell of nearby Port Credit.

this occasion. We are happy to do this for Marilyn, and I'm sure you will join us in wishing her happiness for the future."

Capt. Ellis Cavin, who navigatned Marilyn on her successful swim, extended greetings to all the Toronto swim team.

"Maybe she could have been here to make the swim the other way," he said. "Today would have been a perfect day for it."

FINISH RECALLED

"When we started this community swim project, we knew we would have our troubles," he said, "but Marilyn's swim was perfect. The weather was fine, and there must have been 20,000 people to see her land."

Ald. Curtis led the crowd in saying "best wishes, Marilyn," and three rousing "hurrahs."

One other greeting sent to Marilyn from Victoria was a telegram wired Friday night by Canadian National Telegraphs.

Held at the office here during the week, it was sent off with the signatures of scores of Victorians who paid the 10 cents asked to have each name listed on the wire.

Sharp Slash in Spending U.K. Theme at Conference

(See Also Page 5)

MONT TREMBLANT, Que. (CP)—Britain probably will inform her sterling-area Commonwealth partners today they must reduce spending to prevent a run on their scarce dollar reserves.

As the sterling area's banker, Britain will lead off the Commonwealth finance ministers meeting with a review of the sterling area's financial headaches.

Informants said Peter Thorneycroft, chancellor of the U.K. exchequer, will emphasize there is need for belt-tightening.

This may throw a shadow over the talks which Canada hopes will lead to a full-dress Commonwealth trade and economic conference next year.

Many of the Commonwealth countries are reported to be badly in need of capital. Britain has already taken steps to reduce spending on her own domestic projects and now she wants other sterling area countries in the Commonwealth to take similar action.

There may be some balking.

Asian countries are said to be particularly determined to get ahead with their economic development programs. India has asked the World Bank for a huge loan of some $1,400,000,000. It is understood she had not met with much success.

Emerging from the meeting, too, is some cynicism over what a full-scale economic conference could accomplish. As the four-day talks got under way, it was learned that none of the visiting delegates had any authority from home governments to commit their countries to a full-scale conference.

U.S. Navy Guns Cock Hostile Jet Plane

Missiles Readied by 6th Fleet As Plane Flees Carrier Craft

WITH U.S. 6TH FLEET (AP) — Vice-Admiral Charles R. Brown ordered American jet interceptors Friday to shoot down with sidewinder missiles a possible hostile aircraft over the U.S. 6th Fleet off Turkey. The plane escaped to Communist Bulgaria before U.S. Navy delta wing Skyways could catch it.

An unidentified plane believed to be Russian flew over American amphibious forces massed in Turkey's Saros Gulf at midday on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

The 6th Fleet took no action on the first three days, although the plane was detected on radar and by jet trails. The plane was believed to be on a photographic mission. It flew higher than 35,000 feet. Thursday, the twin-jet swept-wing aircraft came in low, at an estimated speed of 600 miles an hour plus.

Admiral Brown, the 6th Fleet commander, radioed to Rear-Admiral Clifford H. Buerfeldt's carrier force 100 to 200 miles away, "a possibly hostile aircraft is approaching your area. If it menaces your formation use sidewinders to prevent photography."

Three Carriers Put on Alert

Sidewinders are slender, air-to-air missiles carried beneath a plane's wings. They have homing devices and are armed with conventional high-explosive warheads.

Commanders of the three carriers in the 90-ship fleet ordered an "alert one"—which means jet fighters must be ready to take off immediately. One of the pilots ready on catapults to blast off said later: "I was prepared to fire the first shot in world war three."

Many officers and several civillians saw copies of Admiral Brown's order, but Brown declined officially to confirm or deny such a message was transmitted. Brown refused permission for correspondents to file the story through navy communications, but said they were at liberty to do so by other means.

There was some question whether the American fleet would have the legal right to shoot down a plane menacing it, even though the plane violated Turkish and Greek territory.

The 7th Fleet, in the Far East, has orders to shoot down planes that menace their formations or intrude over Japan. A ranking American officer here said "the Communists certainly have not been slow to knock ours down when they wander over Red territory."

Earlier during the exercises, the aircraft carrier Lake Champlain made sonar contact with an unidentified submarine. Exercise Deepwater ended today.

WHAT'S YOUR OPINION?

By DINAH KERR and IRVING STRICKLAND

Question: "What type of punishment would you recommend for the hoodlums responsible in attacks on citizens during the past few weeks?"

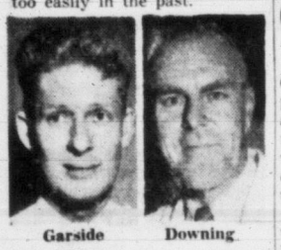
Miss Marjorie Mooney, 2151 Ferndale: "I think they need help rather than punishment. They haven't had the training in the home that would make them decent citizens. I think they should be put in the care of a strict but understanding probation officer."

Mooney Kitson

Mrs. Vi Kitson, 491 Superior: "I think there should be two punishments—one for the hoodlums and one for the parents. The youths should be subjected to the lash and the parents should be made to pay a heavy fine."

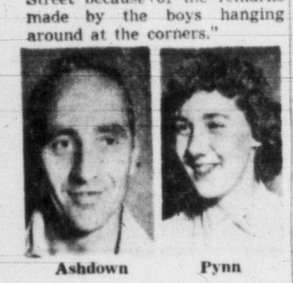
Ray Garside, display artist, 1151 Oxford: "I think they should take a big stick to them. They're in need of very strong discipline and they've got off too easily in the past."



Garside Downing

Chris Downing, receiving clerk, 1454 Taunton: "I think their pictures should be printed in the newspapers under the heading 'Do You Know This Youth?' That would probably shame them into better behavior."

Laurie Ashdown, shipper, 651 Belton: "I'd give them pretty stiff punishment—a darn good lashing. There's no reason and no sense to their actions. I know my daughter is even afraid to walk down Yates Street because of the remarks made by the boys hanging around at the corners."



Ashdown Pynn

Miss Shirley Pynn, 1590 Haultain: "A social worker or psychiatrist should go into their background to find out what is behind their actions. Then punishment should be decided by someone in authority."

Segregation Order

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (UP) — The federal transportation board today ordered the Johannesburg city council to institute total segregation in all buses and other public vehicles by Jan. 1.

2nd ICBM Test

TOKYO (Reuters) — The Japanese newspaper Mainichi today publishes a dispatch from London quoting a leading Japanese trade unionist as saying he was told in Moscow that Russia has succeeded in a second test of an intercontinental ballistic missile.

'Nice Guy', Says Boy Of Accused Kidnapper

EVERETT, Wash. (AP) — George E. Collins, the man who planned the perfect kidnapping and then bungled at every hand the one he admits he staged, was past the first step today on a trail which could lead to the gallows.

With the 20-year-old aircraft worker on the perilous route is Katherine Myers, 21, the woman with whom he lived, who mothered his child and shared their abject poverty.

They have admitted kidnapping and holding for $10,000 ransom—which never was paid—the eight-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Crary of Edmonds.

Free as a bee and enjoying every moment of his days of glory is little Lee Crary, who by a strange quirk of fate was the youngster Collins snatched from a playground last Monday.

In a reversal of the role they had played from then until Thursday noon, the Crary boy Friday fingered Collins, a prisoner in a police lineup, and said:

A NICE GUY

And then, in an aside to Snohomish County sheriff Bob Twitchell, Lee said:

"He's a pretty nice guy."

After the brief show-up, Collins and Miss Myers were taken before superior court judge Thomas Stiger and formally charged with first degree kidnapping. The penalty for such a crime in Washington state is life imprisonment or death by hanging.

Judge Stiger would not accept an immediate plea because of the gravity of the offence. He appointed separate lawyers for the pair and set next Thursday morning for a hearing. Meanwhile, they are being held without bail.

ADMITTED CRIME

Collins admitted the crime, implicating Miss Myers, in a 13-page statement which laid the action to a desperate need for money. Neighbors of the couple said there was no doubt of their financial plight.

The ramshackle cabin in which they lived was unpainted and contained scarcely a trace of food. The electricity had been turned off for non-payment of the bill. Candles were their source of light. A television set had been repossessed by a finance company. Neighbors had been giving them food and milk.

Collins said he had first considered kidnapping someone two months ago as a means of escaping his poverty. He had even drawn up a master plan which Sheriff Twitchell said was so good he would not make the details public.

Collins admitted he didn't follow any of the directions. Instead, he picked up young Crary Monday afternoon on the spur of the moment, unaware the child was the son of an auto parts salesman of modest means.

Clear-Cut Policies Urged by UBCM Chief

NELSON (CP) — Municipal leaders were urged Friday to work towards stronger local government.

North Cowichan Reeve C. A. P. Murison, president-elect of the Union of B.C. Municipalities, told the convention it had three important objectives.

Local councils, he said, "must try and shape statutes that are flexible. Such statutes must allow for commonsense adaptation to local services. They must not be allowed to become legalistic straightjackets."

He said local government must be a strong representative of the electors, "not weakened by handing responsibility over to semi-elected committees with power to spend money without reference to elected councils."

"And we have got to devote more energy to the broad term municipal-provincial relations," Reeve Murison said.

"We need a comprehensive clear-cut policy. We must know ourselves what we want and be prepared to get it."

UBCM BACKS LAY JUDGES

NELSON — Delegates to Union of British Columbia Municipalities here Friday endorsed a resolution in favor of retaining present B.C. lay magistrates instead of travelling magistrates who are members of the bar association.

Russ Spreading False Rumors Turkey Says

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP) — Voicing concern over the buildup of Communist-supplied arms in Syria, Turkey told the United Nations Friday night she is duty bound to protect the security of her southern flank.

Turkish ambassador Seyfullah Esin told the 82-nation General Assembly his government considers Syrian independence vital to Turkey's safety.

"That is the reason why the recent events in that country are being followed by my government with attention and concern from the viewpoint of our own security," Esin said.

He accused the Soviet Union of waging a campaign of "false rumors" aimed at torpedoing Turkish-Syrian relations even as Communist arms were being sent to Syria.

Russia recently accused Turkey of massing troops along Syria's border. The charge was levelled after Turkey had conducted troop manoeuvres near her southern frontier.

TEMPTED BY ARMS

State Secretary Dulles told the assembly in his policy speech last week that small nations receiving Soviet arms shipments might be tempted into acts of "direct aggression."

Before Eskin spoke, Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister V. V. Kuznetsov told a press conference Russia had proposed to the United States, Britain and France that the Big Four refrain from shipping arms to the Middle East. Kuznetsov asserted that his suggestion went "unexamined."

The United States already for a "hands off" declaration of the declaration of the Middle has rejected Russian proposals East.

CD Expenses Share Approved by UBCM

NELSON (CP) — Civil defence costs should be partly paid by municipaltiies, delegates decided at the convention of the Union of British Columbia Municipalities meeting here Friday.

They defeated a resolution presented by Langley asking that municipalities be relieved of all civil defence costs.

Navy Chiefs Split on Carriers

LONDON (AP)—NATO air-sea manoeuvres in the North Sea drew to an end today with U.S. and British commanders differing on the ability of a carrier force to withstand all-out submarine attacks.

U.S. Admiral Jerauld Wright, NATO's sea commander, said the exercises "satisfactorily demonstrated" the fleet's capacity to deal with submarines.

A British officer, Admiral Sir John Eccles, said Friday:

"We have not got anything like enough forces with which to carry out our primary task, either in the air, under the sea or on the sea . . . the underwater threat has increased to a much greater extent than our defence capability."

But an American naval spokesman said they were talking about different phases of the operation and there was "no conflict" in the statements.

WOULD BE LATE

Air Marshal Sir Bryan Reynolds of the RAF joined Eccles in another statement which also bore a pessimistic note. Pointing out that U.S. and Canadian ships were part of the defence force, they said that in war these reinforcements might be several days late. Their statement issued in London said the threat to the United States and Canada from guided missiles launched by submarine might make reinforcement "doubtful in early days."

Tragedies of Little Rock

WHEN THE UNITED STATES Supreme Court brought down its classical judgment ruling Negroes admissible to public schools formerly reserved for white children, it was immediately obvious that the process of assimilation would have to be gradual.

Centuries-old traditions could not be set aside overnight. The emotions they stirred could not be erased in one sweeping gesture. The fires of racial animosities in certain sections of the country would take time to cool. Moreover, in some parts of the south, militant opposition to desegregation was bound to create incidents.

Those incidents were not long in coming. Political considerations inspired extremist agitation and agitation produced results. But even without such inspiration, ingrown prejudices might have led to action.

Desegregation is a major social change disliked by thousands of southerners, considered intolerable by some.

This was the situation before Little Rock, Arkansas, became the focal point of resistance to the entry of Negro children into formerly white schools.

It is one of the tragedies of Little Rock that events there have frustrated carefully prepared plans to introduce Negro students peacefully and gradually into classes. Civic officials, led by the mayor, were intent on accomplishing integration — whether they like it or not— by methods which would avoid violence and would conform to the law of the land.

They have been defeated in that attempt by a faction not prepared to adjust itself to the desegregation law.

"The mob that assembled (at Central High School in Little Rock on Monday) was no spontaneous assembly," says the mayor. "It was agitated, aroused and assembled by a concerted plan of action."

It is another tragedy of Little Rock that the community has been stamped by the imprint of this faction which appears to find leadership in Governor Orval E. Faubus.

Superimposed on the distant public's concept of the entire Little Rock community is the picture drawn of a violence-seeking crowd in front of the high school—"just poor white trash, mostly," as a Southern newspaperman described it.

On every hand, responsible observers of the national scene have pointed to the propaganda weapon Little Rock has placed in the hands of communists. By news photo, report and comment, the Arkansas centre is being used as a means of indicating to colored peoples of the world the United States attitude to those who are not-white.

The United States can argue, of course, that discrimination and oppression in communist states is infinitely more vicious. That argument does not, however, blot out the hate-filled face of a Little Rock citizen intent on doing violence to a Negro when such pictures appear in the newspapers of the world—some parts of it uncommitted to democracy.

Nor does the argument obliterate the destructive statements of Governor Faubus: "We are now an occupied territory. . . You will recall that it was quiet in Paris during the German occupation and it's quiet in Budapest today."

What purpose would be served by honest and fair men pointing out also that it was quiet in parts of the south during the regime of Huey Long?

Little Rock has become a threefold disaster. It is a disaster to the conscientious citizens who were prepared to uphold the law of the land in their home town of Little Rock. It is a disaster to the cause of desegregation, which has unquestionably been set back by violence there. And it is a disaster for the democratic processes championed by the United States among nations of the world aspiring to a new freedom.

A Quick Remedy Needed

MANY VICTORIANS ARE ASKing themselves a question concerning the three recent cases of violent hoodlumism in this city. They are trying to decide in their own minds whether the last two incidents —a brutal assault on two young soldiers and another on a 17-year-old girl—would have occurred if the first of the three had been more severely dealt with.

This case involved the senseless terrorism of young bullies who threw a girl fully clothed into the waters of the Gorge. The suspended sentence given seemed to many citizens to be a very mild form of rebuke. They are wondering if a good dose of physical punishment would not have made a more profound impression, not only on the delinquents involved, but on others in the community who might feel inclined to try out their perverted anti-social urges on out-numbered youths or girls.

The obviously common trait among all these young misfits is cowardice. Their attacks are always staged by several against one or two, or against girls. They avoid a fair fight. They strike a blow in the dark and then run.

If cowardice is one of their chief characteristics, then fear should be an effective deterrent to their vicious behavior. And fear would be inspired by some quickly administered corporal punishment.

So goes the reasoning, and there is much to recommend it. The long-term remedy, of course, must be otherwise. But until there are the funds and personnel to carry out widespread sociological measures the immediate need is to make our streets safe for decent citizens.

At the moment, the victims of these hooligans are getting the worst of it. Fixing up that situation seems to be the first job at hand.

As We Say and As We Do

NATIVE-BORN CANADIANS can take little pride in the official figures which reveal that the crime rate among them is higher in almost every category than it is among foreign-born Canadians.

Only in the field of gambling and lotteries were foreign-born citizens (mainly of Asiatic origin) more frequently guilty than native-born, and this was due to the fact that forms of gambling most patronized by native-born Canadians—card games and horse racing—are legal whereas the lotteries and gambling games most favored by Oriental races are not.

In homicide, sex offences and other serious crime, persons born in this country showed higher rates of conviction. And oddly enough, the "foreign-born" element which had the next highest rate was that section of the Canadian population which originated in the U.S.

Sociologists may be able to derive some covering principle for these statistical results. Perhaps the greater personal freedoms in this continent are conducive to disrespect for the law. Perhaps the type of person who chooses to come to this continent in hopes of new opportunity is less likely to resort to crime. Perhaps a larger proportion of juvenile offenders is included in the native-born totals.

Whatever the reason may be, it will offer little comfort to those Canadian agencies concerned with the manners and morals of our people. Nor does it offer much of an example for newcomers to our national community.

Clearing the Schools

As president of Greater Victoria Teachers' Association I wish to express grave concern over the impression that might be gained from the item in Thursday's Times, headlined "School Rowdyism Curbs Discussed."

The demand for "uniform policing of junior and senior high school evening functions to see if order can be preserved" implies two things, both very false.

First, that it was a common thing for junior and senior high school functions to be disorderly, and secondly, that the students themselves are trouble-makers.

Teachers do not require assistance to control high school students, and it is an injustice to the students to imply that they do.

The isolated instances of trouble have been the result of outsiders. Teachers would welcome help in protecting school functions and school property from interference from the current outside hoodlum element.

This is no doubt what the school board had in mind.

Sally Ann Success

May I take this opportunity of expressing my heartfelt thanks to the citizens of Victoria for their support of the recent Red Shield Appeal. Again this year we reached our objective and the work of The Salvation Army in this area will be able to continue and expand.

I have had the privilege of serving as chairman of the Red Shield Campaign Committee for the past five years and not once during that time have the citizens of Victoria failed to rally to our support both in the matter of contributing to the appeal and also in voluntarily giving their time and energy to assist in canvassing. I feel highly honored by this proof of their endorsement of our cause.

The multiplicity of duties connected with the forthcoming Centennial celebrations have made it necessary for me to relinquish the chairmanship of the Red Shield Appeal, and I would ask the many kind and generous friends of the Salvation Army to give to the new chairman, Mr. Peter Taylor, the same co-operation and support which has been so faithfully given during my term of office.

Let us all make sure there is no retrenching for the Salvation Army here in Victoria but rather let us get behind this very worthwhile organization and the magnificent work they are doing in our midst.

CAPT. D. J. PROUDFOOT.

'Mere Punks'

These are indeed strange times we live in. People elect, all in good faith, ministers of the Crown, and the examples we have had lately are not of the best. A minister tests the curves on the highway at sixty miles an hour—surely rather a high rate of speed for curves where one could not see what might be round the corner—and then calls the Mounties who catch him "mere punks." After all the Mounted Police are tested and tried men the majority of citizens look up to. Has a man who preaches in churches forgotten the command "Be ye the first to cast a stone."

PUZZLED.

So Shall Ye Reap

What is the world coming to when a young girl should be brutally beaten up?

Think of the poor parents of the girl seeing their daughter come in beaten and bleeding by young boys of 14 or so. It seems to me a pity the days of lashes are getting less instead of more.

The old text reads: "As ye sow, so shall ye reap." Those boys have a long time to live till they are grown men. The parents of such boys have a lot to answer for. I sincerely hope something will be done to stop this sort of thing.

K. I. ALSDORF.

WHEN WE WERE VERY YOUNG — By GUS SIVERTZ

Boyhood's Lofty View From Tree Forts

TREES are the nicest people. They are the best of company and are so friendly that they have the power to smooth out our ruffled nerves and remove the disquiet of our minds. And unlike humans they grow old with the utmost grace, with none of the sagging ugliness that advancing years inflict on men and women. I have seen wind-whipped, gale-torn old trees which have stood on thin soiled rocky headlands and resisted for more than a century the onslaughts of west coast storms. Yet in their gnarled and twisted limbs there was still a rugged beauty—the epitome of self preservation as they lifted ancient branches to the sun.

Sivertz

Little boys know trees if they are fortunate enough to live, as we do on this Pacific slope, amidst myriad trees of so many various species. They do not talk but they listen to the voices of the trees and understand them as they do dogs and horses.

It must be sad indeed for those unhappy people to whom trees have little or no meaning save to be tortured into weird shapes in formal gardens or cut down for lumber. It must be sad for those who are blind to the exquisite beauty of trees and deaf to their many voices.

Forests and Sea

When we were very young there were two very great influences in our lives —the seeming illimitable expanse of our forests and the constant consciousness of the almost surrounding sea. And of course there were also the ancient live rocks that thrust themselves up between copses for all the world like the bones of the earth pushing out through its skin.

Some days we would just wander about without any purpose through the woods, particularly in the autumn which is the quiet time for trees when the deciduous varieties shed their leavy coverings to stand naked and at rest in the dormant winter months.

There would be the inevitable, acrid smell of smoke as some farmer started to burn out a clearing and on such days the trees spoke so softly to one another that their voices seemed only to be Nature sighing at the passing of summer.

Then a little wind would rustle through the forest, just a faint stirring of the air, and you could hear the trees chuckling as their crisp leaves became infected with some facet of gaiety that one could not see.

Tree Voices

A laughing whisper would race through the branches to die away as it was lost among the sombre cedars and dignified firs whose evergreen spires appeared to frown down on the frivolous alders, willows, arbutus and others in the deciduous family.

The oaks, of course, stood four-square on their sturdy trunks and played no part in the folly of the lesser trees.

But the oaks were not unfriendly to us boys. Their wide-spreading rough limbs provided ideal foundations for our secret tree houses. The oaks were even better than maples for these aerial hide-outs, but not long ago I saw in an old, old maple, the remains of some boy's tree fort built almost fifty years ago. It is an interesting speculation to wonder what those boys did with their lives in the ensuing half-century.

I think in my time I built, or assisted in building, about half a dozen such tree houses (which we called "forts") and I have no memory now of what we did once we had assembled the boards and scrounged the nails to put together our bowers.

My feeling is that we did very little of anything but just sat there with the sense of loftiness in outlook that was actually belied by the fact that the height of the best fort was only about 20 feet or so.

Hawk Attack

Birds were our companions and it was amazing how soon they ignored our alien presence and went about their own affairs without any sign of fear.

I do remember once that a small hawk invaded our tree in search of a sparrow's nest and the fun began when the stout little chaps ganged up on the invader. In some way known only to themselves the sparrows sent out their battle cries and in moments a dozen or more dived on the unhappy hawk like miniature Stukas and worried and harried him until he took refuge in wild upward flight.

Then, flushed with victory, the sparrows returned to the tree, bustling and chirping in defiance of any intruder. And all the while the mother sparrow had sat unmoved on her nest, certain, apparently that the hawk would be driven off by her aroused clan.

On other days we would simply lie on the boards and look into the segments of the sky that would be revealed and then hidden as a small breeze fluttered through the great branches of our oak.

And if we were very quiet the voices of the forest could be heard—voices calm and peaceful from the dark firs; gay and laughing from the deciduous trees; barely audible from the cedars; and beneath it all a chattering undertone from the shrubs and saplings.

There was no consciousness of a message from the forest but there was a feeling of affinity with the earth and all that grew upon it so that we felt that here, indeed, was peace.

FROM BONN, GERMANY — By JOSEPH ALSOP

The Fifty-Fifty Split in Syrian Stock

MOST of the participants in last month's left-wing coup d'etat in Syria are old friends, as it were. Not having a word to say about the great change in their fortunes in these last days, which one saw in the making on the spot only a few months ago would be like omitting the customary letter to a newly married or promoted college classmate. Even from this distance, too, it is abundantly clear that what has happened in Syria is very important indeed.

Alsop

Some kind of a coup d'etat in Damascus of course became inevitable as soon as the takeover of neighboring Jordan by the Egyptians and the Communists was so brilliantly defeated by young King Hussein. What happened in Jordan encouraged the Syrian conservatives and moderates, and frightened the Syrian leftists and pro-Egyptians.

Neither side was willing, any longer, to tolerate the uneasy balance, with Left in control but not in absolute control, that had previously prevailed.

Unhappily, as this reporter wrote from Damascus in May, the Syrian moderates and conservatives enjoyed the approximate degree of animation of dead fish on a slab. Like dead fish prepared by the fishmonger they also lacked guts.

Leftist Success

Hence, the betting, even then, was all for a leftist success in the coup d'etat that one could so clearly see ahead.

The really interesting point about the Syrian coup d'etat, therefore, is not the fact of a leftist victory. The really interesting point is the indication of a deep change in the lost balance of power between the Syrian leftist parties.

The Communists clearly seem to have made important gains at the expense of the extreme left-wing, pro-Egyptian but non-Communists who were formerly in the saddle.

As late as last spring, the two real rulers of Syria were both non-Communists of the extreme left-wing and pro-Egyptian brand. The civil ruler was the able and dynamic ruler of the Ba'ath party, Ahram Hourani. The military ruler was the head of army intelligence, Col. Abdel Hamid Serraj.

At that time Syria's Communist chieftain, Khalid Baqdash appeared to be very much Ahram Hourani's junior partner. Furthermore, it was authoritatively said that there were no Communists in the army at all, with the single exception of Col. Afif Bizry.

Col. Bizry and Col. Amin Nufouri enjoyed great notoriety as the judges who had pronounced death sentences in a Moscow-style "treason" trial of Syrian right-wingers during the winter. Col. Nufouri was further celebrated as the special enemy and rival of Col. Abdel Hamid Serraj.

One result of the Syrian coup d'etat has been the transformation of Col. Bizry, the army's sole reputed Communist, into Maj.-Gen. Bizry, chief of staff of the Syrian armed forces, and the further transformation of Col. Nufouri, Col. Serraj's enemy, into Brig.-Gen. Nufouri, deputy chief of staff under Gen. Bizry.

In Arab politics there are usually meanings within meanings. But surely the most important meaning of these sudden promotions of Bizry and Nufouri is plain enough.

In brief, there has been a sharp change in what you might call the stock ownership of Syria. For a long time now Syria has been a complete Egyptian satellite. Gamal Abdel Nasser has held something like 95 per cent of the stock in the company through his two Syrian representatives, Col. Serraj and Ahram Hourani.

New Control

But now, as the immense increase of Afif Bizry's authority indicates, the Soviets have bought into the company in a very big way indeed. Fifty-fifty seems a reasonable estimate of the present split in Syrian voting shares between Nasser and the Kremlin.

For propaganda purposes in the Middle East, Nasser will no doubt stay on as the company's front man. Outwardly, Syrian policy will continue to be Egyptian policy. But inside Syria, it is a fair guess that Communist party leader Baqdash and army chief of staff Bizry now have just a bit more strength than Ba'ath party leader Hourani and his military ally, Serraj.

One wonders immediately what this means in terms of Gamal Abdel Nasser's own relations with the Kremlin. To this reporter, it seems another fair guess that the developments in Syria imply a new decision by Nasser to throw in his lot rather completely and finally with the world bloc headed by the Soviet Union.

Dividend Fiasco

Regina Leader-Post

ALBERTA'S first experience with paying a Social Credit dividend appears to have bogged down in confusion. The government did not set up a system to make certain that only those who collected the $20 met the eligibility test of ten years' residence in the province, consecutively for the last two years. The people simply went to the banks, signed forms to the effect that they were eligible, and collected.

There has been a flood of rumors that many who were not eligible collected, and that some individuals went from bank to bank to garner in several $20 handouts.

The government no doubt felt it saved administrative expenditures by not checking applications before the money was paid. But there probably will be such a clamor for the punishment of those who collected when they were not eligible, or who collected more than one dividend, that the government after all will have to go to the expense of examining the bona fides of the recipients.

After casting its eyes upon the chaotic state of affairs, The Calgary Herald stated: "We do not expect to ever know how much this hair-brained give-away actually cost Alberta. It made no sense to begin with."

Initial estimates indicated that 550,000 people would qualify. This would represent a total disbursement of $11,000,000, plus the unknown cost of cleaning up the mess that has been left.

From this distance, and at this time, it looks as if the whole scheme has backfired. The Socreds now will be the butt of jibes for the fiasco when they did get around to paying a social dividend.

Music in the Barn and Milk in the Pails

From The Times (London)

THE dairy cows' taste for music, though it is barely a year since it was first properly recognized, is moving fast with the modern tide.

A year ago the cows of Dorset were content to have a piano in the milking parlor, with "The Dam Busters' March" as their favorite piece and the most productive of milk yields. But no doubt it was inevitable that in this parlor as in others, the amateur family musician should be ousted by the mass-produced synthetic professional.

Now we find an enterprising farmer from the county advertising for a radio or radiogram "suitable for entertaining 30 poor young cows while being milked, day in, day out."

What is behind it? Have the cows reported to respond so well to the piano rendering of "The Dam Busters' March" become indifferent to its martial notes?

Perhaps hearing it played on 730 occasions during the year has damped their enthusiasm. If this be so, those who have lived next door to a child learning to play an instrument will readily sympathize.

Or is it only that the installation of the piano has awakened an inherent appreciation of music among the ladies of the Dorset dairies and that they have evinced a wish to explore the wider field of the art?

At least it is up to the farmer who has advertised to keep case histories of his cows' tastes and their reaction to radio fare. The herd may prove to be awkwardly composed—half jazz fans, half lovers of the classics. It could pose a tricky problem.

What he might gain on Humphrey Lyttelton he might lose on Vaughan Williams. Would he then have to try to rectify the position by exchanging, say, three "hep cows" for three "squares"?

There are wider implications. Demand is said to elicit supply. Will composers of "pop" tunes be aiming their talents at the milking parlor?

The day may come when no eyebrows will be raised if some smooth-tongued "disc jockey" announces "And now for Daisy, of Stall One, Bluebell Farm here is . . ."

Some music, waltzes perhaps, might prove too soporific to be useful. Swoon crooners would have to be avoided, but the energetic offerings of skiffle groups might have the churns overflowing. And the possible effect of rock 'n' roll on the end product? Clotted cream?

And where does it all lead? If last year it was a piano and this year it is radio, what next year? Television?

BEFORE THE JUDGE

By SILENUS

'Long Winded Talkers'

"THIS Courthouse is simply abominable! The want of ventilation gives me a headache every day . . ." wrote one of our early judges in a letter to his daughter. Needless to say, he was not referring to the Victoria Courthouse, which, as everyone knows, is perfect in every respect.

SILENUS

The letter in which this cri du coeur from the bench occurs is dated from Nelson, B.C., in the month of May some time in the late 1880's. Perhaps it should not be mentioned at all, things being how they are. We must not confuse Mr. Chant, or get him diverted from concentrating on the affairs of his own constituency. Nelson will have to wait.

The private letters of judges long gone from us provide good reading. Correspondence is a sort of series of footnotes to history, and withal shows that people by and large were much the same as they are now. How many judges today must not have felt like giving utterance to "lots of work ahead, about 18 cases of which at present only two are disposed of; and we have some of the longest-winded talkers yet to hear . . . and under our breath to anathematize . . ."

This was written in 1901, on Vancouver Club stationery. That things have changed little in that city is plain. He goes on: "There is no sun here, but that is not unusual. We had two fine days, but got quite a shaking up on Tuesday night (the midnight boat?). Poor old Duff was so bad he did not recover for several hours . . ."

"Poor old Duff," then a judge of our Supreme Court, lived to become Chief Justice of Canada and only died a few years ago. I wonder if his official biographers know that he suffered from seasickness?

"I find altho' all the cases are set down, they all want special days fixed and the result is that my time is filled up until Thursday week. With any luck that is. And unless someone else wishes to come over, which is hardly likely." Ah, the joys of what he called "filling in in Vancouver"! Nowadays the position is reversed, and the Vancouver judges are all of a scramble to come and fill in in here, in our beautiful and salubrious city.

Going on circuit was not so simple then as now. On notepaper of the Douglas Lake Cattle Co. Ltd. we find " . . . horse fell last Thursday, and I with it. I now have a sprained back, and am stone deaf in one ear, which will be bad for holding court . . ." However, it seems that the Dr. in Kamloops was a skilful man, for not long afterward "I have done a little shooting and am sending some birds down which you can distribute as you like . . ."

It is doubtful if today's judges have time for field sports as they tour about the province. In some ways the old timers here were more comfortable than they are today, even if the dangers of riding horses have gone. And the Interior was a more interesting place then. Where nowadays would you find an Indian witness who gave his wash name as Michel?

"A new expression for baptisim, it later turned out."

LONDON LETTER

By WALLACE REYBURN

Telling the Difference

LONDON—In the course of a very interesting letter from reader J. Davy, of Willowdale, he mentions something which other readers have written to me about—a tendency on my part to lump Canadians and Americans (U.S. citizens) together when comparing certain things here with their counterparts on the other side of the Atlantic.

Reyburn

Some readers say it shows my ignorance of the difference between Canadians and Americans. Mr. Davy says that perhaps I am merely reflecting the English inability to differentiate between the two.

Naturally the people of any country don't want to be lumped in with those of a bigger-population neighbor, but, viewed from this distance, let's examine the outward appearance and way of life of Canadians and Americans and let's see where these differences are supposed to be.

CLOTHES—To the English, Canadians and Americans dress alike. Most men of both countries wear hats (a minority habit here), hasten to adopt the latest style of tie (Englishmen's neckties never change in fashion), have their suits cut similarly and immaculately pressed, whereas the Englishman's clothes looked lived-in.

Both Canadian and American women are detectable by the spic-and-span way they're turned out, by the variety and abundance of clothes they have for all weathers and occasions, by their smart costume jewellery and clever new accessories.

* * *

FOOD—The same liking for fresh salads, milk with meals and ice-water, and the same attitude toward England's "stodgy" food.

* * *

DRINKING—With both countries plagued by irksome drinking restrictions, both Canadians and Americans, in the eyes of the English, "drink to get drunk," whereas it is a matter of pride with the Englishman that he "drinks to stay sober," i.e. he hates to show that he's had too much.

* * *

LANGUAGE—Canadian visitors maintain that they speak differently from Americans, but, apart from the obvious contrast of things like the southern drawl and French-Canadian, the English can't detect any difference.

* * *

HOUSES — Both have properly heated homes, super-kitchens, lots of labor-saving devices.

* * *

SPORT — Neither country joins in the world-wide team sports of the other English-speaking people—soccer, rugger, cricket, etc.

The similarity of Canadians and Americans can be detailed endlessly. Where does an Englishman start to detect any difference? On the superficial level—cigarets.

It always surprises the English that Canadians and Americans don't smoke the same type of cigarets. And that other difference—the U.S. presidential setup compared to Canada's parliamentary system and firm ties with Britain.

And isn't that the basic and most important difference of them all?

WEEKEND WEATHER PICTURE ACROSS CANADA

SYNOPSIS—Rapid filling of the low-pressure centre off the west coast has produced a much brighter weekend weather picture for most regions of B.C. Considerable cloud lingers in most of the regions and a little shower activity is reported along the west coast Vancouver Island this morning. However, gradual decrease in cloudiness during the day will bring sunny skies to almost all regions of the province.

CPR Accepts Offer For Sale of Hotels

MONTREAL (CP)—The CPR announced Friday it has accepted an offer from the Eastern Trust Company of Montreal for purchase of three CPR hotels in Nova Scotia. No price was discussed.

The offer was made on behalf of hotel and motel properties of Nova Scotia. The hotels are the Cornwallis Inn at Kentville, the Lakeside Inn at Yarmouth and Digby Pines Hotel at Digby.

Sunday 'Abuse' By Royalty Hit

LONDON (Reuters) — Criticism of the Royal Family's "disregard for and abuse of" Sunday was made today in the latest issue of the official journal of the Lord's Day Observance Society.

The Journal said: "This summer has witnessed the Duke of Edinburgh taking part in more sport on Sunday than in any year since his marriage.

"Her Majesty has been present at many of the Sunday sporting events.

MISSED CHURCH

The Journal added: "We have observed this year that on more than one Sunday there has been no recorded attendance at church."

It drew attention to Sunday, July 28, when the duke opened the national gliding championships and then flew to Windsor Castle for polo which the Queen watched.

"And on the following Sunday," the Journal complained, "it is reported that the Queen attended morning service but without the Duke who is recorded as playing cricket with the Roman Catholic Duke of Norfolk at Arundel Castle.

"This royal example and influence is doing more to undermine God's holy day in Britain than perhaps any other factor.

"We say 'perhaps' because we bear in mind the faithless, shameful silence and inconsistency of most of the principal church bodies in this matter."

LABOR MERGER VOTE CLOSE

QUEBEC CITY (BUP) — The Canadian Catholic Confederation of Labor, in a strongly opposed vote, Friday voted to join the million-member Canadian Labor Congress.

Delegates from the 100,000-member Quebec union voted 204 to 189 for the merger following a six-hour debate.

The conditions of the merger, drawn up by a labor unity committee, give the CCCL automony in everything pertaining to internal policy and line organization. However, the Quebec group will abide by the constitution, policies and rules of the CLC. The CCCL will also choose its own name.

Royal Visit Role Assigned Foot Guards

OTTAWA (CP)—The Governor-General's Foot Guards, ousted from their traditional role at Parliament's opening, will have a part after all in official ceremonies during next month's royal visit.

The foot guards' band will play at a ceremony on Tuesday, Oct. 15, when Queen Elizabeth opens a new super-highway project in Ottawa to be named after her.

It's always nice to have such an honor, one guards' officer said of the band's role. It would have been even nicer had the whole unit been chosen to make up the guard of honor when the Queen opens Parliament Monday, Oct. 14. But in the military life, orders were orders.

Defence headquarters has ordered the Regiment of Canadian Guards to supply the guard of honor when the Queen opens Parliament.

The decision caused a flurry of protests last month from the militia in general and the GGFG in particular.

Nursing Trophy Award Monday

The Leonard Trophy, awarded for the 1957 Dominion First Aid competitions, will be presented to the Denton Holmes Nursing Cadet Division No. 148, at a meeting in St. John Ambulance Brigade headquarters, 715½ View, Monday at 8 p.m.

Dr. T. W. A. Gray, provincial surgeon, will make the presentation.

Among those attending will be new provincial commissioner, J. J. Carson; Mrs. Phyllis Munday, provincial nursing superintendent, and Miss Verna White, provincial nursing officer.

With the problem of proper exposure as important as it is, we don't have to apologize for harping on the subject of taking pains to keep within reasonable limits of accuracy.

Some popular types of film have fairly recently enjoyed rather startling changes in speed. If you happen to be using this new film as you did its predecessor, you may be in for a shock if you haven't acquainted yourself beforehand with its new characteristics. Although the film offers amazing latitude in that it can be over- or under-exposed to quite a degree and still produce worthy prints, it is a simple matter to stay comfortably within limits of accuracy and enjoy still greater picture quality.

Trade Parley Appraisal Called for by Fleming

MONT TREMBLANT, Que. (CP)—Finance Minister Donald Fleming today called on Commonwealth finance ministers to make a frank appraisal of Canada's proposal to hold a full-dress Commonwealth trade and economic conference.

"One of the advantages of being a member of a family is that we can talk frankly to each other," he said as he opened the four-day ministerial meeting to consider whether a full conference is feasible.

"Let us talk to each other in just that way as we devote our efforts to serving the goal and purpose of making our Commonwealth attachment more significant and beneficial to all.

CAUSE OF PEACE

"If this conference contributes to strengthening and fructifying the Commonwealth, I believe it will have contributed worthily to the noble causes of freedom, peace, prosperity and goodwill in the world."

His statements were included in the text of his address issued to the press before delivery.

Mr. Fleming said his government had made proposals to expand Commonwealth trade primarily because it believed in the destiny of the 11-country partnership. It was something "infinitely precious."

There would be no easy task in promoting trade. The material interests of Commonwealth members were often "widely different, sometimes even divergent."

FORMIDABLE PROBLEMS

"Formidable difficulties beset our path . . . facing some or all of the countries represented here are problems of exchange, trade imbalances, balance of payment difficulties, trade restrictions and shortage of capital for essential development needs.

"Yet we Canadians believe that this family can do more than is yet being done to expand its common and mutual trade and economic interests and by joint action increase the mutual benefits it offers to its members; and that is what we propose very seriously to endeavor to do."

Fishermen's Strike Looms

VANCOUVER (CP)—British Columbia fishermen may strike Oct. 5 unless agreement is reached with cannery operators on price demands for the winter salmon catch, it was reported Friday.

NEW NATIONAL HIGHWAY PROPOSED BY DOULGAS

SASKATOON (CP)—Premier T. C. Douglas of Saskatchewan, whose province this summer became the first to complete its section of the Trans-Canada Highway, Friday night called for a second such highway.

Addressing the Canadian Good Roads Association, Mr. Douglas said that a second highway, at least from Saskatoon to the Pacific, was "essential for the development of Canada's economic life."

He added that it would also be essential in time of war for transportation of mechanized troops.

HOBBY SHELF

Aluminum Projects for Your Home, by Emanuele Stieri (Prentice-Hall, 208 pages: $4.95), is declared to be "the only book on do-it-yourself aluminum that you need to produce any aluminum project from start to finish. There is a distinct trend toward use of more metal home furniture," Mr. Stieri says. "Aluminum is notable as a material for furniture because it is compatible with all the new fabrics and colors." He includes many patterns for utilitarian and decorative pieces in this comprehensive guide book.

ART IN REVIEW — By MONCRIEFF WILLIAMSON

Memorial Print Collection To Be Founded at Gallery

According to an announcement by curator Colin Graham, a well-known Victoria businesswoman, Miss Gwen Scott, has donated $200 to the Art Gallery of Greater Victoria in memory of her sister and business colleague, the late Miss Florence Scott, for the purchase of contemporary prints and to create the nucleus of a print collection.

It is a charming and fitting memorial to a sister whose interests were so sympathetic to the world of art. Miss Gwen Scott, who herself has done much to further the cause of art and artists in this capital city has been closely connected with the art centre since the days prior to Moss Street.

Williamson

For this reason her decision to found a print collection is a personal recognition of one of the Art Gallery's greatest needs. A memorial such as this is of special importance for the betterment of the gallery's permanent collection.

The history of print making and collecting has followed an erratic course through the centuries. More than any other of the fine arts, prints have had cycles of popularity and decline. Present tendencies indicate that print collecting is once more in ascent.

One of the earliest landmarks in print making was the work of the 15th century German artist, Albrecht Durer whose wood-cuts of nature and religious subjects still exhilarate us with their craftsmanship and pictorial grace.

18th Century Zenith

Another popular period is the 17th century which gave us the etchings by Rembrandt and Van Dyck. In 18th century France and England, etching and engraving reached their zenith, though we must not forget the architectural engravings by the Italian artist Piranessi

Forain, Gauguin, Toulouse Lautrec, Brangwyn, Muirhead Bone. No matter where we turn we find famous artists who have at some time or other experimented with the art of making prints.

But these were mostly black and white prints. Color printing was first effectively practiced by Chinese and Japanese artists in the 17th century. They evolved the technique of multi-color prints—a complicated process of printing each color separately—and it was they who first printed with silk.

The 19th century introduced the first mass production printing methods, making available to the general public facsimiles of famous paintings.

These in turn lead to the modern wonders of rotogravure and the magnificent color reproductions which are on sale everywhere and which are to be seen in nearly every home we visit.

Recognition

Unfortunately this mass reproduction of art masterpieces has left most of us pretty bewildered, and when we speak of prints there is an inevitable confusion.

In this article we are concerned with those prints which are recognized by the museums of the world as being specifically Fine Art and whether colored or black and white are the hand-produced works of individual artists.

Original prints, regardless of technique, are nearly always signed and to protect himself the artist usually writes next to his signature the number of prints made before the block or plate is destroyed.

If you see the figures 9/25, this means that 25 prints were made of which the one you are looking at is No. 9. And so on.

Contemporary artists give every indication of making the twentieth century another great period in the history of prints, and the two methods most favored, and to which many of the world's leading artists subscribe are those of the serigraph and lithograph.

Revival

Of Chinese origin, the serigraph — commonly called silk screen—has advantages of economy and simplicity. As its name implies, a print is made by stretching silk across the surface to be printed, and it can be used on most materials. It is especially suitable for textiles.

The revival of interest in silk screen printing dates from 1918. It was much in vogue during the thirties and there has been a further revival since the Second World War. A good example of this type of print, "Millweed Pods" by the Canadian artist Alastair Bell, has just been presented to the Art Gallery of Greater Victoria by the artist, and will shortly be on view.

Colored lithographs—pictures which are hand printed from stone—is the second technique most favored by contemporary artists. Limited editions of lithographs by famous artists are usually fully subscribed by collectors well in advance of their printing.

GWEN SCOTT

It will be appreciated therefore that in establishing the Florence Scott Memorial Fund, Miss Gwen Scott is being farsighted and generous to her community. In future Victorians will be able to see some of the finest examples of Canadian and international prints as they become available.

Unwilling Soldier's Dark Denunciation

THE LEGION OF THE DAMNED, by Sven Hassel; Allen and Unwin, 91 Wellington St. W., Toronto. 297 pages.

Translated from the Danish by Maurice Machael, this book, telling of Sven Hassel's service in Hitler's army, is among the most bitter stories about war ever written.

Of Danish and Austrian decent, Hassel was an unwilling soldier in a penal battalion to which he was ordered from concentration camp where he was sent after attempting to escape from Germany.

Bitterness against war, leaders who wage war for their own glory and the fanatics, who blindly spur them on, runs through every page of a starkly realistic book.

It is a story of suffering death and destruction, brutality, sadism and savagery with very few light passages.

The story deals with the Russian front. It is dedicated to ten of Hassel's friends, who like himself, were penal battalion soldiers, and five women. He was the only survivor of the group.

The comradeship of this group, a few love interludes with their girl friends and an occasional flash of sardonic humor as the only brief interruptions in a tense damning indictment against war.

The recent BBC serialization of Henry Seton Merriman's book The Vultures has revived interest in this novelist. His great accomplishment was the blending of society life and full-blooded adventure in far countries, and this is shown in the re-issue of his novel "With Edged Tools," which will find for Merriman many new readers of a new generation, for his writing remains essentially "modern."

More people on Canada's Cape Breton Island speak Gaelic than anywhere else in the world, says the National Geographic Society.

Persecution In Gory Days Of Queen Bess

COME RACK, COME ROPE, by Robert Benson, Alvernia, Montreal, $3.50, 377 pp.

This is a new edition of a novel first published in 1912 which in the years following has made a considerable impression on Roman Catholic readers, if only for the fact that everyone likes to be a martyr, but most haven't the courage for it.

Good Queen Bess of England did not like Catholics, which is an understatement, and the priests were hanged, drawn and quartered. This is the story of that era covering the transition from predominantly Roman Catholic to Protestant England.

The style is heavy, meaty, and of almost evangelical texture, but the story line is accurate and the bloody deaths dealt persons and priests for their religious beliefs, exemplifies another blot against Christians—be they Protestants or Catholics—in persecution of their fellow believers.—T.D.

'Curious Savage' Cast

A cast that includes several well-known St. Luke's Players' members, has been selected for the comedy, "The Curious Savage," which will be the organization's first offering this season.

Margaret Martin, Marlene Dixon, Evanne Murray, Blossom Johnson, Barbara Grant, Merina Cave, Alex Burton, Harry Lukey, Bob Standen, Allen La Croix and Roy Blevins will be seen, under direction of Flora Nicholson.

Second three-act play to be selected for later production, is "The Poltergeist," by Frank Harvey. Terence Rattigan's "Harlequinade" will be one of St. Luke's entries in the Vancouver Island Drama Festival.

BOOK TALK — By JAMES SCOTT

Two Hollow Feasts, One Banquet From Jumbo Harvest of 3 Novels

This seems to be a season for big, fat novels. In recent months I have read and talked about a lot of extra-large books in this space and this week there are three more which deserve attention.

There is Thomas B. Costain's latest historical romance, Below the Salt, which runs for 480 closely printed pages. There is Myron S. Kaufmann's first novel which is attracting a great deal of attention in the U.S.A., Remember Me to God, which goes on for 640 pages and, finally, there is Henri Troyat's The Red and the White which is 463 pages in length. Put the three together and you have filled quite a few long autumn evenings.

SCOTT

Not all the hours spent in reading these three books will be unalloyed joy.

In the first place, long novels, no matter how executed, strike a slower pace than one usually finds in shorter fiction. Invariably they ramble more and digress more frequently. These are not necessarily faults, but for the reader, conditioned to a smarter rhythm in prose, they may become more tedious than the contents warrant.

However, if the narrative quality is properly sustained and the characters are kept constantly interesting, big books can be remarkably satisfying and when they are really good, they can slow you down to their pace without evoking a protest and you came away with a feeling of repletion.

FULL AND GOOD

It's like eating. Most days your lunch may be a quick sandwich and a milkshake, but the day you have the time, money and inclination to take a large, substantial and excellent lunch at the best dining-room in town you come away feeling the better for it, with a sense of well-being not too often savored these days.

For my taste, this sense of reading satisfaction, was most filled by the biggest of these three books, the novel which took eight years to write, Myron Kaufman's Remember Me to God.

While this is a first novel it exhibits none of the tricky little telltale marks which so often reveal the unsteady and not fully disciplined hand of the beginning writer. But in addition to his excellent writing qualities, Mr. Kaufman is a remarkably acute student of the subtleties which go into the information of the human character.

MANY PHASES

Without being awkwardly obtrusive he shows the reader the many facets of the people who make up the central characters of his book. They are a middle-class Jewish family in Boston. The father a minor judge, the fifteen-year-old daughter, a high IQ, extremely sensitive adolescent, and the older son, a student at Harvard, struggling between his inborn arrogance and his genuine belief in liberal ideas.

The college setting, the school setting and the home setting are beautifully done and so are the subsidiary characters. The story line steams right along and the reader is drawn not only into the events of the lives of these people but into the people themselves. This is a splendid first novel, not flashingly brilliant, but extremely solid, and at the same time, sensitive. There is a pile of first-rate reading here which justifies the length.

I cannot be quite so enthusiastic about Thomas Costain, perhaps because historical fiction invariably bores me unless it is excellently done.

Mr. Costain is not a topnotch writer in any man's language.

He plods along, using the same old tricks, painstakingly accurate in his detail, spinning his threadbare theme for all it's worth and, when the proper time interval has gone by, he stops.

He does this all over again in Below the Salt which is about the bad days of King John which led up to Magna Carta.

This is wrapped, rather confusingly, between two contemporary sections which irrelevantly insert today's problems and the question of reincarnation into the book. Still, there are people who like Costain and this will not disappoint them.

The third novel, which is a translation from the French, is about the coming of the Russian Revolution as the title would suggest. It is a rambling tale in the Russian manner—a tremendous number of characters, a terrible tangle of events which are finally pulled together into some semblance of sense. Of its kind it is diverting enough reading, but don't tackle it if your literary sensibilities are very acute.

It also can tell us something about why Russia has got to be the way she is which, I suppose, is something.

The average person's thought speed while listening is at least 500 words per minute; the average speaker's talking speed is about 100 words per minute.

Ballet Ensemble To Dance Here In November

Balletomanes in Victoria, whether or not they cross to Vancouver for the fabulous Royal Ballet engagement in that city, will not go without their favorite fare this winter.

Second on the Famous Artists series of feature events is to be a dance ensemble lead by Nora Kovach and Istvan Rabovsky, brilliant Hungarian pair who were a sensational success of the 1956-57 Vancouver season.

Moscow-trained, they have been described as masters of style and grace and possessed of vivid personalities.

With their troupe they will be at the Royal Theatre Nov. 25.

Opening the series on Oct. 16, is Boris Goldovsky, a fine pianist and striking personality, widely known to radio audiences on this continent for his scholarship and humor.

'Smile Show' Smiles Again

A week's re-run of Jerry Gosley's fast paced 1957 Smile Show will open at Langham Court Theatre, Monday, Oct. 7. The English style comedy revue is being presented in conjunction with the Chamber of Commerce Fall Shopping Week.

Cast will be the same as that which delighted so many visitors and others during the summer season. Only exception is organist Reginald Stone, who has other commitments.

Stone's place will be filled by Jack Lenaghan, a newcomer from Toronto who has had considerable radio and stage experience.

Lenaghan, who will perform on a Wurlitzer organ loaned by George E. Willis, was pianist with the Bell Telephone Concert Orchestra, Montreal; musical director for "The Vagabonds," Sherbrooke, Que., and accompanist for the McGill Red and White Revue, Toronto.

Mermaid Tale At Sidney

Director Nell Horth and a cast of Sidney's Peninsula Players are in full rehearsal with their first-of-the-season comedy "Miranda." It is due for production at Sidney Elementary School, Nov. 1 and 2.

HANS GRUBER CONDUCTS

Constructive Planning Builds Concert Series

Last week we devoted more space to the season's first pair of symphony concerts than to a general preview of the season as a whole. The first pair, then, takes place tomorrow afternoon and Monday evening, the program reading as follows: Weber's "Jubilee" overture, as a salute to the opening of this centennial season, which contains an appropriate surprise; the great Second Symphony by Dvorak; and, after intermission, the Beethoven violin concerto, with Canada's foremost concert violinist as soloist, young Betty-Jean Hagen.

It is as well that detailed discussion about later programs has been delayed until now. They were made up, of course, long before this; but, owing to the death of Jean Sibelius a week ago, I thought it necessary to effect appropriate revisions, licence for which is granted us by the words accompanying all publications of future programs, "subject to change."

Hans Gruber

Accordingly, the second pair of concerts has been revised to read thus: Fantasia on a Theme by Thomas Tallis, by Vaughan-Williams; Symphony No. 5 in E-flat by Sibelius. Rachmaninoff D-minor piano concerto with Ray Dudley remains as originally scheduled.

The Vaughan-Williams Fantasia had appeared on the 4th pair, originally; that program will now begin with Beethoven's Leonore overture No. 1, the balance remaining unchanged, namely, Bloch's "Schelomo" for cello and orchestra, with Zara Nelsova as soloist; the Boccherini cello concerto; and, in conclusion, Brahms Academic Festival Overture.

Fifth pair, on Dec. 15 and 16, will witness the first entire public performance in Canada of Vaughan-Williams' latest major composition, "Hodie," or "This Day," a Christmas cantata for chorus, orchestra, and soprano, tenor and bass solo.

Boyd Neel, widely-known British musician, now dean of the Royal Conservatory of Toronto, will officiate at the sixth pair of concerts on Jan. 12 and 13, 1957. He will present Wagner's prelude to Meistersinger, Schubert's 2nd symphony in B-flat, "Suite Ancienne" by Halvorsen (wholly unknown to me), and "In the South" by Elgar.

On Feb. 2 and 3, Clifford Evens will undertake the task of his life, as soloist in the Brahms violin concerto; the first half of these concerts will consist of Bruckner's Overture in G-minor, and Stravinski's Firebird Suite, 1919 version.

LOIS MARSHALL

Ninth pair, on March 9 and 10, will have the great soprano Lois Marshall as featured artist, and the complete program reads: "Magic Flute" overture by Mozart; "Laudamus Te," from Mozart's Great Mass in C-minor, for soprano and orchestra; "Martern Aller Arten," aria for soprano and orchestra from Mozart's "Abduction from the Seraglio," and the Third symphony by Roy Harris.

Following intermission, there will be the Mozart Motet for soprano and orchestra, "Exsultate, Jubilate," and the "Jupiter" Symphony in C by Mozart, the last symphony Mozart wrote.

The season will be brought to a close with the tenth program on March 30 and 31: Moussorgski's spectacular "Pictures at an Exhibition" in Ravel's orchestration, and Beethoven's Fifth symphony.

GUEST PIANIST

You must have noticed that I have omitted mention of the third pair, on Nov. 10 and 12 (please note!) and of the eighth pair, on Feb. 23 and 24. These concerts will be taken over by Mr. Evens, and we are about to finalize his programs, which we shall be able to tell you about next week. In any case, Boris Roubakine, Swiss-Canadian pianist, will be soloist in Schumann's piano concerto on Feb. 23 and 24.

These programs are the result of many months of searching deliberation, and represent our best solution to conditions we set ourselves: That there shall be as little repetition from previous seasons as possible—that each program shall be varied as to styles and periods, with the necessary contrasts, yet balance, as to key-signatures; that each program as a whole shall be a logical link in the entire chain of the season's ten programs, and that the season as a whole shall have cumulative logic, culminating in the final program.

And please do not mistake it for an attempt at high pressure salesmanship on my part when I express the opinion that any of these concerts will be more valuable to you if you hear all of them.

World Premiere of 'Rivalry' Links Events of Two Centuries

A world premiere, the first in Vancouver's theatre history, took place in the mainland city this week. Significance of the occasion was heightened by timeliness of the 100-year-old subject matter—debates on the state of the Negro in the South by political opponents, Abraham Lincoln and Stephen Douglas.

The play, "The Rivalry," by famed radio writer Norman Corwin, was premiered before a capacity crowd of 2,200 in Georgia Auditorium.

Victoria playwright, Avis Walton, who has studied under Mr. Corwin, was in Vancouver and attended the production. Following is her commentary.

"Much of the text of the play is taken from transcripts and news reports of the debates, which absorbed a total of thirty hours. Norman Corwin had the colossal task of reducing this to a two-act drama, and epilogue. Many of the lines are as fresh and applicable today as they were nearly a hundred years ago.

When Douglas and Lincoln attacked each other with burning fervor on the stage, they could have been arguing the race desegregation laws which have had explosive repercussions upon the national tranquility and international prestige of the United States today.

ENTHRALLED

Raymond Massey as Lincoln, Martin Gable as Douglas, and Agnes Moorehead as Mrs. Douglas mesmerized the large audience into sitting enthralled in an oven-like auditorium for more than two hours. At the end the auditorium was on its feet applauding a tremendous performance.

"The Rivalry" marks the seventh year of concert-type productions by the imaginative Paul Gregory, who, with "Don Juan in Hell" instigated one-night stand plays of top calibre and headline stars sweeping across the country to play in outsize auditoriums. Frequently they act in college arenas in small towns which would otherwise have no live theatre.

They work with a bare minimum of props; move pools of light as a musician moves the stops in an organ. There are no curtains.

With more than 70 light cues in "The Rivalry" some scenes comprise only a line or two.

When Douglas died his voice was heard offstage, his wife bowed her head and the lights dimmed. When they came up she had closed her billowing black velvet coat to entirely conceal the violet taffeta gown, thus ending her narration in mourning.

"The Rivalry" is booked to play in 72 cities, prior to Christmas, including some in the south, where Douglas could well become the public hero!

By the time it opens in New York in 1958 this is likely to be easily (and uneasily) the most-talked-about play on this continent."

(A) "AN AFFAIR TO REMEMBER (Odeon) — A summary of 20th Century Fox's "An Affair to Remember" would be: Two charming people in a light but very charming play.

Like characters drawn by Somerset Maugham or Ernest Hemingway or John Steinbeck, Deborah Kerr and Cary Grant remain in the mind as honest-to-goodness pink-and-breathing persons. And if the plot is a trifle on the bubbly side, these two give it punch and strength by the very honesty of their acting.

Really, "An Affair to Remember" is nothing more than a love story. Two persons fall in love while betrothed to others. Grant, an irresponsible woman-chaser and sometimes artist, has an understanding with a millonairess, while Miss Kerr, a night club singer, has a date at the altar with devoted Richard Denning.

They first meet aboard a trans-Atlantic luxury liner and by the time the ship docks at New York they are in love, yet wonder if it isn't merely a shipboard romance. To make sure, they plan to meet one another six months hence on the lookout atop the Empire State Building.

★ ★ ★

UNDER the understanding hand of director Leo McCarey, the play switches from Miss Kerr to Grant as they each put in their time until the meeting. Miss Kerr spends the period singing in a Boston night club—and most fetchingly—while Grant tries to paint, without too much success. Then the day of meeting finally arrives. Grant is atop the Empire State but Miss Kerr never arrives.

Bitterly disappointed, he returns to the Continent, while his love battles for her life in a hospital. But there is compensation, in a way, for in his gloom he becomes a painter at last.

Of course it all ends happily. But not until the customers have been kept in suitable suspense and used up the required number of handkerchiefs.

But at the final curtain most will be inclined to agree that they will have a difficult time forgetting "An Affair to Remember"—thanks to the splendid work of Miss Kerr and Grant.

Stravinsky at 75 Less Controversial

By HUMPHRY DAVY

This week I listened to some recorded music by world famous Russian-born composer Igor Stravinsky now a U.S. citizen, who celebrated his 75th birthday this summer. It was both surprising and interesting to note the contrast between his earlier and later works.

His first Russian-inspired works conform to existing conventions of harmony, rhythm and form. Then comes the famous work "The Rite of Spring" which caused the audience to hiss, boo and stampede at its Paris premiere in 1913.

Davy

There is a real change here and it is easy to understand why the public at the time reacted so violently against the music.

But Stravinsky's big tussle with the public did not really begin until the 1920s when he deliberately abandoned the Russian characteristics of his earlier work and adopted a neo-classical style.

He had now reached a point where he claimed to have discarded all extra-musical influences and emotions.

He called it "absolute music."

Looking back at the fuss and furore caused by his music, it is interesting to note how much of it has been accepted in the last 10 years. For instance, the Rite of Spring and many of his other later works have become part of the standard repertory of symphony orchestras.

The acceptance of some of his works, I believe, is largely due to the record industry which pioneered and championed Stravinsky's music despite financial losses. It was they who made his music available to the general public.

For those who would like to become more familiar with Stravinsky's music, here are a few of his best modern works released by Columbia. Stravinsky himself conducts the orchestra on each record.

Petrouchka/Scene de Ballet, ML4047; Symphony of Psalms/Symphony in 3 Movements, ML4129; Meet the Composer, ML4398; Oedipus Rex, ML4644; Pulcinella, ML4830; Firebird/le Sacre, ML4882; The Fairy's Kiss—complete ballet — ML5102; Symphony in C/Cantata, ML4899.

The songs for "The Captain's Paradise," due late in January, will be the work of Jay Livingston and Ray Evans, one of the more successful movie teams in Hollywood. Jose Ferrer and Al Morgan have written the libretto, Ferrer will direct, and, if they don't get a leading man signed pretty soon, Ferrer likely will wind up playing in it. Abbe Lane has been signed as one of the two feminine leads.

PUZZLES and PASTIMES

IT'S A CRAZY WORLD

It'd be a crazy world, indeed, if all the labels scattered about the map above were correct. Actually only one of the 23 oceans, continents, countries, etc., is correctly identified. The designations of the others have been switched in pairs.

That is to say, if you switch the names of Africa and Europe, for instance, the locations of these two places will then be correctly approximated. Switch China and United States, and these two will be correct, etc.

You now know two of the transpositions and that one name is rightly located. That leaves nine to be reversed.

How quickly can you find the label that is in the right place and correct all of the transposals?

Answers: Atlantic Ocean is correct. Switch Canada and Alaska, Australia and Greenland, Indian Ocean and Pacific Ocean, Philippines and Mexico, Capetown and Cape Horn, Japan and Madagascar, British Isles and Panama Canal, U.S.S.R. and South America. India and Iceland are the remaining transposals.

SUM FUN IN THIS

When each of the two following columns of figures are added up, the total in each case is found to be differnt:

| | |
|---|---|
| 8 | 3 |
| 7 | 4 |
| 6 | 5 |
| 5 | 6 |
| 3 | 7 |
| 2 | 9 |

However, characters in each column can be arranged in such a way that the totals of each vertical row are the same. Another arrangement can be made so that the original totals are reversed. No characters are moved from one column to another.

Solution: First, invert the character 6 in left column, making it a 9. Second, invert the character 9 in second column, making it a 6.

NAME THE RELATIVES

Though none of them are kin, you should be able to identify most of the following relatives—famous Uncles, Aunts, Fathers, etc.

1. Uncle made famous by Harriet Beecher . . . Stowe: ——
2. Father who goes on as strongly as ever all the time: ——.
3. Aunt of Tom Sawyer: ——.
4. Husband of Pocahontas, who wasnt' John Smith, but John ——.
5. Husband of Mrs. Spratt, who could eat no fat: ——.
6. Wife of John Alden: ——, who chose him instead of Myles Standish.
7. Mother who found her cupboard bare of bones for her dog: ——.

Answers: 1. Tom. 2. Time. 3. Polly. 4. Rolfe. 5. Jack. 6. Priscilla. 7. Hubbard.

You Be the Detective

By DAVID SHULMAN

"Do you read mystery stories, Blanding?" asked Inspector Elmer Sharpe.

"Sometimes I do when I'm not chasing crooks," was Detective Blanding's answer.

"Then you might recall the classic problem of the sealed room where the body is found and all the windows and doors are closed from the inside?"

"Yes, but the mystery story writer comes up with some simple explanation of how the killer got in and out of that room."

The inspector refilled his pipe before he spoke again. "Now, Blanding, here is a new twist on the sealed room gambit. The other day a case came up that puzzles everybody when I explain it in the following manner.

"The owner of a hardware store, Algernon Throgmorton, was found dead in his car. He had a bullet in his head and the gun was beside him on the seat. The car was completely closed from the inside. That is, the doors were locked, the windows all the way up. In order to remove the corpse, the police had to break through the window of the 1950 convertible, pull up the button on the door and then open it.

"Subsequent investigation indicated that Throgmorton might not be a suicide after all. We learned from other members of the family that he had a quarrel over money matters with his nephew. The fingerprints of the nephew were found on certain parts of the car as well as on the gun. In the nephew's room, we found ammunition for the gun.

"However, one thing stumped the police. No shots had been fired through any part of the car. How did the killer manage to get Algernon Throgmorton though the car was found closed from the inside?"

Solution: After the nephew shot Throgmorton in his car, he tried to make it look like a suicide by placing the gun on the seat. Since the car was a convertible he closed the doors and windows from the inside first, and then lowered the top of the car!

IT'S YOUR MOVE

By MILLARD HOPPER
Long-Time Open Checker Champ

It may not look to you to be possible, but White, moving first and up the board, can win in five moves. Can you study out how?

The poser is one solved by Millard Hopper in championship play, and the solution given below is his.

Solution: White moves 32 to 27, and Black jumps 31 to 24. Continue: 22-18, 13-22, 23-19, 24-15, then 18 to 11 to 2 to 9. Black takes 5 to 14 and White captures 25 to 18 to 9 and wins.

PAINT STIR-UP

Oozer and Boozer painted three new chicken houses of identical size and shape. Ooozer, working alone, painted one house in four days.

But it took Boozer, also working alone, twelve days to paint a second house.

So Oozer worked with Boozer on the third house. Each worked at the same rate of speed as before. It took them how many days to finish the third house—1, 2, 3, 4, 5?

Answer: It took them three days.

COLORS IN A TANGLE

Hidden among the maze of lines at right is a colorful scene. To see it clearly, shade in the various segments according to the following color indicators:

R—Red
B—Blue
G—Green
O—Orange
V—Violet
Y—Yellow

How quickly and neatly can you make the gaily colored scene appear?

WEEKEND MOVIES

7.30: Channel 5: Sir Laurence Olivier's "Hamlet."

9.30: Channel 13: Maureen O'Hara and Charles Laughton in "This Land Is Mine." The Nazis take over.

10.00: Channel 2: Humphrey Bogart and Lizabeth Scott in "Dead Reckoning."

10.35: Channel 12: Sid Caesar and Janet Blair in the 10-year-old comedy, "Tars and Spars." A sailor spends 21 days on a raft testing chewing gum for the navy.

11.00: Channel 4: Rosalind Russell and Jack Carson in the comedy, "Roughly Speaking." The girl is high spirited and very determined.

Channel 13: "Maid's Night Out."

12.05: Channel 12: Pat O'Brien and Wayne Morris in "Kid from Kokomo." The farm boy has the makings of a champion pug.

2.00: Channel 13: The western action, "Wanderer of the Wastelands."

SUNDAY

7.00: Channel 6: "We Dive at Dawn."

9.00: Channel 13: Wally Brown and Alan Carney in the comedy, "Genius at Work." Two radio detectives meet up with a killer.

10.15: Channel 13: Wheeler and Woolsey in "The Nitwits" with Betty Grable.

10.30: Channel 4: Trevor Howard in the English film, "I Became a Criminal." An innocent man framed into jail escapes and hunts down the man responsible, object: revenge.

Channel 5: Chester Morris, Robert Montgomery, and, if momory serves, Wallace Beery in "The Big House." This is a jail picture that is so old that we laughed at the re-runs when we were young. It is exactly 27 years of age.

10.35: Channel 12: Maureen O'Hara, John Payne and Edmund Gwenn in "Miracle on 34th Street." Santa Claus believes he really is.

11.15: Channel 2: John Mills, Stewart Granger star in "Waterloo Road." The corporal is AWOL as he does his best to deal with a dangerous family situation.

Beware Sunday Changes!

Old, New Programs Affected by Switch

Seven More Shows Make Appearance, Canadian 'United Way' Sunday at 10

By PHIL LEE, Times TV Editor

Tonight's schedules, allowing for the advent of new programs, are pretty much as usual. But beware of tomorrow's. The return to standard time has altered Sunday's programming considerably.

In short, take nothing for granted. Follow the schedules carefully. They are all, of course, set in standard time.

In addition to last week's burst of new shows there will be three new ones bowing tonight and four "specials" and programs worthy of special note Sunday.

Here they are:

At 7:30 tonight, Channel 11, Dick and the Duchess, a half-hour comedy series, makes its debut.

At 9 Club Oasis bows off Channel 4. Van Johnson was supposed to have starred in this half-hour variety series but reneged at the last moment with — according to reports — cold feet.

At 11, Channel 11, Phil Silvers kicks off the new season with a satire on the "Merry Widow."

Jackie Gleason fans will want to watch the first of "the best of the Honeymooners" series, destined for Channel 5.

At 9, Channels 11 and 12 will present the first in a series of special 90-minute shows to be seen once a month. Tonight's "Crescendo," sees Rex Harrison of "My Fair Lady" playing the part of an Englishman who takes a dim view of American culture. He is taken around for a sample of music as exemplified by Benny Goodman, Sonny James, Peggy Lee, Louis Armstrong, Eddy Arnold, Carol Channing and several others.

And, finally, at 10 Channels 6 and 2 will present the hour-long "United Way" show on behalf of the Canadian Community Chest drive. Top Canadian artists will be featured.

TONIGHT

7:30: Channel 4: Art Linkletter's People Are Funny.

Channel 11: Patrick O'Neal and Hazel Court debut in a new half-hour comedy series, "Dick and the Duchess." A private eye for an insurance company is married to an English duchess in London.

8:00, Channels 6, 2: Perry Como returns to the Canadian channels with a repeat of the show that opened his fall season.

8.30: Channel 11: In Have Gun, Will Travel, Paladin decides to enter a contest in which the sport is to elude a posse in the Mojave Desert.

9.00: Channel 4: Club Oasis bows without Van Johnson. The new half-hour variety series will feature top entertainers. Tonight's guests include Jo Stafford and the Ames Brothers.

Channel 5: Lawrence Welk.

9.30: Channel 4: Canada's Gisele MacKenzie makes her debut in her own show. Art Linkletter is Gisele's first guest.

Channels 11, 12: Alfred Hitchcock presents Rip Torn in "Number 22." How tough can a young guy get?

10.30: Channel 4: Your Hit Paraders, headed by Jill Corey, enact the top seven tunes of the week—plus a couple of extras.

11.50: Channel 2: Wrestling

OPENS TONIGHT — Gisele MacKenzie opens with her own show tonight at 9.30 on Channel 4. Art Linkletter will be the Canadian girl's first guest.

SUNDAY

10.30: Channel 4: In the Wisdom Series, Edward Steichen, believed by some to be one of the world's truly great photographers, is interviewed by Robert D. Graff.

1.15: Channel 11: Football Highlights.

1.30: Channels 11, 12: U.S. Pro Football: Chicago Cardinals play the San Francisco 49ers.

3.00: Channels 6, 2: Football: Filmed replay of Edmonton Eskimos and Saskatchewan Roughriders.

4.00: Channel 4: Wide Wide World goes on a 90-minute tour to visit the American world of teen-agers.

Channel 2: You Are There reports on "The Overthrow of the Tweed Ring."

4.30: Channels 6, 2: Lassie adventure is about how Gramps and Jeff get jealous when Ellen is asked out by the sheriff.

Channel 5: The Jewish High Holy Days, a special entitled Birthday of the World.

5.00: Channel 6: Local choir in Hymns of All Ages.

6.00: Channel 4: U.S. Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell meets the press.

6.30: Channel 4: In the My Friend Flicka drama a photographer gets into trouble when he tries to photograph a herd of wild horses.

Channel 5: Here starts a re-run of the best of "The Honeymooners" series, complete with Jackie Gleason, Art Carney, Audrey Meadows and Joyce Randolph.

Channel 5: Bret Maverick meets a gorgeous woman but later learns that the female is the deadlier of the species.

Channels 11, 12: Bentley Gregg, the Bachelor Father, takes his niece Kelly to a Girl Scout outing and there meets a glamorpuss by the name of Miss Hesselworth.

8.00: Channels 2, 11, 12: Ed Sullivan hosts Johnnie Ray, Ida Lupino and Howard Duff, Burns and Allen, Carla Alberghetti, dancer Sally Forrest, England's Mr. Pastry, and many others.

8.30: Channel 5: Bowling Stars demonstrate their skill from Chicago.

9.00: Channel 4: Walter Slezak stars in "The Best Wine." A movie director, recently honored, decides that the plaque should be hung in his first theatre. But when he gets there it is to discover that it is very run-down, and, worse, losing money.

Channels 11, 12: Rex Harrison heads the cast of the 90-minute "special," "Crescendo." This is a 90-minute effort wherein an Englishman visiting the U.S. takes a very low view of American culture. He is taken around town to see and hear Carol Channing, Benny Goodman, gospel singer Mahalia Jackson, Stubby Kaye, Peggy Lee, Louis Armstrong and several more top entertainers.

10.00: Channels 6, 2: Here is the big, hour-long Red Feather show on behalf of the Community Chest Fund drive. Originating from Winnipeg it stars Marsh Phimister, emcee; Bob Goulet, Juliette, Maxine Ware; comics Jack Duffy and Dave Broadfoot.

Channel 4: William Bryant stars in The Web's "Fatal Alibi." A couple of swindlers split up in panic.

World Series Opens Wednesday Morning

New Time, New Shows Mix Program; Both Fights Start an Hour Early

The watchword for the week is the same as for the weekend.

Follow the schedules and don't trust your memory.

Most of North America is back on standard time but New York and other eastern sections of the country will stay on daylight time for another month. This makes a difference.

For instance, the Wednesday and Friday fights will be seen at 6 o'clock instead of at 7. Other programs will be affected similarly.

Big event of the week is the World Series which opens Wednesday morning at 8.45 local time on Channels 2 and 4, between New York Yankees and the Milwaukee Braves.

In all, about 18 new programs are due to hit the home screens this week. They are listed below and readers are advised to run their eyes over the schedule and so note when they are due to appear.

Mothers will be happy to note that the new Mickey Mouse Club bows at 5.30 Monday. Unlike last season, however, it is only of half-hour duration. Also for the children is the weekly half-hour Woody Woodpecker cartoon series which starts on Thursday at 5 on Channel 5. Children should also note that the new comedy series, "Leave it to Beaver," starts on Friday at 6.30 on Channel 11.

Groucho Marx fans will be pleased that the You Bet Your Life quiz returns to its winter time on Thursday at 8 p.m. The new Phil Silvers comedy series returns to its old time of 7 p.m., Tuesday, on Channels 11 and 12.

The malt set should note that Pat Boone breaks his new half-hour variety show on Channel 5, Thursday, at 9, and that popular Sal Mineo will star in Kraft's drama Wednesday night at 9, Channel 4.

MONDAY

5.30: Channel 5: The new half-hour Mickey Mouse Club show starts today. It will be seen every week day, Monday through Friday, at this time. Darlene Gillespie will be featured.

6.00: Channel 4: The Mickey Rooney comedy gets under way. It is scheduled each day, Monday through Friday.

9.00: Channel 4: The Twenty-One quiz.

Channel 5: Coloratura Soprano Roberta Peters is guest on the Firestone concert.

Channel 4: Turn of Fate makes its debut. The weekly series will star David Niven, Jane Powell, Charles Boyer, Jack Lemmon and Robert Ryan. Tonight Ryan is seen in "Silhouette of a Killer." A man comes to and discovers he is the sole survivor of an auto crash.

10.00: Channel 4: Nancy Kelly and E. G. Marshall star in Suspicion's first play of the season, "Four o'Clock." Is the watchmaker's wife faithful?

TUESDAY

7.00: Channels 11, 12: Phil Silvers takes his platoon through some baseball with today's greats including Gil McDougald, Whitey Ford, Yogi Berra and Red Barber and Phil Rizzuto.

Channel 5: Sugarfoot becomes involved in a range war and with a beautiful woman.

Channel 11: Eve Arden is embarrassed. Her new book has just come out. It shows Eve's face atop of a very curvaceous body.

8.00: Channel 4: The Eddie Fisher hour-long show with wife Debbie Reynolds, Mike ("Around the World in 80 Days") Todd, and singer-dancer Elaine Dunn. Of course, George Gobel will be around as well.

9.00: Channel 4: Detective McGraw looks for the daughter-in-law of a dying man.

Channel 11: Merle Oberon narrates Assignment Foreign Legion, a new half-hour adventure series. A man believed to be a Nazi informer joins the Legion.

10.00: Channel 5: A special coverage of the World Series, upon the eve of same. Mel Allen will be host.

10.30: Channel 4: The new adventure western series, Vagabond, takes viewers to Tombstone, Ariz., to re-create the "Battle of the OK Corral."

WEDNESDAY

8.45: Channels 2, 4: The first game of the World Series gets under way (unless there is rain) between New York Yankees and the Milwaukee Braves. The games will be played at the same time daily except for a "travel day" to follow the second and fifth games.

6.00: Channel 5: Boxing: Del Flanagan fights Yama Bahama in a 10-round middleweight engagement at Chicago. Flanagan is rated No. 8. Bahama is unrated.

7.00: Channel 4: Saber of London makes its debut. Donald Gray stars as the crime-shattering Mark Saber.

Channels 11, 12: Patti Page's Big Record guests include Julie London and Johnny Mathis, Les Paul and Mary Ford, Fernando Lamas, Paul Whiteman, and others.

8.00: Channel 5: Disneyland offers the first episode of six, "The Saga of Andy Burnett." Andy is a young farmer bent on buying a farm in Missouri back in 1820.

9.00: Channels 6, 2: Kraft Theatre repeats "Vengeance," about a hobo who is picked up and held as suspect in the murder of a young woman. It is very good.

Channel 4: Sal Mineo stars in Kraft's latest, "Barefoot Soldier." The background is the U.S. Civil War. Two southerners escape from a northern compound.

Channel 11: Circle Theatre returns to TV at this new time with an hour-long documentation of "The Dead Sea Scrolls."

10.00: Channel 5: Walter Winchell will try again. This time he may be more successful as he sticks to what he knows best: news stories.

THURSDAY

8.45: Channels 2, 4: The World Series.

5.00: Channel 5: Woody Woodpecker cartoons make their debut. The program will be seen once a week.

8.00: Channel 4: Groucho Marx starts a new season of his entertaining You Bet Your Life quiz.

8.30: Channels 11, 12: Gig Young, June Lockhart and Eva Gabor star in Climax's latest, "Jacob and the Angel."

9.00: Channel 5: Pat ("Bernadine") Boone stars in his own show. His first guest will be Anna Maria Alberghetti.

9.30: Channel 11: Sterling Hayden stars in Playhouse 90's "A Sound of Different Drummers." In the state of tomorrow it is against the law to have intellectual enterprise.

FRIDAY

6.00: Channel 4: Boxing: Johnny Busso fights Sonny Boy Williams in a 10-round lightweight fixture at Washington, D.C.

8.00: Channel 4: The Court of Last Resort bows in. It's a half-hour series devoted to recounting actual cases of innocent men being convicted of crimes they didn't commit.

10.30: Channel 4: Another oater, Boots and Saddles, makes its debut.

FOR COMMUNITY CHEST—An hour-long variety show on behalf of the Canadian Community Chest fund drive will be seen from Winnipeg's Civic Auditorium Sunday night at 10 on Channels 6 and 2. Singer Juliette (above) will be one of the several Canadian stars appearing.

It Looks Like the Easiest Road!

'Dull' Oak Bay Outing Still Too Much for Navy

By ERNIE FEDORUK

It is becoming increasingly apparent that anyone wishing to dislodge Oak Bay as champions of Victoria's Intermediate Canadian Football Union must first crack that cement wall that serves as Drakes' line.

Drakes rolled to their third straight victory of the season—and the most convincing yet—Friday night at Royal Athletic Park, but to hear them say it, the Oaks turned in a dull performance.

That 28-0 rout of Navy's injury-riddled Tars was, in Drakes' own words "nothing to crow about."

NOT ENOUGH GAMES

Playing coach Jack Patrick and end Pete Turko, who teamed up via the aerial route to spark Oak Bay's victory, both bemoaned "lack of competition."

"We're stale. The blocking was bad and there wasn't too much drive out there," the Turk said. "You can't play two games a month and expect to look sharp."

But the night's "honest" moans came out of Navy's dressing room. The Tars, already weakened by altogether-too-many injuries, also lost the services of their coach.

REEVES TOO!

His comeback was short-lived. Bert suffered a broken arm with less than five minutes gone while making a tackle. Navy suffered another blow later in the game when lineman Pop Reeves injured a leg.

Without their leaders, Navy could do little to budge the Oak Bay machine with the exception of Roy Bootland, who shook loose for several healthy gains to account for most of the Sailors' 117 yards gained rushing.

Turko scored two majors on passes from Patrick. The first came on a 45-yard play and the second, off a fake placement, on a 39-yard pass-and-run effort. Fullback Ken Higgs slanted off-tackle for a 16-yard sprint and Drakes' first touchdown while Red White added the other. White's proved to be the game's most electrifying run. He scampered 36 yards, displaying a brilliant bit of broken field running in the process.

Doug Brown booted all four converts.

Oak Bay's vaunted line, which has allowed the opposition in only nine points in three games, contained Navy to only 141 yards from scrimmage, including 24 in the air.

Joey's Just Going to Sit ---And Wait

CLEVELAND (UP) — Hard-hitting Joey Giardello said today he's "going to sit down and enjoy" his strengthened No. 2 middleweight contender's spot until either Sugar Ray Robinson or champion Carmen Basilio makes a decision about future plans.

Giardello enhanced his title chances Friday night by stopping Bobby Lane in the seventh of a scheduled 10-round bout. A series of right-hand smashes to the chin had Lane staggering helplessly around the ring when referee Tony Labranche called a halt to the scrap.

Lane, of Kannapolis, N.C., weighed 159 pounds, Giardello, formerly of Philadelphia but now residing in New York, scaled 161.

Giardello was satisfied with his performance, saying: "I thought I won every round," matching the estimates of ringside observers. "I just bought a new home and I'm gonna sit down and enjoy it—not go near a gym until this middleweight situation comes clear."

For Lane, it was a temporary setback after 10 straight victories. His stamina and ability to withstand the brutal rib punching by Joey marked him as a possible future front-runner in the 160-pound division. Prior to Friday night, he had knocked out six of his last seven opponents.

Lane danced gingerly for the first three rounds, landing only a few long reaches to the head before it turned into a funeral for his soaring ambitions.

Giardello's manager, Anthony Farrante, said that Joey's future now "depends entirely on what Robinson does."

The stocky New Yorker has no fears of how well he'll handle first-ranked contender Gene Fullmer, if any such bout is arranged.

REDS GET CARMICHAEL

Patrick Decides Bruce No Cougar

Victoria Cougars' hopes of getting Bruce Carmichael back for another season were shattered Friday with the announcement that the bustling winger would play with Providence Reds in the American Hockey League this season.

BRUCE CARMICHAEL

Announcement of Carmichael's assignment to the American Hockey League club came shortly after New York Ranger manager Murray Patrick had decided to send defenceman Bill Dobbyn, also with the Cougars last year, to Vancouver Canucks.

Dobbyn, who will join the Canucks at their Winnipeg training camp, will work with newcomers Brent McNab and Bill Folk and holdover Hugh Currie on the WHL club's blue line corps.

CANUCK ROOKIE

Also sent to Vancouver by the Rangers was Danny Belisle, a rookie from Guelph, Ont., who moves in with a crew of forwards which includes Red Johansen, Ed McQueen, Norm Usselman, Ron Hutchinson, George Wood and Harvey Fleming.

Acquired by the New Westminster Royals is John Lumley, rugged former defenceman with Nanaimo Timbermen lacrosse club, who enjoyed a good season with Sudbury Wolves in the northern Ontario senior league last season.

Royals also picked up Andy Voykin from Sudbury and Art Jones, a 96-point forward with Spokane Flyers last season.

Manager-coach Colin Kilburn will start the Cougars on their training chores at Nanaimo Civic Arena Sunday at 9 a.m.

Cougars will work out twice each day until leaving Oct. 6 for a three-game exhibition tour that will include games at Penticton, Kelowna and Vernon.

Pros Kick Off Football War

NEW YORK (AP)—The National Football League opens its 38th—and perhaps its most profitable—season Sunday with the two favored teams facing the rivals who may give them the most trouble this year.

New York Giants, defending champions, play their first league game in Cleveland against the Browns, who won the Eastern Division title six times before the Giants beat them out last year.

The bruising Chicago Bears go to Green Bay to help dedicate the new Packer Stadium and possibly to justify their pre-season selection as the team most likely to win the 1957 title.

Other opening-day games are Detroit at Baltimore, Washington at Pittsburgh, Philadelphia at Los Angeles and Chicago Cardinals at San Francisco.

SIDELINE SLANTS BY Doug Peden

This has been a summer for the veterans, and Jackie Northup was right in step with the times.

It has been almost beyond belief how old codgers in some sports have been defying the years and the kids.

Take Archie Moore, 40 going on 44, the mysterious ring gypsy who blasted 22-year-old Tony Anthony to keep his light-heavyweight crown. Or even Ray Robinson, 37. The dancing dandy proved he his still one of the best in the beak-busting business although he lost the middleweight title to Carmen Basilio, a youngster of 30, in one of the toughest battles of our times.

Dr. Bud Taylor, 40, went to the finals of the U.S. Amateur and now the International Golf Association has named two players to represent the U.S. in international and Canada Cup matches at Tokyo next month. Who are they? Slammin' Sammy Snead, 45, and Jimmy Demaret, a jaunty grandpa of 47.

JACKIE NORTHUP

And who have wrapped up the major league batting titles? Two other guys who have been around for a long time—Ted Williams, 39, and Stan Musial, 36.

Right at home, the veterans had themselves a time as Victoria Shamrocks won their second Mann Cup. And leading the way was Northup, voted the most valuable player in the Canadian senior lacrosse final and winner of the Mike Kelly Medal.

Some may argue that Jackie's 30 birthdays hardly qualify him for a rating among the ancients. But he was playing his 13th season with the seniors in a game that certainly wasn't designed to promote long athletic careers.

There could hardly have been a more popular choice. Since he joined the Shamrocks in 1952 after seven seasons with New Westminster clubs, the durable veteran with the patented flat-footed trot has played every game as if it was an important one.

Winner of the Intercity Lacrosse League scoring title in 1950 and presented with the Maitland Trophy as the league's most valuable player the following year, it was Jackie's scoring ability that brought him to Victoria.

But this season, which led to his eighth appearance in a Mann Cup final and the third time he has had a share in the Dominion title, it has been his defensive efforts that have been outstanding.

Transfer to Defence Slot Helped

After a mediocre 1956 season, it appeared Northup might be on his way out as a Shamrock regular. But when coach Whitey Severson shifted him to defence, he took a new lease on life.

Despite those 13 seasons, he probably played the best lacrosse of his career during the latter part of the campaign and in the playoffs. There will undoubtedly be some changes in the Irish lineup before another season rolls around, but judging from the way Jackie handled his chores, there are no worries about at least one defence berth.

Severson, who stepped back into action late in the season and was one of the best Irish forwards in the playoffs, definitely won't be playing next year. One of the younger veterans claims he won't be back. And its going to be hard to keep some of the Junior Shamrocks from muscling into the roster of the Mann Cup champions.

Whether it is the Shamrocks or another Intercity League club that represents the west in the 1958 Mann Cup final, it appears almost certain that western teams are destined to dominate Canadian lacrosse for a few years.

Shamrocks proved they were the Dominion's best club by the manner in which they handled the Long Branch Pontiacs, who finished only two points behind Peterborough in the Ontario league schedule.

With the Petes shattered by the five-year suspension resulting from the Bobby Allan incident, it looks like the Pontiacs in the east again in '58. And they are at least two years away from matching the best of the Intercity League clubs.

They have the potential to be a contending club, but in the playoff they showed glaring weaknesses on defence, especially against the odd-man play, and a lack of finish and versatility on attack.

Most of the faults can be corrected, but it will need the slow-moulding process in the furnace of experience.

The Pontiacs are young, big, fast and eager. But no matter how you look at it, it should be the west again in 1958 and the Shamrocks should be the team to beat. When the chips were down, the Irish were a great team.

Showing of the Robinson-Basilio fight film at the Plaza Theatre next week will include an additional showing at 12.15 Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday in order to allow some fans to see the rugged bout during their lunch hour.

Fewer Whistles, More Speed!

The Western Hockey League will experiment with a new off-side rule this season in an effort to add more speed to the game and eliminate some of the now-too-many stoppages in play.

The league, in a release from the offices of president Al Leader of Seattle, said no drastic rule changes will be noted.

The new off-side rule provides that the puck receiver need not touch the puck before it crosses the centre red line on passes from the defending zone to the neutral zone. However, to be eligible to play the puck a player MUST be behind the center line when the puck crosses it if the pass was made from anywhere in the defending zone.

HAD TO TOUCH IT

Heretofore, a player in the neutral zone had to touch the puck before it crossed the red line before he was eligible to play a pass from the defending zone.

The pro circuit will also continue with its co-incidental penalty rule which permits immediate substitution of players on both teams if penalties, either minor or major, of the same length are given each squad at the same time.

This permits teams to remain at full strength on the ice a much larger percentage of the time.

Three minor changes deal with marking of lines, including a semi-circle in front of the timekeeper's bench which shall be known as the "referee's crease."

No player will be allowed to enter that crease to argue with the referee. Players doing so will be handed misconduct sentences. This will permit officials to give timekeepers instructions without being mobbed by players.

When a penalty shot has been awarded, no further penalty shall be given whether the goal was scored or not. Exceptions to the rule will be in vogue in the case of major or match penalties.

The league also added that the rule covering holding of the puck by netminders will be rigidly enforced. Goalies are allowed three seconds to get rid of the puck unless it is caught in his equipment or should he fall on it within "reasonable distance" of the goal.

Flu Bug Hits Canyen Camp

MONTREAL (CP)—The current flu bug striking at the big hockey training camp of Montreal Canadiens and farm and affiliated clubs is claiming new victims at the rate of three a day.

There are about 85 players in all at the camp.

Five regulars of Canadiens team—among 28 of the squad working out as a Canadiens unit—are laid up.

"From all the clubs in camp we're getting an average of about three players daily reporting to the forum clinic with the flu," said club physiotherapist Bill Head. "Whatever type of flu it is, it seems to be comparatively mild."

Latest victim among the Canadiens squad is trainer Hector Dubois. Goalie Jacques Plante was ailing, but he worked out with the squad.

Purdue Test Stiffest Yet For Irish Team

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

UCLA upset Illinois 16-6 Friday night as another big weekend of college football got under way.

A Los Angeles turnout of 48,714 saw UCLA take a 16-0 halftime lead and yield only a last-quarter touchdown to the Illini.

In other major Friday night games, The Citadel beat George Washington 13-6 and San Jose State took Denver 27-20.

There has been talk of discontent at South Bend, and if young Terry Brennan can gather his forces and come through with a good season, the chances are that the wolves will withdraw from his door.

It was Purdue that started the Irish on the road to a 2-8 season in 1956, their worst record in many years.

It Might Be Difficult To Miss Derby Prizes

Anglers taking part in the third annual Cerebral Palsy Coho Derby at Saanich Inlet next week may have as much trouble coming home without a prize as winning one.

Derby officials, expecting a record entry in the two-day event, announced this morning that there may be almost 60 prizes at stake when contestants hit the water at daybreak next Saturday.

Heading the list is the consolation prize of a glass boat equipped with an outboard motor. Top fishing prize is a moving picture camera and projector followed by a complete camping outfit for four and the third-place award of a clock radio.

Rounding out the prize list are a host of hidden-weight prizes that are expected to total at least 55 before fishing starts.

Co-sponsored by the Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association and Greater Victoria Lions Club this year, the derby raised a total of $1,563 for the Cerebral Palsy Association last year, and derby chairman Sparky Romano is predicting a record total will be turned over to the palsy association.

Tickets may be obtained from sporting goods stores, Saanich Inlet boathouses and members of the derby committee and Lions Club.

Fishing starts at daybreak Saturday and continues until 3 p.m. Sunday. Only coho salmon will qualify for prizes and weigh-in stations will be at Hall's Boathouse at Goldstream, the Anchorage at Brentwood and Holder's Boathouse at Deep Cove.

SPIESER FEELS DURELLE HAS TO PROVE HIMSELF

MONCTON, N.B. (CP)—Chris Shaban, manager of British Empire light-heavyweight champion Yvon Durelle, said Friday night Durelle stands a good chance of fighting Archie Moore for the world title. But he's not interested in an October bout with Chuck Spieser in Detroit at the moment.

"We have a pretty fair chance of getting a title shot," Shaban said. "As a matter of fact things look brighter than ever."

He was commenting on a statement in Detroit by Joe Spieser, brother of Chuck Spieser, that "Durrelle needs a good win in the light-heavy division before he can think of taking on Archie Moore."

VIKING VIEWS

By IAN SMITH

Another year, another season of sport at Victoria College. And indications are this will be one of the best years ever recorded at the Victoria institute of higher learning.

Such is the expressed opinion of Tom English, who states that "this should be the best year ever for college teams." Tom, from his position of men's athletic director, should know.

On all squads there is expected to be a nucleus of players from last season's extremely successful teams. Freshmen, having survived the rigors of the initiatory week, are expected to provide strong support for the experienced sophomore team members.

Of supreme interest to college sport fans will be this season's edition of the Vikings, the men's basketball squad that last spring fought its way to the Canadian junior final against Toronto YMHA.

With only Doug Flynn and Lance Rossington gone from the Vikings of last year, hopes are high that this season's team will capture the Dominion championship. Members of last year's team who are turning out again this year are English, Ed Kowalyk, Art Chiko, Bob Tomlinson, Waldo Skillings, Ken Bruso, Terry Lore and Ken McCulloch.

Viking games are tentatively set for Saturday evenings, with either the Norsemen, college "B" men's team, or the Vikettes, college women's team, appearing in preliminary contests.

Saturday is slated to be a big day all around for college sports activity. Men's soccer and rugby and women's grass hockey teams will play in the afternoon.

★ ★ ★

Amid the madness of frosh week, elections to the Victoria College sports council were held. Staff sponsor of the council is Mr. Hugh Farquar, who assists student representatives from all sports in an advisory capacity.

Heading the student members of the assembly are English and Carole Salonen, women's athletic director.

Elected to represent men's sports are: Rugby, Tom Robinson; basketball, Ed Kowalyk, and soccer, James Costain. Norma Calvert will be on the council from the Vikettes, while Ann Burridge will represent the women's grass hockey team.

Also on the council will be Don Bosnitch, curling; Jane Lee, badminton; Roger Hollick, bowling, and John Gilliland, cross-country running.

In announcing this year's sports program, English stated that all major Blue and Gold teams will play home-and-home games with teams from Vancouver. In most cases, Viking teams will meet squads from the University of British Columbia.

The men's basketball team is negotiating with teams from below the border for possible future games, while exhibition contests are being arranged for other college teams against local competiton.

Also on the program for the coming year will be chess, which has gained favor rapidly among freshman and sophomores alike. The club, which began with a membership of 10, mushroomed into an organization 100 strong by the end of last year.

Rivalling the chess club in the affections of students was the bowling club, which also hovered about the century mark in membership.

Both organizations are expected to expand their membership this year with the increased college enrolment.

★ ★ ★

As ever, the sports council is keeping its fingers crossed. As Miss Salonen and English put it, "this year is most likely the year for college sports—if the fans get behind us, that is."

Turnstile Mark Icing on Cake

By United Press

Milwaukee Braves had a new home attendance record to go with their National League pennant today and should reach two other goals before going on to their World Series rendezvous with New York Yankees.

Braves eclipsed their old league attendance mark Friday night when 23,676 fans turned out to see them beat Cincinnati Redlegs, 2-1. With two games remaining on the schedule, Milwaukee has drawn 2,145,926 at home compared to its previous mark of 2,131,388.

In addition, Braves came within easy reach of two other honors:

1. Homers by Andy Pafko and Del Crandall boosted their season output to 199. They need only one more round-tripper to become the fourth team in major league history to reach 200 for a season.

MOST VICTORIES

2. The victory was the Braves' 94th of the year—tying the club record set by the "miracle" Braves of 1914. One victory in their last two games will be enough to give them a new club mark.

Lew Burdette, the likely starter of the second game of the series, tuned up with a four-hitter as Braves whipped the Redlegs for the 17th time in 20 meetings. Wally Post's 20th homer of the year accounted for the run off Burdette, who finished his season's work with a 17-9 mark.

The American League champion New York Yankees, playing without Mickey Mantle, Bill Skowron and Gil McDougald, slammed out 15 hits to wallop Boston Red Sox, 10-2, and give Bob Turley his 13th win. Turley, slated for game No. 2 or 3 in the series, yielded only two hits and struck out eight before retiring after seven innings. Harry Simpson knocked in four runs and Tony Kubek and Andy Carey had three hits each for the Yankees.

TED 0-FOR-1

Ted Williams walked and grounded out in two appearances before retiring and his batting average dipped to .385.

Chicago Cubs beat St. Louis Cardinals, 3-2, and the Philadelphia Phillies shaded Brooklyn Dodgers, 3-2, in other National League games while the Chicago White Sox scored a 2-1 victory over Cleveland Indians. Baltimore Orioles downed the Washington Senators, 7-3, and the Kansas City A's conked Detroit Tigers, 9-7, in other AL games.

Pinch-hitter Eddie Haas doubled home the winning run in the eighth inning for Cubs, who tied the idle Pittsburgh Pirates for seventh place.

Rookie Jack Sanford, yielded five hits, including Sandy Amoros' two-run, ninth-inning homer to score his 19th victory for Phillies. Sanford also struck out nine to boost his league-leading total to 187 and can become the first Phillies' rookie to win 20 games in 46 years if he can pick up a win in relief during the final 48 hours of the schedule.

Hal Brown's five-hitter and Brooks Robinson's homer helped the Orioles "clinch last place" for the Senators. Roy Sievers hit his 42nd homer and set a new Washington club record of 331 total bases.

Jim Bunning failed in his second try to win his 20th game as the Athletics kayoed him in the fourth inning and went on to pound out 15 hits. Wally Burnette, who took over for the A's in the third inning, received credit for his seventh win.

Homebrew Ace Lost to Lions Rest of Year

VANCOUVER (CP) — Canadian tackle Gordie Mitchell will be lost to British Columbia Lions for the remainder of the Western Interprovincial Football Union schedule because of an injured spine.

Mitchell, in his third year with the last-place Lions, aggravated the condition during Wednesday night's game in Calgary against the Stampeders, won by Calgary 22-21.

The injury has been diagnosed as three broken transverse processes, which snapped during a pileup in the game. Transverse processes are wings that stick out from vertebrae in the backbone.

Mitchell suffered the same type of injury during Lions' training camp last June. He was out of action six weeks.

Two recent National Football League cuts have joined the Lions. They are halfbacks Bill Roberts, from Green Bay Packers, and end Thurlow Cooper, from Cleveland Barons.

New Face Atop Chess Ladder

The long reign of Lou Kellie on top of the "B" division ladder in the Victoria Chess Club's ladder competition came to an end this week when he was beaten and replaced by A. Strodyk.

L. Basanta remained on top of the "A" division for the second week while Mike Horn downed W. deHaviland to take over second place.

BILLY HAS HIGH HOPES

Pin-Busters Hot In Early Season

By GRAHAM COX

A real battle shaped up on two separate alleys and in three different leagues to decide who was going to lead the city's tenpin bowlers this week.

Wilbur Webb set the pace in the Commercial League at Gibson's when he steamed off a 598 series that included singles of 212 and 211, but he was a scant three pins ahead of Roy Begg in the Strathcona Senior Tenpin League.

The manager of the Douglas Street establishment came home with a 595 series and a 222 single to barely ease past Jack Bacon of Gibson's seniors with 594 (235).

They were three fine efforts and well above any scores registered this early in the season in many of the past years.

Bunched behind Webb like a covey of quail in the Commercial loop were Elmer Curtis with 564 (205), Bill Walker 547, Chuck Bennett 541 and Gil Wong with a 545 threesome.

Bacon had a pair of seniors battling it out for second place honors among the Tuesday night keglers as both George Motion and Bill Holness wound up with 576s. Holness took a slight edge with a high single of 213 to Motion's 202, but Jack Hobby was all alone in third when he rolled a 558 (202).

Other top scores in the league fell to Andy Palmer 546 (201), J. Nicol 534, Bud Falk 539, Wilbur Webb 535, Ted Bowcott 542 (200) and W. Noonan with 536.

Walt Davis led the men in Gibson's Mixed Tenpin League with a 532 match, but had to take a far-back seat to Flora Kirker who led the league with 559 (209) while in the Women's Major Tenpin League it was Joan White setting the pace with a 506 series.

Back across town at the Strathcona lanes, Harold Paulding placed a hot second to Begg with a 580 (223) series followed by Ray Rivers 564, George Motion 554, Bud Marty 553 and Charlie Marks 548.

In the fivepin world, the Letter Carriers' League at Strathcona had Wilf Edwards leading the way with a 729 high three, while Bert Fogden took singles honors at 316.

★ ★ ★

Gibson's Bowladrome's Mixed Fivepin League was paced by M. Wallis at 751 with Sheldon Nipp hitting 704 and L. Moore 703, while in the Hudson's Bay Co. loop, the McLellan family held forth with "A" hitting 732 and "J" rolling out 691.

★ ★ ★

Still with the fivepinners, but out into Navyland and the Esquimalt Bowladrome, Bea Lundgren set a torrid pace with 849 (357) to lead Bing Bates 844, Jim Gallant 839 (300), Johnny Middlemass 821 (338) and Howie Butler 815 (324).

Oaks Move Ahead In Girls' Circuit

Oak Bay Oaks took the lead in the inter-high school senior girls' grass hockey league this week when they shut out Victoria High Golds 3-0 for their second straight win of the season.

| | W | L | Pts. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Oak Bay Oaks | 2 | 0 | 4 |
| Mt. Douglas | 1 | 0 | 2 |
| Vic High Golds | 1 | 1 | 2 |

ABOUT REPLACEMENTS

A Little Favor Now May Kill Yanks Later

NEW YORK (AP) — Milwaukee bonus baby John Demerit won't be made eligible for the world series until—and if—New York Yankees approve.

Commissioner Ford Frick made this clear today and also pointed out that there would be no "deals" between the two clubs, for example, making Sal (the Barber) Maglie eligible for the Yanks.

The Braves applied to Frick Friday to be allowed to play Demerit in the series in place of the injured Billy Bruton. The 21-year-old Demerit originally had been taken off the list of eligibles to make room for Bruton.

The Yanks didn't seem particularly pleased at being put in a position of doing the Braves a favor.

General manager George Weiss of the Yanks said he would not make any decision until he talked with Stengel.

In Boston, Stengel made no commitments but pointed out that both outfielder Mickey Mantle and first baseman Billy Skowron were ailing.

"Maybe I'll be playing the services without Mantle or Skowron before the seventh game comes around," Stengel rasped. "They didn't let me put any new men in when I had Hank Bauer and Mantle crippled up a couple of years ago and lost to Brooklyn, did they?"

Punter Likes Payoff Better Than His Pun

Arterburn Again Tops Riding Crew

By CENTAUR

If you took an exhaustive anthology of the world's humor right back to Aristophanes you would never find a more atrocious pun than that perpetrated by a race track expert at Sandown Park Friday.

The card for the seventh race was being looked over and the jokester observed:

"Here's Coran who is by Coast Invasion; well, if we ever had a coast invasion it might be up in Ruperts Land so I'm going to bet him."

The worst of it is that Ruperts Land won to pay $28.60 for every $2 bet on him.

LET'S QUIT!

It's that sort of thing that makes one want to give up trying to pick them on form and resort to the traditional blindfold and hatpin.

Ruperts Land wasn't the only longshot to win Friday. Times Scarce got one of Haller's better rides and won the sixth race from Vance to pay $37.90, and Lazy Jo, a reformed router, got his head in front in the first and returned $32.10.

But there were favorites who cracked down in sufficient numbers to please the majority, Lark's Fly, for example, the day's good thing.

He started at odds-on and scared his backers nearly to death when he failed to get clear of Doctor Kay until the very last stride; the last-named horse had an excellent record at Longacres this year and will assuredly win one before this meeting closes.

It's nothing new to report that Arterburn again won three races. He's showing himself to be an exceptionally strong finisher, bringing from behind horses that appeared hopelessly beaten.

If you believe in the old adage that all horseplayers die broke, I can show you two, out at Sandown Park this year, who are living refutations thereof.

One is 83 and the other is over 70 and they've been coming to the races at least since the early '20s.

In fact one of them, Ernst Baeschlin, a former Swiss consul in Vancouver, now retired there for some odd reason, well remembers betting the first daily double at the old Colwood track over 30 years ago. It paid over $800.

The other is Bert Williamson, an annual patron of both Vancouver and Victoria tracks. He maintains residence in Vancouver but has big property in the Caribou and often takes a jaunt up there and back during the racing season.

They're both as chipper as youngsters and show you what plenty of afternoons in the open air can do for you.

SUNDAY SOCCER

Following is the Punjab United lineup for their Victoria and District Football Association match against Butler Brothers Sunday at 2.30 p.m. at Heywood Park:

Chenier Tackles World's Champion

A marathon fight for the world's snooker championship will be held in Vancouver in February, 1958.

Fred Davis, London, England, the current world champion of the snooker tables, will defend his title against challenger George Chenier, Vancouver.

Tentative plans call for the match, expected to run four or five days, to be held in the Exhibition Gardens.

Exact dates for the event will be announced later. It was recently approved as a centennial event and will be recognized as a world's championship match.

FIX-IT FORUM

Q.—We live where wood for fireplaces is hard to come by, and rather expensive. Can you suggest an alternate fuel? — P. P.

A.—Your fireplace is going to prove to be an expensive hobby, any way you look at it. Check local lumber dealers for a synthetic log now in the market. Made of sawdust and wood chips bonded together under pressure, it burns evenly and cleanly but, of course, is more expensive than wood in its natural state.

BIG INDUSTRY

Lakes and rivers in Manitoba annually produce a commercial fish catch worth more than $6,000,000.

Keep Home Fires Burning By Smartening Technique

By MR. FIX

The fireplace is warming its way back into the hearts of homeowners, as witness the number of new homes being built with this cosy utility.

Properly used, it's more than a source of warmth. A fireplace is a rallying point for family and friends. It is, that is, if the room it serves isn't enveloped in a pall of smoke.

HERE'S A CHECKLIST for your hearthside convenience:

Check operation of the damper. In an old fireplace it may be rusted and not working properly.

Learn to adjust this control, handle of which is usually projected through the front brickwork of the fireplace.

Start it wide open when lighting the fire. Cut down on the amount that the damper is opened once the fire is burning properly to save fuel and at the same time you'll keep more of your picturesque heat in the room.

KEEP RUGS, upholstered furniture and fine-finished pieces away from the hearth. And no scarves on the mantel, please. Always use a fire screen. The tools you should have are: a poker, a hearth shovel, bucket for ashes and a small bellows.

TO LAY A FIRE is to prepare the materials for burning. The devotees of the casual school of thought on this subject follow one of the following two methods, neither of which is recommended for efficiency:

1. The junk-pile method. Crumpled paper is placed at the bottom, kindling over it and solid fuel on top. Smothered fires and a low percentage of efficiency can be expected from this method.

2. The hurry-up method. Crumpled paper is placed in the fireplace and ignited. Kindling is tossed on the flames and if the kindling catches, solid fuel is thrown on the blaze a piece at a time.

THE RECOMMENDED WAY is to crumple newspaper and place it on log rests in the fireplace. Place two logs parellel over the paper.

Place kindling between the logs and across the opening between them. Place third log over the kindling, and touch off the paper.

Three logs are suggested as the minimum to keep a good fire going.

Once your fire is burning, replace that screen.

BEASTALL ADVISES

Gardener's Back to Wall As Daylight Saving Ends

While it might seem more reasonable to give the home gardener an extra hour of evening daylight during October to catch up on back work, the powers that be have decreed that this shall be our last evening for gardening after supper.

Jack

The loss necessitates the revision of the gardening schedule, using the extra hour before breakfast (perish the thought) and cramming as many jobs as possible into the weekends.

The most important jobs are given under "Work for Week." These will not apply to every garden, but each garden will have additional work governed by its layout and the plants being grown therein.

Listing the work which must be done in order of importance, and designating a time in which to do it, is comparatively easy. The difficult part is to keep to the schedule despite wind, rain, distraction, interruptions, and fatigue, both mental and physical.

MENTAL SPURS

Two cards pinned on the wall of my garden shed have helped offset mental fatigue, and to some extent eased physical strain through freshening the mind.

One is that ditty titled "Perseverence":

Go on, go on, go on, go on,
Go on, go on, go on, go on,
Go on, go on, go on,

The other is a quotation attributed to Henry J. Kaiser when faced with war shortages and deadlines:

"The difficult we do immediately, the impossible takes a little longer."

Perseverence in keeping to schedule and getting things accomplished, doing the difficult at once and the impossible soon after, will take care of a busy month.

BE KIND

The new plants which were ordered previously will be ready for moving now. Whether they give satisfaction or just spend a miserable existence for a short while will depend to a large degree on the treatment they receive between leaving the commercial grower's hands and becoming established in your garden.

Newly received plants should have their roots tucked into soil immediately and be given lots of water. Any corner of the garden in dappled shade will do until permanent planting can be done.

The worst places to store plants are under steps or against walls in sheltered corners where the early morning or late afternoon sun is trapped; on concrete walks, floors, or patios; and inside buildings even if they are cool.

A bucketful of water over each rootball, and a spray over the foliage two or three times a day will be to their liking.

Be prepared to bring under shelter any tender plants, such as freesia and pot azaleas from cold frames, also zonal geraniums.

Saxigraga umbrosa (London Pride) makes a pleasant evergreen low edging to walks. The flowers in summer are dainty and airy. Plants may be dug now, divided into small pieces and replanted.

Water carefully in greenhouse if nights are cool, and have floors and benches dry before sunset if no heat is being used.

New Concrete Needs Curing, Not Drying

The homeowner who likes to pour his own concrete walks is advised to cure the concrete not to dry it.

New concrete should be kept wet for at least five to seven days after it is placed in the forms. Concrete will lose much of its strength if allowed to dry out during the first week.

Allowing the concrete to dry too soon also will increase the probability of getting some serious cracking.

Seedless Watermelon Objective

RALEIGH, N.C. (UP) — The horticulture department at North Carolina State College is working on elimination of the watermelon seed.

Agricultural scientist Thomas R. Konsler said a seedless watermelon will have to be developed through a genetic principle—the crossing of two similar or slightly different melons, hoping for the possibity of something entirely different from the parents.

It was in this manner that the Japanese developed the semi-seedless watermelon, said Konsler. This melon has small, "incomplete" seeds.

But it is the very smallness of the Japanese melon to which melon lovers object. Scientists hope to find a way to increase the size of this melon while doing away entirely with the seeds.

Konsler is optimistic, commenting that a seed-up in technique may actually make the seedless watermelon a common thing some day.

ISLAND VIEWPOINT

Ferry Service

SIDNEY REVIEW: A representative gathering of Gulf Island residents has gone on record unanimously as favoring the provincial government acquiring and operating the various ferries which serve the island area. There is an abundant precedent for such a move and Hon. E. C. Westwood, minister of recreation, who represents the islanders in the legislature will be well advised to press their claims.

The province constructs and maintains the intricate highway system all over British Columbia. It owns and operates some ferries—but not all. The islanders' contention that the sea links between the various islands and Swartz Bay and other points should simply be considered extensions of the highway system is a reasonable one.

Already the provincial government pays an annual subsidy approaching the $100,000 mark for the operation of the vessels. Moreover it builds and maintains wharves and connecting roadways at various points. Although the cost is high, the expenditure is a worthwhile one. We have no quarrel whatsoever with Premier Bennett and his government for the stimulus they have given to ferry travel in this district. It is simply one more step to take over ownership and operation of the entire ferry system. And this proposed step is a most reasonable and understandable one.

Easy Punishment

COMOX DISTRICT FREE PRESS: While we are in full agreement with the establishing of parking meters in city streets, we cannot help but complain about one intention in relation with the latest means of traffic control.

We refer to the one dollar fine payable at the city hall.

If overparking is an offence, it should be treated as an offence otherwise the whole idea of parking meters might lose its strength.

We can see that selfish people might be quite happy to stay parked in one position until they are caught then cherfully walk over to the city hall, place one dollar on the counter and be free to do the same thing again at the earliest opportunity, meanwhile having robbed the general shopping public of parking time.

If a person abusing the spirit of parking meters were made to go into court and pay a fine to the magistrate then, even if the fine of say $2.50 did not hurt, the trouble of taking time off to appear in court would prove a deterrent.

BUILT HIS OWN RIG

Soap Box Champion Four-Time Winner

CHEMAINUS—Some kind of a record for soap box racers on Vancouver Island was set this year by David Woodley, 10-year-old Chemainus boy, who built his own car and scored four wins and one second place in five starts.

He also won the Chemainus Community Centre all-Island grand championship trophy, Chemainus Taxi championship trophy, and Key Furniture junior trophy in two races here.

In addition, he won a trip to the B.C. soap box derby finals at Mission next July 1, where the winner becomes B.C. representative at the world championship at Akron, Ohio, with his expenses to and from Mission to be paid for by Port Alberni sponsors of the meet.

Other prizes include a new bicycle, bat and ball, baseball glove and merchandise scrip.

Fishermen Fined Total Of $900

A special sitting of Sooke police court Friday collected a total of $900 in fines and $27 in costs from nine fishermen found guilty of violating a new federal Fisheries Act regulation.

The fishermen were all charged with fishing unlawfully with purse-seines on the seaward side of a line between Bonilla Point and Tatoosh Island lighthouse. The line runs roughly north and south between the United States and Vancouver Island.

One fisherman, Joe Cerezin, Vancouver, was acquitted.

It was set up last April by international agreement between Canada and the United States to protect the salmon runs.

A federal fisheries patrol boat found the fishermen fishing with nets just outside the limit. The offences took place in August.

Pentecostal Assembly Set

Several members of Pentecostal congregations here will attend the Pacific Region Pentecostal Assemblies of Canada World Mission convention in Vancouver Oct. 22 to 24.

Among those going are Rev. C. B. Smith, pastor of Glad Tidings Tabernacle and president of Victoria Ministerial Association; Paul Hawkes, Glad Tidings Tabernacle; Rev. Glen Richmond, North Saanich Pentecostal Church, and Peter Neave, Gospel Chapel, Elk Lake.

Ex-Courtenay Alderman Dies On Mainland

COURTENAY (CP)—William Henry Kirkwood, 79, who was a member of this city's first council in 1915, has died in New Westminster.

In partnership with John Sutton he established the Sutton & Kirkwood Funeral Parlor here. Three years later he sold his interest to Mr. Sutton and moved to a farm at Stettler, Alta.

Nanaimo Murder Trial Evidence Concluded

NANAIMO—An Assize Court jury today retired to prepare a verdict in the case of Vernon Ernest Breckon, 34, charged with the March 17 murder on Quadra Island of William Wallace, Indian resident of the island.

Court opened at 10.30, when Mr. Justice J. G. Ruttan made his charge to the jury.

Breckon, who was on the witness stand Friday afternoon, said he had been attacked earlier by the Indian he was accused of killing, and was carrying a knife to "scare" the man.

Following a St. Patrick's Day dance at the island community hall, Breckon said, he saw how a friend, Max Loch, had been beaten up. He was on his way for the police and a doctor, he said, and was carrying the knife and a club when an Indian "hit me with something long and thin over the shoulder."

"I swung my stick and it went out of my hand," Breckon said.

"I raised the knife so he could see it. He then stuck his head in my stomach. I went forward, then straightened up, and he bunted me again. I pushed with the knife somewhere between his shoulder blades. He straightened, then began running around hollering and fell to the ground."

Breckon said he telephoned police and "told them everything" when they arrived from Campbell River.

He took the knife, he said, because Indians had been seen prowling about stripped to the waist, and he was afraid.

Our Story: HALGAR 'THE THUNDERER' PROUDLY MOUNTS HIS NEWLY PURCHASED HORSE, FEELING THAT AT LAST HE IS MOUNTED AS BEFITS HIS IMPORTANCE. BUT, POOR RIDER THOUGH HE IS, HE HAS NOT GONE MANY YARDS BEFORE HE REALIZES SOMETHING IS AMISS!

AS THOUGH WEARIED BY HIS SPIRITED PRANCING, MAYBLOSSOM LEANS ON THE GATEWAY, CROSSES HIS LEGS AND RESTS.

THE CLAMOR ON HIS BACK MERELY BORES HIM AND HE SITS DOWN AND CLOSES HIS EYES IN PEACEFUL SLUMBER.

HALGAR DRAWS BACK FROM A WET BUT AFFECTIONATE KISS AND LOSES HIS HELMET.

AS HE STOOPS TO RETRIEVE IT, MAYBLOSSOM GIVES HIM A NUDGE. ROARS OF LAUGHTER FILL MAYBLOSSOM'S HEART WITH JOY... HE HAS GONE THROUGH HIS COMIC ROUTINE AND ACHIEVED SUCCESS!

HALGAR'S FACE IS LIVID WITH RAGE. ONLY BLOOD CAN WIPE OUT THIS INSULT! HE MIGHT EVEN THEN HAVE TAKEN REVENGE HAD HE STAYED, FOR ALL CAMELOT IS WEAK WITH LAUGHTER.

WEAK TOO ARE ALFRED, PIERRE AND JEX, BUT FROM FRIGHT. FOR IT IS THEY WHO, IN SECRET, HAD TAUGHT THE HORSE TO BE A CLOWN.

CITY STORES DIVIDED ON TOURIST WEEK PLAN

Victoria merchants are divided on benefits of the Chamber of Commerce-sponsored "Gift Shopping Week" Oct. 4-14 designed to attract tourists from the United States.

Committee chairman B. B. Tingley said bluntly that his organization "is confused, and somewhat disheartened" by the lack of co-operation by some merchants.

He termed this group as those "suffering from a Victorian apathy."

MONTE ROBERTS

My Favorite Wife awoke this morning with sneezes, sniffles, coughs, aches, pains and assorted rheums.

So I said to My Favorite Wife, you must have the Asiatic Flu.

But My Favorite Wife wheezed back at me:

"No, I cannot have the Asiatic Flu, because I caught this Occidentally."

Har de har har.

In the morning mail today was a small bit of paper addressed to "Monte Roberts, Chestnuts Department, Victoria Times."

On the small bit of paper was written:

"Mr. Jones was making a good living slicing bread. But he was ambitious. One day he bought a larger knife and found he could slice two loaves at a time. Then he bought a small sword and found he could manage three loaves at a time.

"'You look happy, Jones,' said a friend who saw him. 'This must be your lucky day.

"'It is,' said Jones. 'I've just found a four-loaf cleaver.'"

Har de har har.

And then there is this new young man we have at our office. And today he was asked to—among other things—distribute the mail.

And he called over to me "Here's an envelope marked 'letter to the editor,' To whom do I deliver letters to the editor?'"

So I called back to him "To the editor."

Har de har har.

And of course you heard what Whistler said when he saw his mother doing a rock-and-roll dance in the living room?

"Good gracious, mother," he said. "Have you gone off your rocker?"

Har de har har.

Ah well, things are tough all over. Especially on Saturday.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Condition of Dr. Anne Steel, unconscious since May 6, 1956, following a riding accident in the interior of the province, remains unchanged, Royal Jubilee Hospital officials said today.

She underwent brain surgery when brought to Victoria two days after the accident.

Two crates containing 1,440 presto-logs were destroyed in a fire at a Stewart & Hudson warehouse at 6.30 p.m. Friday.

The fire started when the logs, taken hot from the mill, began to smoulder and finally burst into flame at the warehouse on Dunedin near Gorge.

Two Victoria men were each fined $25 and ordered to pay $12.50 damages when they pleaded guilty in city police court today to wilful damage at a downtown restaurant early this morning.

James Black, 6, 304 Bay, was treated at St. Joseph's Hospital for ankle, hand, head and mouth abrasions suffered when he and a friend were dumped from a bicycle Friday at 3.30 p.m.

ASK The TIMES

Q—Jimminy, weeds are ruining my garden, and I'm growing callouses trying to take them out. Just what, please, am I dealing with? K.G.

A—A useless or unsightly plant, growing where it is not wanted, is a weed. Some weeds, K.G., are beautiful. Whether a plant should be called a weed or a wild flower depends on the use you want to make of it. Weeds impair the quality of field and garden crops, and reduce value. Not all weeds are bad. They grow where other plants can't survive and thus protect the soil from erosion. Weeds are hardy so they survive.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to The Times, addressed to "Ask The Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve conundrums.

Delegates Start Arriving For Big Chamber Convention

First of the more than 750 delegates and their wives attending the 28th annual meeting of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce — largest business convention ever held in Victoria—arrived at the Empress Hotel today.

Some 350 are coming over by boat from Vancouver Sunday afternoon and many more are expected by plane Sunday evening and Monday morning.

At least 150 delegates will be quartered in motels, apartments and hotels throughout the city because there is not room for them at the Empress.

CIVIC SUPPER

Hundreds of boards and chambers in all of Canada's 10 provinces will be represented at the meeting, which opens with a buffet supper given by the city council Sunday evening and concludes with a dinner Thursday evening.

Business conferences will be officially opened Monday morning by Raymond Dupuis, Montreal, president of the Canadian chamber.

Archbishop H. E. Sexton of British Columbia will conduct the invocation and greetings will be extended by Hugh Stephen, president of the Victoria chamber.

He recalls that this meeting was officially styled "The Conference of Boards of Trade and Chambers of Commerce of the Dominion of Canada."

"The Canadian Chamber of Commerce resulted from this first conference," he said, "and it has grown from 50 boards and chambers in 1925 to a present membership of 765 organizations.

Mr. Woodward said the purpose of the original meeting was to break down regional and provincial barriers by bringing business people together from all parts of the country.

RETARDED

"We felt then that Canadian progress was being retarded by divergent interests and lack of co-operation between different sections of the country."

Another Chamber veteran is Harry Patriquin, a past president of the Edmonton Chamber of Commerce.

"The Chamber has done a wonderful job of bringing Canada's businessmen together to discuss mutual problems," he said.

STRONG TIES

"In the old days Montreal and Victoria were as remote as the north and south poles. Today there are strong national ties between us and I think the Canadian Chamber has done much to achieve that result.

"By concerted effort the Chamber has had a considerable influence on federal and provincial governments — particularly in the field of taxation.

"That is to say we have been largely instrumental in ironing out discrepancies in taxation as they affect small and large businesses throughout the nation."

J. N. Kenney, a delegate from Yarmouth, N.S., believes the Chamber has done much to eliminate misunderstanding between eastern and western Canada.

"Regiously our problems may be different but as businessmen we have everything in common an our common interests are emphasized at these national conferences."

Charles Bantock, manager of the B.C. Chamber of Commerce, pointed out that, of the 765 boards and chambers represented in the national body, 103 are in British Columbia.

CONSTRUCTIVE

"The Chamber movement in Canada is one of the most constructive voluntary groupings in the world," he said. "It is significant that every group, whether large or small, has equal representation in our national policy decisions.

Twenty-five news and radio representatives from all parts of Canada will be reporting the conference.

Top issues related to productivity will be discussed at next week's sessions by five panels made up of prominent speakers, from the world of business, education, government and labor.

New officers will be elected and the policy of Canada's national business organization for the year ahead will be decided and later presented to the federal government in Ottawa.

President Dupuis will give his keynote address at a luncheon on Tuesday. The same evening the B.C. government will give a dinner at which Premier Bennett will be the speaker.

The meeting winds up Thursday evening with the annual dinner at which past presidents of the Canadian Chamber will speak on "Major Canadian Issues."

'OVERFLOW' TO WATCH ON TELEVISION

Hundreds of delegates who cannot squeeze into meetings of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce next week will be able to "look in" from the outside.

A closed TV circuit is being set up in the Empress Hotel by which delegates and their wives can watch some of the principal meetings in the tea lounge and the dining room.

"It is the only way we can accommodate all of the 750 delegates and wives who will be crowding into the hotel next week," a Chamber spokesman said.

Witnesses Here Endorse Protest To Dominica

Three hundred Jehovah's Witnesses met here Friday night to approve a petition asking the Dominican Republic to lift its ban of July 25 restricting religious activity of the movement there.

The petition will back an original resolution adopted by 33,091 Witnesses at a regional assembly in Baltimore last August.

Addressed to Generalissimo Trujillo, it describes atrocities committed in the Republic, as reported by eight American Witness missionaries.

MONDAY MEETINGS

Gyros: 12.00 noon, Empress Hotel. Speaker will be Professor R. T. Wallace of Victoria College, his sub. ct will be "Adult Education."

Unemployed Total Here Up Slightly

Overall total of unemployed in the Victoria area increased by 24 during the past week as 2,369 were registered.

The number of unemployed men dropped by 52 but 76 unemployed women were added to the total. Decreases were registered in both skilled and unskilled male classifications. The female increase was made up of typists, clerks and domestic workers.

Labor Hits Back At Strike Curb

Battle Chamber Proposal 'All the Way'—Unionists

Labor officials, collectively representing 120,000 B.C. workers, blasted back today at a B.C. Chamber of Commerce bid to have arbitration imposed on strikes and lockouts which threaten public health and safety.

Although not specified, the chamber proposal apparently was aimed at health, communications and transportation workers primarily.

The suggestion was made Thursday by a 15-man delegation which presented a chamber brief to the provincial cabinet.

"I don't think any government would take much notice of such a reactionary suggestion," said Vic Midgley, vice-president of the B.C. Federation of Labor, in an interview.

"But if it did, then labor would battle it all the way."

Jack MacKenzie, president of IWA Local 1-118 here, said he was "not at all surprised that the mouthpiece of big business in B.C. would try to follow the action of its U.S. counterpart. This sounds very much like the notorious Taft-Hartley law."

"If this is their type of thinking, it is no wonder there are labor disputes here from time to time," said E. T. Staley, secretary of the B.C. Council of Carpenters.

In Vancouver Friday, Bill Black, president of the B.C. Federation of Labor, summed up the feeling of labor leaders in Victoria when he promised "resistance with everything we possess" against the suggestion.

"We are well aware of the efforts of the employers' organizations to try to encumber the freedom of union movement and will resist any tampering with the Labor Relations Act," he added.

"Did the doctors, who arbitrarily raised their fees this week, think of public health or safety?" asked Mr. Midgley today. "Do lawyers negotiate increases in fees?"

'Unions Only Bargaining Groups'

"The trade union movement is the only group that gets around a bargaining table and negotiates its increases. Why doesn't the chamber try to curtail the doctors and lawyers?"

Mr. MacKenzie said the chamber "could better serve the public in this province by investigating the giving away of our natural resources to private interests and the huge combines that slowly but surely are drivnig small businesses to the wall."

Hugh Allison, representative of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees and Other Transport workers, said "the threat of arbitration has hung over our negotiations ever since 1950, when compulsory arbitration was imposed on us.

"The result is that our progress has been impeded and we have suffered directly."

The brief also suggested that all strikes should be prohibited until authorized by a majority of all employees affected by the strike action in a government-supervised vote.

"That kind of thinking shows the chamber apparently is against the democratic way we elect our governments," Mr. staley said. "At present, a majority of all eligible voters are required in a vote before a strike can be held.

"The chamber apparently wants 51 per cent of all employees, whether union members or not. That isn't the way our governments are elected under the democratic system.

"The majority rules and only eligible persons are allowed to vote."

The chamber delegation told the cabinet: "We are opposed to any legislation which permits either employers or labor unions to acquire or exercise unreasonable power over either group or the public.

Against Sympathetic Strikes

"Sympathetic strikes, strikes due to jurisdictional disputes, mass picketing, intimidation and the secondary boycott are inconsistent with the right of individuals and the public interest, and should not be permitted," the chamber said.

It recommended that:

1. The Trade Union Act be repealed or amended to abolish special privileges granted to unions and not accorded to other individuals and organizations.

2. Proper legislation be enacted to ensure that trade unions—like other responsible individuals and entities — shall, whether as plaintiffs or defendants, be subject to the rule of law as administered in our courts.

The cabinet was also asked to relieve the municipalities of a financial burden by:

1. Providing for grants equivalent to taxes to municipalities where services are rendered on properties occupied by the government.

2. Rescinding the 70-cent per diem hospital payments in view of the fact that the social services tax was increased from 3 to 5 per cent of sales to provide for financing hospital operation.

Assault Charge Laid Against 15-Year-Old

Second Youth May Be Charged

A 15-year-old boy was charged with assault causing bodily harm when he appeared in city juvenile court today in connection with the beating Wednesday of a 17-year-old girl.

It was understood a second boy may be charged following interrogation by juvenile authorities investigating the alleged assault of Rona McCulloch, 850 Richmond, by two boys as she walked home after a church meeting.

She was given hospital treatment for abrasions to nose and abdomen, suffered when she was knocked to the ground close to her home at about 11 p.m.

The 15-year-old was remanded to appear in juvenile court next Wednesday. He was held in Coldharbor Road detention home.

FOLLOWED

They had made indecent remarks to her on the bus ride from town, she told police.

Mill Plans Await Insurance

Plans to rebuild or abandon the View Royal sawmill, two-thirds destroyed by fire Friday, will not be made until about the end of October.

All plans will hinge on the outcome of insurance investigations into the $150,000 damage to the Plumper Bay Sawmills Ltd. plant, John White said today. He is office manager of Highway Sawmills Ltd., which owns shares in the burned plant.

"I expect that to take two or three weeks," he said.

Forty men were thrown out of work by the fire which raced through the head-rig section of the plant, reopened only Sept. 3 after a long suspension of operations.

FRESHMEN REBEL AGAINS INITIATION

College 'Soph' All Burned Up

By ANNE MAYHEW
College Correspondent

Giant effigy of a sophomore was put to the torch Friday by Victoria College freshmen who drew the line at crawling on hands and knees past rows of grinning sophs.

At initiation ceremonies on the campus, a knot of frosh decided they'd been humiliated enough by having to wear full, frilly skirts and make-up.

When it was their turn to humble themselves before the seven-foot paper soph, they charged up, crinolines flying, and brought the image to the ground.

Then the sophs, slightly crestfallen and still striving to assert themselves, took six busloads of innocent frosh on scenic mystery tours. The mystery being of course, that there was no transportation back. Lectures were to begin in an hour, at 2.30.

So hundreds of frosh, looking like Martians in yellow dunce caps, wended their way collegeward to the strains of a newly adopted Alma Mater song. . . Freshwomen marched with sacks scratching and pigtails dangling. Frothy-frocked freshmen tripped along, oblivious of crooked seams and slipped lipstick. Passing motorists stopped for pictures, or locked their doors and passed on the far side of the road.

And the frosh made it back for lectures!

Defenceless frosh were tried on no basis and found guilty of soph-slaughter, abduction of sophmore women and breathing of sophomore air.

74-YEAR-OLD

Church Marks Anniversary On Sunday

St. Michael's and All Angels' Anglican Church, Royal Oak, will mark the 74th anniversary of the dedication and opening of the present church Sunday with special services commemorating the Patronal Festival of St. Michael and All Angels' Day.

Built mainly by volunteer labor, St. Michael's Church was opened by the Rt. Rev. George Hills, first bishop of B.C., on Sept. 29, 1883.

Until 1892 it was a mission parish associated with St. Luke's Church, Cedar Hill.

Four years ago, St. Michael's was enlarged and a gallery was added to accommodate the growing congregation. Just recently new pews have been installed.

The present rector, Rev. J. Rogers, came to the parish in 1956. He will be preacher at Sunday services.

Holy Communion will be administered at 11 a.m., followed by a thanksgiving service for the blessing of the Harvest and commemoration of all who contributed to building the church. Evening service will be at 7.30 p.m.

The choir, under leadership of Mrs. Mary Cleland, will perform special music for both services.

NEWS OF CITY CHURCHES

Memorial Organ Dedication Sunday at View Royal Anglican

New organ at All Saints' Anglican Church, View Royal, will be dedicated as a war memorial Sunday at 10 a.m.

Canon Stephen J. Wickens will conduct the dedication service with assistance from the choir and organist Cmdr. Fred Fairfull of St. Martin's-in-the-Field Church.

A brass plaque on the console of the organ dedicates it to "the glory of God, and in loving memory of those who gave their lives in the service of their country."

★ ★ ★

Dr. W. C. Smalley, Edmonton, will be guest speaker at First Baptist Church Sunday, taking as his subjects "Jesus and the Children" and "Jesus and the Common People."

★ ★ ★

This will be Preparatory Sunday in Fairfield United Church, prior to World Communion Sunday, Oct. 6.

Miss Hannah Hurnard, England, will speak at both services on her experiences as a missionary to the Mohammedans and Jews in Palestine.

★ ★ ★

Rev. A. F. Grobe will speak on "A Thermometer or a Thermostat, Which?" at the morning service in First Church of the Nazarene. His subject at night will be "Action, the Weathervane of Belief."

★ ★ ★

Services in Victoria Truth Centre will be conducted Sunday by Rev. Emma M. Smiley on the subjects, "Key to Successful Living" and "Eternal Life or Immortality?"

★ ★ ★

For his sermon subjects at Metropolitan United Church Sunday, Dr. F. E. H. James has chosen "Help for Those That Mourn" and "What May We Believe About Hell?"

★ ★ ★

Rev. A. I. Higgins will preach in First United Church Sunday on "God Who Meets All Demands" and "The Great Renunciation."

★ ★ ★

Rev. Douglas B. Carr will preach at both services in Centennial United Church Sunday. His subject in the morning will be "The Unexpectedness of God" and at night, "The Fear of Loneliness."

★ ★ ★

Church school will attend morning worship at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church for the annual promotion service and presentation of awards. Dr. J. L. W. McLean's sermon subject will be "Teaching Religion." Evening service will be preceded by a half-hour of hymn-singing led by members of the Young People's Society. Dr. McLean will speak on "Check Your Weight."

★ ★ ★

"Certainties in the Midst of Life's Uncertainties" will be the topic of Rev. A. C. Hamill at Emmanuel Baptist Church Sunday. At night, his subject will be "Is the Morally Decent Person, Without Christ, Lost?"

★ ★ ★

Rev. Cecil Barner will preach on "The Need of This Present Restless Age" at the morning service in Douglas Street Baptist Church Sunday. "The Potter and the Clay" will be his evening subject.

★ ★ ★

At St. Aidan's United Church, Rev. A. I. Avery will speak on "Enchanting Lands" at the evening service. Harvest thanksgiving will be offered at the regular morning service.

★ ★ ★

Holy Communion will be celebrated in Christ Church Cathedral Sunday at 8 a.m., followed by a Consecration festival with matins and sermon at 11 a.m. Rev. C. M. Hubbard will preach at Evensong at 7.30. Rev. A. R. Penn will preach Evensong in James Bay Hall.

Teaching Mission In Royal Oak Parish

Rt. Rev. Philip R. Beattie, DD, Bishop of Kootenay, will conduct a teaching mission in the Anglican parish of Royal Oak from Oct. 27 to Nov. 3.

The mission will embrace congregations of St. Michael's and All Angels Church, Royal Oak, and St. Columba's Church, Strawberry Vale.

Opening service will be held in St. Columba's Church, Sunday, Oct. 27, at 11 a.m., when Bishop Beattie will preach and Archbishop Harold E. Sexton will be the celebrant.

Services will continue at St. Columba's on Monday and Tuesday, shifting to St. Michael's for Thursday to Sunday.

CONSECRATION FESTIVAL

Archbishop Harold E. Sexton will preach at a Consecration Festival in Christ Church Cathedral Sunday at 11 a.m.

The festival will recall the consecration of the cathedral 28 years ago on St. Michael and All Angels Day. Special lessons and hymns have been prepared.

Rally Day Service At Gordon United

Adults and Sunday school students will attend a rally day service in Gordon United Church, Langford, Sunday at 11 a.m.

Special speaker will be Willard Ireland, provincial librarian and a leading layman in Fairfield United Church.

Rev. H. P. Davidson reports several improvements in the new church, including addition of eight pews, landscaping, and decoration of Fellowship Hall.

Here is The NEED!

Arranged by ELIZABETH FORBES
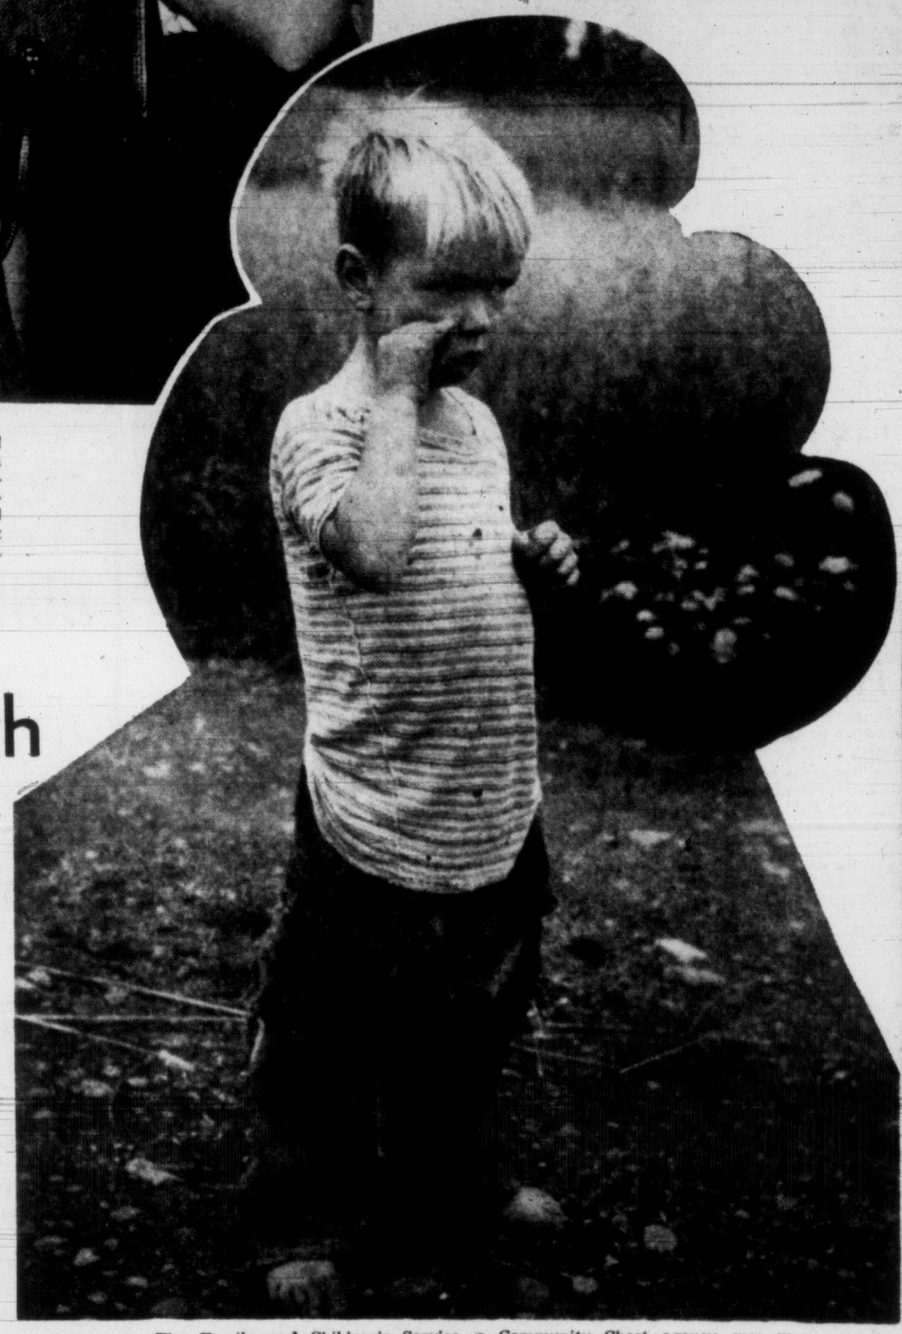
Women's Editor

Mrs. H. A. Smith, president of the junior board of the Victorian Order of Nurses, presents a nurse's bag containing surgical and medical supplies and equipment to Mrs. W. Findlay, vice-president of the VON board. Both nurses and board members of the VON, a Community Chest agency, will be assisting in the drive for funds.

Mrs. Duncan McPhail and Mrs. Peter Forrest take time out from household tasks to attend a campaign meeting at Spencerhouse. Thirteen hundred housewives have joined together to give a hand in the forthcoming United Way drive.



The Family and Children's Service, a Community Chest agency, was responsible for 94 adoptions, 77 children taken under protection, 268 children under supervision, 563 families counselled and assisted, and 169 unmarried mothers helped in the year 1956.

Give Enough

That None in Need Shall Stand Alone

Giving is the heart of living. Whether the giving be in money, in services, a kindly act or some great sacrifice to assist a friend, the giver realizes a sense of satisfaction and accomplishment.

Every day this giving to another in need means that the load of someone is lightened, is made bearable. October is the month set aside for all of us to help the United Way through one campaign for the many. For those 20 agencies which have joined in one appeal, however, the helping is year round. For skilled and highly-trained specialists and hard-working volunteers 365 days a year, offer their services, their skills and their energies. Their acts of kindness means a helping hand has gone out to some neighbor in need, for the care of children, the aged, the sick, handicapped, for recreation for all, for help to families in trouble. You help so many the United Way.

Goal this year is the largest in the history of the Chest, $251,717. It is the minimum required by the 20-member agencies to carry on their vital services in the field of health and welfare in Greater Victoria and the surrounding areas in 1958. Canvass of the business section of the city commences on Tuesday, Oct. 1. A two-day drive in the residential sections of Greater Victoria will be held on Tuesday and Wednesday, Oct. 15 and 16, immediately following Thanksgiving Day. Your grateful thanks for health and abundance of food, your homes and your work, could be expressed in a donation to assist those less fortunate.

Other agencies participate among other things in giving emergency assistance and counsel to worthy families in need; assistance to released prisoners and their families and rehabilitation for individuals to create useful citizens; care of animals and ambulance calls to injured animals; social planning so that all may have an opportunity and a Christmas bureau that brings happiness to young and old.

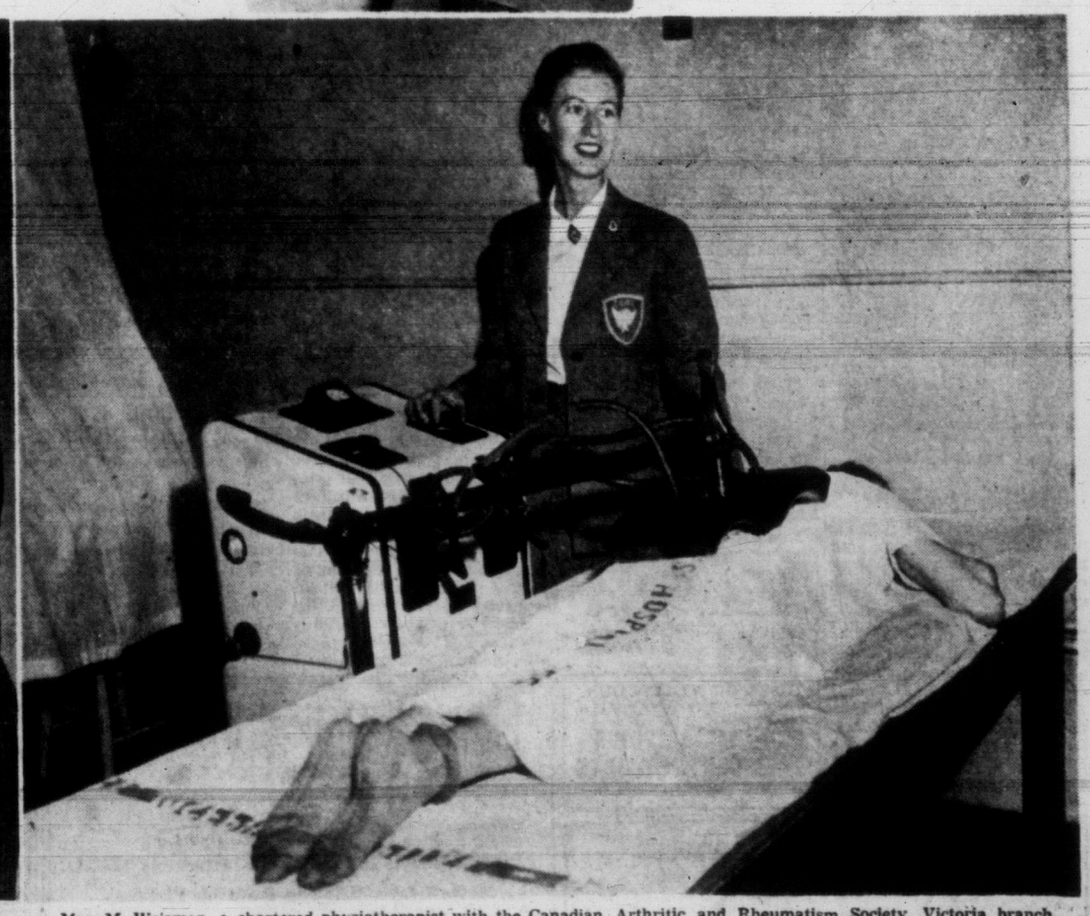
Mrs. E. M. Forrest, right, residential division co-chairman, plans canvass of Esquimalt area with Mrs. Rhoda Duncan and Mrs. C. H. Mee, team captains. Though Mrs. Forrest and her team began planning in May, her 1,200 fellow volunteers do not begin the residential canvass until Oct. 15. Co-chairman with Mrs. Forrest is Mrs. I. S. Morgan.



Mrs. M. Weisman, a chartered physiotherapist with the Canadian Arthritic and Rheumatism Society, Victoria branch, carries out exercises prescribed by the patient's doctor at the Victoria clinic. CARS is also an agency included in this united appeal.

"Okay, Mr Univac—now start figuring how you're going to pay this month's grocery bill!"

SHOPPING GUIDE

Here-There, Around Universe To Bring You Most for Least

By PENNY SAVER

Around the world in 80 minutes? Goodness—Penny can travel on and on around the globe sans plane, car, or bicycle. Ah well! There is usually a grim end for dreamers like me. So with the end so near, I will proceed to tell you what I saw today.

Sorry friends, but I can't stay away from those fascinatin' shops that have an ingenious way of carrying me off to another land! So, around the world we go, and can you save pennies? Why, yes indeed!

Si! Senora, there are hand-tooled purses galore from Mexico with matching pumps that will last forever and ever and what a smart set for $25.

With a little imagination and $4.50, your luncheon or dinner table can be the gayest spot in the winter months to come. Everything tastes better when it is served on a hand-woven tablecloth with matching napkins in colors of red, blue, yellow and green.

You could have an Egyptian picture on the cover of your wallet. These artistic billfolds are of hand-tooled leather with ancient symbols of Egypt carved on the outside! In mahogany and tan, these little items make sharp gifts at the tremendous price of 95 cents.

In the same shop, I found some charming hand-woven skirts in stupendous shades of royal blue, maroon, brown and green. These could start a small riot at class and also be the source of lots of admiration. Skirts have matching drawstring bags, all for $19.95.

These are too much! Tall, majestic soapstone figures, hand made in China and perfect for Christmas gifts. Here they are at $3.99! Unbelievable? Go and see for yourself.

If you ask me, paper bags are just useless and unattractive. But of course you didn't ask me, so go ahead and tote that huge, ugly grocery sack around.

If you agree with me, then I've got a secret. For 79 cents (please don't collapse) I saw lovely big straw bags with strong, handles and pretty flower designs on the outside. Hope your convinced. And, by the way, nothing can fall through the bottom.

Happy shopping and have a super weekend! Remember, if you would like to know where I shopped, phone me at 2-3131.

On Etiquette

Don't Mix Your Parties:

Half of our friends are avid bridge players while the others do not play cards at all. How do we compromise on after-dinner entertainment for them? Can we divide them into two groups, or should we try to find some amusement that will entertain all of them?

Louise Davis Answers:

I am afraid that you would be biting off more than you could chew by having your card and non-card players at one party, especially if you are planning to let the bridge players have their game. They would all probably mix nicely before and during dinner, but they wouldn't afterwards if you divide them up into two groups. I am afraid the evening would be a flop. Your non bridge players would be deprived of the pleasant company of the others, and the bridge players would concentrate on their game to the point where they would be oblivious of the others and would not want to be disturbed. You would be a much wiser and thoughtful hostess if you entertain these groups separately on different evenings. You can then give them all your undivided attention and I am sure that your guests would have a more enjoyable evening. At any party, each guest should have the opportunity of enjoying the others. Not so if you combine the groups. But if you find that you can give only one party and want them all, then skip the bridge.

She Goes by Air to Old Munich Home

SYLVAN LAKE, Alta. (CP)—Mrs. Anna Maria Huerlimann, an 81-year-old pioneer of this central Alberta district, has returned from the first trip to her homeland in nearly 30 years.

She made the trip to Munich, West Germany, by plane and unaccompanied.

"I started out with many misgivings," she said. "All of my relatives and most of my friends in the old country are dead. However their children treated me as if they had known me all their lives."

The decision to make the trip at her age is typical of Mrs. Huerlimann.

"Every day," she says, "I thank the Lord that I have my own home and I am able to look after myself." Her home is a picturesque farm on the shore of Sylvan Lake.

Since her husband's death 18 years ago, Mrs. Huerlimann has occupied the farm by herself. Until a few years ago she spent the winter there despite the fact there is no electricity, plumbing or telephone.

"I am never lonely," she declares. "There is always work to do around the farm. Also I read a little and write (she carries on a voluminous correspondence with friends around the world) and before I know it the day has passed."

Mrs. Huerlimann first arrived in Canada as a chaperone to her brother's fiance.

"I had no intention of staying," she says, "but the First World War broke out and here I was."

Farm Wife All-Round Assistant

OTTAWA (CP)—The farmer's wife is in a partnership that is literally the "grass roots" of Canadian life, says sociologist Helen Abell.

A rural sociologist with the agriculture department's economics division, Dr. Abell says there are indications that more farm wives also are doing a major share of farm accounting and bookkeeping.

Dr. Abell, with an eye to defining the "woman's touch" in Canadian farm work and showing her effect on farm business, analyzed data from two mixed farming areas in central Alberta.

BOOST FARM OUTPUT

These women all lived on the type of mixed farms which could be found anywhere in Canada.

Dr. Abell found the volume of action was greater on farms operated by married men than on other farms. Production was lowest where there were no adult women living on the farm.

In effect, more farm work was done and handled by a larger working force on farms where there were women—particularly when the women were the wives of farm operators—than on farms operated by men alone.

TODAY'S RECIPE

BRANDIED PRUNES

Two cups cooked prunes, ½ cup liquid from prunes, ¼ cup sugar, ¼ cup brandy.

Combine prunes, liquid from prunes and sugar, and heat to boiling. Pour into jar and add brandy. Cover closely and cool to room temperature. Chill in refrigerator at least 24 hours before using. Serve chilled as dessert with whipped cream or ice cream or as meat garnish.

Raw wool undergoes more than 14 processes before it emerges as a warm, fleecy blanket—the product of centuries of skill.

Furs Shown in Flat-Top at Halifax Presented This Week on Pacific Coast

East to West . . . from the windswept shores of Nova Scotia to the land of the tall totems has come the most lavish and fashion-right collection of furs ever assembled in Canada.

The premiere showing "The Canada Pageant of Fur" was presented by the Fur Trade Association of Canada aboard Canada's first aircraft carrier HMCS Bonaventure in Halifax harbor on Sept. 6.

Last Wednesday evening from the stage of the Georgia Auditorium in Vancouver, Mrs. Frank MacKenzie Ross opened the Vancouver showing which was sponsored by Thetis chapter of the Queen Alexandra Solarium Junior League. She was introduced by J. Schrenk, president of the B.C. Fur Association.

Nona

From modest mouton to magnificent mink, coats and stoles of every styles and shade were shown to a very appreciative audience.

Those present were given the opportunity to see and admire the fur fashions of today and tomorrow, as created by Canadian ingenuity and craftsmanship.

Today the average layman is hard-pressed to distinguish each fur there are so many new guises but at Wednesday night's show, the commentator, Ruth Fortune, told the story of each fur as it appeared.

A beautiful fully "dropped" blended muskrat coat could easily have passed as mink and a sheared muskrat, dyed and processed, had the soft and supple appearance of Alaska seal. Of course the Emba Autumn Haze mink trim did add to the luxurious appearance.

The popular car coat was not forgotten by the fur manufacturers. A reversible one shown was a real fun coat . . . two in one . . . rich brown mouton on one side and soft creamy velveteen on the other. Emba Desert Gold mink pompoms added a touch of glamor.

Evening wraps, boleros and stoles were worn over sumptuous gowns created by the Association of Canadian Couturiers. Magnificent flame orange chiffon, silver and black brocade, champagne nylon and black velvet were a fitting background for the "onyx" silver fox cape, Emba Diadem stole, white ermine bolero and many other luxury pieces.

Delightful background music was provided by Dal Richards and his orchestra and midway through the show Lorraine McAllister sang several selections.

Two door tickets were drawn and two very lucky women were able to take home new mink stoles.

I also received a gift. It was not a personal one.

Mr. Schrenk presented me with a generous cheque from the Fur Trade Association of Canada to be used by the board of directors of Queen Alexandra Solarium for general maintenance of the hospital.

Plans Many New and Stylish Coiffures

Maybe it's his non-flustered manner, and certainly it's his beautifully poised, non-flustered hairdo designing. Mr. Kenneth of Lilly Dache has been the maestro sought by several famous brides-to-be who wanted to start their new life with a new coiffure. Kay Kendall, the exquisite British actress who is now Mrs. Rex Harrison, changed from auburn to deep brunette with silver streaks, and Kenneth cut her hair into a short, front-fluffed shape. Margaret Leighton, star of "Separate Tables" before she went home to England to be married, had her honey-blonde, shoulder-length hair cut and redesigned by Kenneth. She now has her hair shingled at the back, with a brushed-up pompadour.

The term "dyed in the wool" originally meant the dyeing of wool in its loose state (before being spun into yarns). Because the dyes used had to be fast to stand the ensuing finishing processes, the term has now come to mean steadfast, unswerving.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

What You Can Do for Defective Neck, Chin

Is D, N and C your problem? Sounds like an advertising agency, doesn't it? Long ago in this column I dubbed one of woman's most harassing beauty defects, DNC. By this I mean difficulty at the neck and chin. Believe me, this is one of the spots in which aging hits a woman earliest and most drastically.

There is definitely atrophy of the muscles of face and neck unless they are exercised rtgularly. Of course we do use these muscles many times each day, but they need more exercise than they get and of a different kind.

DNC is the result of many factors: poor posture, lax muscles and tissues, decreasing fatty deposits between the skin and the muscles. If DNC is one of your defects or if you see the beginning of it, you should launch upon a routine to combat it.

There always have been two schools of thought about whether or not one should stretch the muscles underneath the chin. I belong to the stretching school. The only women I ever have known who have youthful necks at an older age have done such exercises faithfully for years. After all, these muscles do shorten and become tense. We seldom look up except once in a while to look at a plane or a bird or the moon or stars.

This is a good corrective and preventative exercise. Stand or sit tall. Lift your head and tilt it backward. While in this position turn your head to the right as far as you can. Turn it forward. Turn it as far to the left as you can. Turn it forward. Continue, alternating right and left. You will feel the pull of the muscles.

Another: Again stand tall. Lower the head backward as far as comfortable. Open and close your mouth very slowly, pulling the lower lip over the lower teeth as you bring your jaws together. This must be done VERY slowly.

Exercise, plus an improvement in posture and daily lubrication, will make a difference in the contour of your neck and chinline. Circulation creams also are helpful in some cases.

If you would like my leaflet "Is Your Chinline A Pain In The Neck?" send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for it to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper. Leaflet 10.

Larger Women Need Choice Of Clothes

TORONTO — Canada's stout matron can look forward to being better dressed if members of the Canadian Association of Consumers have their way.

At the closing session of CAC's 10th annual meeting here Thursday, some 80 delegates resolved to ask garment manufacturers to market a wider selection of all women's garments in large sizes.

Stout matrons across Canada have complained to CAC they found it almost impossible to purchase a suitable wardrobe, as they have such a limited selection of dresses, sweaters and even slips from which to choose.

Another resolution said parents are having difficulty finding good reading material for their younger children.

CAC voted to take the matter up with Canadian publishers with a view to having story books marked as being suitable for children of certain ages.

Delegates said many complaints have been received from consumers regarding sales promotion methods of the manufacturers of soaps, detergents and cereals. The convention called on the CAC to inform manufacturers that such advertising does not create permanent good will for a particular product and that over-advertising is a perversion of sound economics.

Foster Parents

One thousand Canadian foster parents are urgently needed if the children of Viet Nam are to survive the long, cold winter approaching, said Mrs. Lenore Sorin, associate director of Foster Parents' Plan Inc., when she visited Montreal headquarters recently.

Mrs. Sorin explained, "over 800,000 refugees have fled the Communists in the northern part of the country and have settled in the south. These people are sick, hungry and poverty-stricken. I have never seen so much disease. Little children suffer from everything from pellagra to leprosy. They cannot possibly survive another winter unless we help them. They need clothing, food, shelter as well as medical care. Our plan is starting this work right now—but we need one thousand more Canadians to help us!"

A foster parent can give a Viet Namese child a second chance—a real chance to live and be happy. Most important is the love and understanding a foster "mom or dad" can send to their love-hungry child far across the seas in his war-torn country. Please become a foster parent. Write for information to Foster Parents' Plan Inc., P.O. Box 65, Station B, Montreal, Que.

Far Horizons Call Young 'Y' Worker; She's Off Again to See More of World

By JUDY NICHOLSON

If you should see a green Morris Minor disappearing over the horizon, you'll know Miss Ruth Scott is on her way again.

Tonight, she is jumping into said "wee auto" and is setting off for a six-month trip to eastern Canada.

Why? Well, as Sir Thomas Wyatt has said, "Often change doth please a woman's mind."

With Ruth, this is true. A girl with an ambitious nature, she has done enough in her 24 years to fill volumes.

Ruth loves to travel alone. Her reason is good. She feels that "loneliness sharpens the perspective." She says, "It may be fun to travel with friends, but when I am alone, I find that my impressions of the cities, landscapes and people are pure and completely unbiased."

She crossed Canada five or six times during her three years in the air force. Then she had a desire to see Europe.

She arrived in Britain in March, 1955.

Many relations kept Ruth going as far as expenses were concerned. She has a sister in England, Paddy Scott, who was with the Abbey Theatre in Dublin, and is now with the Pinewood Studios in London.

BOHEMIAN LIFE

"Paddy, being an actress, has some very arty friends," Ruth explained, "she took me to Soho, one night to the Bohemian quarter and I was delighted! The evening certainly straightened me out on what makes artists tick.

"All they talk about is what they have done and what they will do, making the present inconceivable.

Ruth too, is an artist. She has pleasant memories of sitting on the bank of a river at dawn, painting a misty scene and of spending days in art galleries in Germany, France and Italy.

Miss Ruth Scott, daughter of Col. and Mrs. G. B. Scott, Wilkinson Road.

In the past year and a half, Ruth has become well known in Victoria for her fine work as a group worker at the local YWCA.

Her interest has been in planning the recreation and training for League of the Handicapped, Armchair Travellers' club, Club Thirteen, (a young adult group), art classes, young mothers' associations, and many other groups.

On her six-month trip, Ruth plans to study recreational facilities in Toronto and Montreal. She intends to work on a volunteer basis at Y's in the east, but is going to look for steady work in some field other than group work.

As she says, with a flick of her long brown pony-tail, "Just think of the fun it would be to work on an assembly line and wear a white bandana on my head!"

$870 at Tag Day

It was reported at a meeting of the Women's Auxiliary to the Royal Jubilee Hospital that $870 was raised at a recent tag day. Mrs. P. E. Corby presided and a grant of $100 was made to the Nurses' Association, $50 to the Children's Ward Association and $100 to supply cutlery for the hospital.

Owing to the large amount of work involved with the autumn bazaar to be held in the Nurses' Home on Oct. 23, it was decided to hold a special meeting, to make the final arrangements, in the annex building on Oct. 16 at 2.30 p.m.

CLUB CALENDAR

A single wool fibre — magnified 5,000 times—is seen to have overlapping scales on the outside. These tough, flexible scales account for wool's resiliency and wearing qualities. Its inner core of softer, elongated cells enables the wool fibre to absorb moisture. This prevents a "clammy" feeling and increases the dye affinity in wool fabrics.

Expert Suggests Tax On Community Groups

One of Canada's outstanding authorities on civic government financing said Friday city council should impose its business tax on all community organizations and government-operated businesses.

Dr. Robert M. Clark, associate professor of economics at the University of British Columbia, speaking at the annual meeting of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, said the business tax should be imposed on such organizations as the Chamber of Commerce, Manufacturers' Association, trade unions and provincial and federally-operated businesses.

His proposal did not apply to charitable and educational organizations.

"I know you won't like this proposal," he said, "but I once advocated it for the city of Vancouver."

After the meeting, he explained that while business and labor organizations did much towards bettering their respective communities, they were basically formed to watch and protect their own interests.

They were in a sense in business, he said.

Dr. Clark also advocated the institution of "trade licences" for certain types of businesses. Cited as examples were taxi companies and peddlers.

He explained that these businesses as a whole did not own much property and required little office space. It thus followed that many of them paid light taxes.

FLAT RATE

Dr. Clark said the flat rate business tax based on rentals adopted by the city council is the fairest and most efficient method of taxing businesses.

Admitting that no one yet devised a business tax just and fair in every respect, he said taxing businesses on rental basis was recognized throughout Canada as the best system.

It is superior and less troublesome than basing a business tax on classification.

"Cities with graduated taxes have experienced a great deal of criticism and dissatisfaction," he said. "On the other hand there has been widespread satisfaction with the flat rate system."

People who support a graduate tax rate claim it is based on the "ability to pay," he said. It was their claim that the larger the firm, the larger must be its profits. Thus it should pay a higher tax.

But Dr. Clark, who conducted an inquiry into business taxation for Vancouver, said the true facts does not support this.

PROFIT RATE

"It has been found that in good times the larger the corporation, the lower is its rate of profits," he said. "The opposite is true in bad times. They make more profits in bad times."

He added: "The ideal of ability to pay does not support the proposal for graduate tax rates. Classification of rates on the basis of average rates of profit for different lines of business would be ultra vires."

Hugh Stephen was installed as president of the Victoria chamber, succeeding Austin Curtis. Also installed were Conway Parrott, first vice-president, and Forrest L. Shaw, second vice-president.

FINE CUT ASKED 'A LA GAGLARDI'

RICHMOND, B.C. (CP) — A lawyer Friday asked reduction of a $25 speeding fine imposed on his client because, he said, Highways Minister Gaglardi was fined only $10 for doing twice the speed.

"A minister of the Crown, a much older man, with a previous conviction, was charged with driving at speeds between 85 and 100 miles an hour and fined $10," said counsel for LAC Wayne Charles Schwartz, 20, charged with speeding at 45 miles an hour.

Magistrate R. C. Palmer refused to lower the penalty.

Fall Program Reopened By YMCA

The full-sign also is out for the morning married women's class and the children's classes but there still are openings in all men's classes.

The business women's class opens Wednesday and the following day the men's swimming classes will begin.

Canadians Cousins Only —U.S. Envoy

VANCOUVER (CP) — The family resemblance of Canada to the United States is more that of a cousin than a brother, U.S. ambassador Livingstone T. Merchant said Friday night.

"I have no patience with those on our side of the border who, in blindness, assume Canadians are just like ourselves. One does not have to live very long in Canada to appreciate the variety and the depth of the differences between our two countries.

"We are in many ways very, very different," he told a dinner of the English Speaking Union Vancouver Branch.

He said much misunderstanding is caused by failure to understand the difference in the forms of government of the two countries, and there are also little-understood differences in their educational systems.

Canada's foreign policy differs from that of the United States, particularly as a result of Canadian relationship with other countries of the Commonwealth which "occasionally places burdens, but more frequently confers advantages."

TOLERANCE

Mr. Merchant said the United States is often accused of "making a fetish of conformity," while in Canada there is tolerance toward retention of customs and cultures of countries from which its people came.

Mercury Sends Students Home

TORONTO (CP) — Students and teachers in Vaughn Road Collegiate Institute Township school were sent home Friday when a sudden dip in temperature made the school too cold for classes. A strike of 3,000 plumbers and steamfitters has left school heating systems unattended.

HALIFAX (CP) — Deputy Health Minister J. S. Robertson said today "not a single case of sickness in Nova Scotia has been diagnosed as Asian influenza." Dr. Robertson said that to his knowledge there has not been a "serious" outbreak of influenza anywhere in Canada.

ON BEHALF OF BOY

Penal Term Appeal By Howard Society

VANCOUVER (CP) — The John Howard Society here will lead a legal fight against a two-year penitentiary sentence imposed in Nanaimo Wednesday on a 15-year-old boy, executive director Mervyn Davis said Friday.

Mr. Davis said the society, which promotes penal reform and helps prison inmates, will provide counsel for an appeal by the boy to the B.C. Supreme Court against the sentence passed by Nanaimo Magistrate Lionel Beevor-Potts.

The boy was said to have been born in Montreal and to have run away from his home there. He was charged with burglary and car theft, offences committed following his escape from Brannan Lake Industrial School.

"We feel that sending a young boy like this to penitentiary is giving up too soon," Mr. Davis said.

Despite good reports on progress of boys sent to the penitentiary previously, some have caused considerable trouble on release and it was obvious they had benefited little from the treatment received although the staff did "a terrific job."

Passing sentence Wednesday, Magistrate Beevor-Potts said he hoped the penitentiary would afford better segregation and training and give the boy "some sort of trade and an education."

RED-HAWK CEDAR DOUBLE COATED SIDEWALL SHAKES

COLOR

More and more builders and home owners are discovering that correct use of color can visually help "shape" the design or appearance of an entire house. The colors selected for Redhawk double-coated shakes are those proved to be most desirable and most practical for extra beauty and service.

Colors:
- White Primer
- Dove-Grey
- Smoky Grey
- Slate Grey
- Spanish Red
- Chocolate Brown
- Fawn
- Canary Yellow
- Mermaid Green
- Sage Green
- Paddy Green

THE REDHAWK METHOD OF APPLICATION

The scientific color process used in the production of Redhawk shakes is the most advanced in the industry.

Every Redhawk shake is first prime-coated with a quality "sealer" to provide an excellent base for the rich finish coat. This prime sealer provides extra protection against moisture absorption — keeps your Redhawk shakes snug and flat on the wall, year after year.

After prime coating, Redhawk shakes are completely oven-dried and heated. Then, still under rigid temperature control they are transferred on conveyors under the paint spray guns which assure complete and consistent second-coat coverage of every Redhawk shake.

FALL IS THE TIME

Yes, this is the time of year to get those home improvements done. The weather is cool, but the sun's still warm. The holidays are finally paid for and Christmas is still away ahead.

DON'T PUT IT OFF!

4 yards, delivered, only $7.00

4 yards, delivered only $9.00

And for a really permanent and satisfactory job on sidewalks, driveways, curbs, etc., use Ready-Mixed concrete. It's the economical, clean and easy way. Phone for a salesman to call and estimate your requirements.

HAVE YOU A LEAKY BASEMENT?

A basement floor that "dusts" every time you sweep? Do you have moisture coming through your brickwork on the fireplace and chimney or stucco? Butler Brothers Supplies are agents for Sonniborn Products, suppliers of concrete hardeners, waterproofers and coloring. Ask about Lapidolith, the easily applied liquid treatment for concrete floors that penetrates, seals and hardens any concrete floor up to 15 years old. Stops wearing and dusting.
Per gallon $4.72
Covers 120 sq. feet—3 applications

BRICKS, CONCRETE BLOCKS, STUCCO

Per gallon $5.89

HOW ABOUT A REMINGTON-MALL POWER TOOL

IN YOUR WORKSHOP OR BASEMENT

Butler Brothers carry a complete line of these power tools to help you make a better job of your winter projects. Any of these precision-built tools will save you time and labor.

91 POULTRY and HATCHING EGGS

What Can You Expect of Kimberchiks?
This Leghorn strain cross netted $4.23 INCOME OVER FEED COST in the three random sample tests in which it was entered in 1955-56, in 18½ months of age it averaged 204 eggs per pullet; in 16½ months it laid 249 eggs per pullet. The average livability is 93.6%, with eggs weighing 26 ounces per dozen during the first laying year. In all the 1955-56 random sample tests it was first for early egg size.
The K-137 Kimberchik does very well in cages or on floor litter. In some areas 90% of the Kimber Leghorns are on wire.

ASTROLOGICAL FORECAST

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 30, 1957

ARIES (March 21 to April 19)—An unfortunate loss of temper or control can jeopardize much of the good will and fame that you have so laboriously amassed. Talk quietly to your superiors, also to men of the law in the exercise of their duties.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20)—Since you cannot leave your tedious work to take that long trip to see powerful influence in your life, you could easily vacillate between spurts of anger and depression. Compose yourself and the right time will present itself.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21)—Any altercations with those who have power over your affair can be bad for you today. Spend as much time as possible giving material evidence of your affection for loved ones instead, but don't be extravagant.

CANCER (June 22 to July 21)—It takes great will power to be true to mate, family with so many temptations in career world, but this you do have. Show it today and gain great happiness. See to it, also, that warring comrades do not meet.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21)—It is important that you get home or job tasks done properly today, so do not attempt to run off for advice of others on new venture, as you would like to do. Arrange it for the morrow, which is better, anyway.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22)—This is the right day to get started on that latent gift which you have been keeping in the background. Go out and see the experts who will help you with it. Forget regular chores. Tonight, be affectionate with well-wishers.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22)—Quite likely you are so concerned with own problems that you speak harshly to those who come to you for assistance, advice. Remember that you help yourself better when you help others. Be kind, considerate now.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21)—Today forget about investigating at any cost the reasons behind peoples' actions and get yourself all disturbed. Concentrate on the positive and figure ways and means of increasing abundance by co-operation.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21)—There is a chance to make some extra money today, but it will mean jeopardizing a valuable friend, some high principle you cannot afford to lose. Retain the true values.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)—Winning a personal point is foolishly more important to you today than being fair or remembering your debt to someone in authority or a dear friend. Think! Then get civic work done, and be good to yourself later.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)—Let your newspaper give you the lead to a richer life and greater understanding of fellow men. Study it as you would a valuable book, for there is a fortune in it. Do it today and every day from now on!

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20)—How fortunate you are today in getting an acquaintance to give you valuable pointers concerning your career, though they may be very different from those you received from so-called experts who do not know you. Act on them now.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN MONDAY . . .

The child born Monday is most interesting since he or she will ever come up with a quite different solution to problems, ideas. Therefore, be alert enough to give your inventive progeny as fine an educational training as you can, or the genius in this chart may go askew and the world will lose benefit of otherwise great potential for progress in various channels of civilization.

MP Jung to Foot Bill Of Trip to Red China

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP) — Douglas Jung, 33, Chinese-Canadian member of the Canadian House of Commons, said Friday night he plans to make a trip to Red China and other Asian countries but "not at the expense of the taxpayers."

"It is not my intention to go in on an officially sponsored government trip," he said. "I appreciate the diplomatic difficulties, especially with regard to Communist China.

"I intend to go as a private citizen at no cost to the taxpayers, but the mere fact that I am a member of Parliament will of course give my visit a certain weight."

Jung, 33, first Chinese-Canadian elected to the Canadian Commons, said that as a new member of Parliament he would be "extremely sorry" if Prime Minister Diefenbaker had received a wrong impression of his intentions.

NO PROTECTION

The Prime Minister told newspaper men in Ottawa Friday that anyone going to Communist China goes there on his own, having regard to there being no diplomatic relations between that country and Canada and hence no protection for the traveller.

Tri-Service Awards Presented

Tri-service challenge shields for sunset services during the summer were presented by 25 Militia Group commander Brig. John Adam Thursday night.

At the same ceremony, 89 Kinsmen Squadron Royal Canadian Air Cadets received the rose bowl award for indoor rifle competition, F/Sgt. Peter Roach accepting.

Others present were from RCAF women's division, 5 Medium Battery, and Canadian Scottish Regiment (Princess Mary's).

20 Citizens Accepted At Ceremony

Receiving certificates were: Mr. and Mrs. Andres A. Boas of Holland; Johann Eberl, Czechoslovakia; Mr. and Mrs. Niels K. Holst, Denmark; Mr. and Mrs. Warner Koppe, Germany; A. E. Marte, Austria; Horst K. Reichenback, Germany; Albert Renkema, Holland; Grigorijs Rusanovs, Latvia; Enil Schmid, Austria; Mr. and Mrs. Bertus Struyt, Holland; Willem Stad, Holland; Umberto Santarossa, Italy; G. J. M. C. ## Yugoslavia Buys British Tractors

TORONTO (CP) — Yugoslavia has placed a third order with the United Kingdom subsidiary of Massey - Harris - Ferguson Limited, for 1,000 tractors and 6,500 implements. The order brings sales to Yugoslavia since 1955 to $18,375,000.

Manitoba Socreds Undergo Shakeup

WINNIPEG (CP) — The Free Press says a shake-up within the Manitoba Social Credit party has set former president Rev. Hugh Campbell adrift from power and apparently given it to Dr. Howard McGill, a physician from Edmonton.

"It came to a decisive point in Winnipeg Tuesday night when the provincial executive, an the recommendation of Solon Low, national leader, appointed Dr. McGill provincial organizer with wide executive powers," the paper says.

Injunction Appealed

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Teamsters' Union today appealed a federal court order, signed minutes before, which would force the union to postpone next week's scheduled election of officers. A temporary injunction barring the election was granted at the request of 13 rank-and-file Teamster members from New York.

GOURMETS CAN RELAX, CAPONS OKAY

They said capon (under glass $3.50 and up) is delicious and harmless — even when doctored with female hormones.

This was by way of knocking down a warning from Copenhagen's Dr. Christian Hamburger, who said capon-eaters were liable to develop feminine characteristics. Hamburger is better known as the man who helped transform ex-GIs George Jorgenson and Charles McLeod into Christine and Charlotte.

Urban Sprawl Top Subject For Planners

Urban sprawl will be the leading subject at Community Planning Association conference in Vancouver Sunday to Wednesday of next week, where three Victoria engineers and planners will take part in discussion.

Oak Bay municipal engineer A. S. G. Musgrave, Canadian Construction Association housing chairman V. L. Leigh, and Capital Region Planning Board director Brahm Wiesman will be speakers.

Other speakers will include provincial secretary W. D. Black, highways minister P. A. Gaglardi, Newfoundland public welfare minister S. J. Hefferton, Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities director George S. Mooney and Mayor J. D. McAskill, Saskatoon.

Program includes a five-hour tour of Vancouver to examine urban development first-hand.

Sentenced for Revolt

HAVANA, Cuba (Reuters)—Thirty members of the Cuban naval base at Cienfuegos who took part in an abortive revolt against the Batista government Sept. 5, were sentenced to a secret court martial Thursday.

Three were condemned to death but have been permitted to appeal, reliable sources said. Ten others were sentenced to 30 years in prison. A sergeant received a 20-year sentence and 16 men were sentenced to 10 years each.

Fish, Chips Near Eton? —I Say Now!

ETON, England (Reuters)—Local authorities have decided there will be no fish and chips shop in Eton's High Street.

The council had before them a petition from more than 60 tradesmen in High Street protesting a proposal to sell this plebian fare near Eton, one of England's most famous private schools for boys.

The plan to sell fish and chips—generally regarded as a working class delicacy in Britain—to the young gentlemen of Eton had caused a rumpus in this old-world town.

So they petitioned the council to upset a decision by the town's planning committee in favor of the fish and chip project.

The council decided Tuesday night to try to overrule the planning committee. They agreed to apply to the Buckinghamshire county council to have the plan rejected at a higher level on the grounds that a fish and chip shop would be "quite unsuitable."

Better Work Conditions Sought in Lighthouses

A burning indictment of federal government treatment of lighthouse keepers and their assistants Friday was coupled with notice that a parliamentary investigation will be demanded if working conditions are not improved.

Delegates, representing 2,800 federal employees in B.C., took the "unprecedented step" of setting up a special three-man committee to compile a brief to be sent to the federal cabinet, through the association's national executive on the "incredible and deplorable" working conditions at 45 lighthouses on the B.C. coast.

"If any employer treated his workers the way the federal government is treating the lighthouse keepers and their assistants, he would be prosecuted," J. J. Waddell, Vancouver regional representative, charged.

Two-man staffs manning the lights each work a 12-hour shift every day of the year, longer if one of them falls ill, he said. No statutory holidays or sick leave is granted.

Assistants are paid only $180 to $200 a month and the keepers must pay their unemployment insurance and workmen's compensation fees out of their own pockets.

"They don't even get statutory holidays such as Christmas or New Year's. If the weather closes in and they miss their annual leave they work 84 hours a week for another year before their turn comes around again," he said.

Keepers must do their own maintenance work on buildings and equipment. No radios are supplied and many have to use coal-oil lamps for their own lighting although a generator may be only a few feet away.

The government refuses to go to the small expense of installing a "few pieces of pipe" to convert toilets to the flush system.

"I suggest the government expects these people to work round-the-clock and do all the chores in a manner reminiscent of early 19th century working conditions," Mr. Waddell said.

"NOT FICTION"

"These are facts, not fiction. These things are going on today in a land where if any other employer did this he would be prosecuted under the law."

Keepers must secure their own vacation reliefs and pay their fares to the isolated lighthouses. No food refrigeration is provided although some receive supplies only once every two weeks.

"The city worker can have almost no conception of the intolerable conditions under which these people must work," Mr. Waddell said.

RESOLUTIONS

The convention withheld 12 resolutions on the problem on the grounds that passing them would be an "inadequate" measure of protest.

Instead, it appointed a three-man committee to complete investigation of the situation and draw up a "strong brief" within two months for presentation to the government.

It also agreed that "failing some positive action within a reasonable length of time, further action be taken to make this subject to investigation by a parliamentary committee."

Diphtheria Cases Show Increase

TORONTO (CP)—Dr. Gordon Bates, general director of the Health League of Canada, Thursday said more diphtheria patients have been admitted to the Hospital for Sick Children here this year than in any year since 1947.

Five cases were admitted and one died, he said. None of the children was immunized.

COMPENSATION ACT CHANGE ASKED BY CIVIL SERVANTS

District convention of federal civil servants in B.C. Friday called for an "adjustment" of the Provincial Workmen's Compensation Act.

Meeting in the city, the Amalgamated Civil Servants of Canada said the act, which governs them, resulted in pecuniary losses when recurrence of an ailment takes place because compensation is paid on the basis of the salary when the initial trouble occurs.

IN VANCOUVER

Paddle for Hoodlums Gets Mixed Reaction

VANCOUVER (CP) — Two city police commissioners Friday declined to approve or disapprove Victoria police commissioner William Hamilton's recommendation of physical punishment for young hoodlums.

"I think perhaps we need a little stiffer punishment than the fines and prison terms now meted out to these fellows," said commissioner J. Douglas Maitland. "But I don't know if the paddle is the solution."

Commissioner C. C. Merritt said he had no objection to the paddle being used.

"But I've had no experience with this sort of physical punishment," he added. "Its usefulness would have to be decided by a magistrate."

Commissioner Hamilton told Victoria police commission Thursday that physical punishment was necessary to bring hoodlums involved in crimes of violence to their senses.

"A crime of violence should be punished by violence," he said. "Fines and imprisonment don't seem to be doing any good."

Veteran Legion Organizer Dies

HALIFAX (CP) — I. W. Armes, 67, a founder of the Canadian Legion died here Friday night after a long illness. He was instrumental in 1925 in merging the Grand Army of United Veterans with three other veterans organizations which in 1926 became the Canadian Legion.

Sentenced to Die

AMMAN, Jordan (Reuters)—Three Jordanians have been sentenced to death for passing military secrets to Israel, it has been announced.

The men were said to have belonged to a spy ring discovered last year after an Israeli attack on a Jordanian border village.

Niagara 'Suicide' Halt Marked at Joint Rite

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP) — Politicians and clergymen joined here today in international ceremonies marking man's accomplishment in halting the "suicide" of Niagara Falls.

Resources Minister Hamilton and United States Army Secretary Wilbur Brucker spoke at the ceremonies, which dedicated a newly-completed structure designed both to enhance the falls' scenic beauty and preserve them from erosion.

For centuries the river's flow has cut deeper into the horseshoe falls on the Canadian side, drawing more water down them, which in turn speeded up the erosion process.

By pouring more water over the Canadian falls, erosion also was threatening to dry up the American falls.

The "suicidal" process was stopped by a wing dam, completed last summer and financed equally by Canada and the United States. The dam, projecting out less than halfway into the river from the Canadian shore, is equipped with gates to direct the water's flow evenly across the falls' entire width. It is expected to slow down considerably their erosion rate.

Mr. Hamilton said the remedial works "are designed to control the destructive forces of a river which, within the space of a few miles, expends the energy of upwards of 7,000,000 wild horses."

"The American fall has been enhanced with a greater flow of water, the flanks of the horseshoe fall have been reclothed and the ugly scars removed, an unbroken crestline has been achieved, the mist cloud, which so often hid much of the beauty of the horseshoe fall has been lessened. . . Surely this is conservation at its best."

Texts of his remarks were made available to the press in advance.

Of the 150 different kinds of sharks, only five are usually regarded as man-eaters.

Lazy Jo broke fast, got good position back of pacemakers and when asked for speed on top turn, responded gamely and took over turning for home, then moved away from field. Col. Brooks was driven to front in first quarter, set pace to top turn, then gave way to winner, but was best of others. Shady Bull, outrun in early stages, made up ground strongly in final eighth to be third. Buckos Best went evenly. Vidette Lad, closest to early pacemaker, couldn't keep up in last quarter. Uncle Chuck was never in contention.
Declared—Lone Toubo, Beau Cheval, Winged Zephyr, Metafriend.
Overweight—Vidette Lad (3), Bucko Best (4).

Mount Tolmie was sent to front in first quarter, set own pace and was gradually increasing lead all through final stages. Hookhanger, in contention throughout, moved up in last quarter to be second. Belle Amazon, far back for three-quarters, made up ground strongly in closing stages. Low Step made move on rail entering backstretch, but could not reach contending position, being outrun all the way. Doree Dee forced pace to head of stretch, then could not keep up.
Declared—Somworth.

Silvery Sin, quickly in stride, moved to front in run past stands and withstood all challenges, winning well in the clear. Lucky Land, outrun for three-eighths, moved up to contention going down backstretch, gained steadily through stretch and got up to be second. Emby tried to move through on rail on first turn, but lacked room and had to ease back, then was unable to make any impression on winner and was giving way in final sixteenth, just lasting for third. Betty E. M. was closing strongly through stretch. La Viscaina went evenly. Lavender Belle had good early speed, but was through after three-eighths.
Declared—Lady Cara, Capilano.

Larks Fly had to take back out of tight quarters going into first turn, but was kept in good position and when straightened out on far side moved up to within striking distance of pacemaker and in final drive through stretch got up in last few strides. Dr. Kay was driven to top in run to first turn, had short lead through final quarter, but could not match strides with winner approaching wire. Trudy Trig moved up on rail in final stages to be third. Gold Drive had good speed for three-eighths, then dropped back slightly, but was going well again at end. Terraflyer went evenly. Overweight—Terraflyer (2), Gold Drive (2).

Times Scarce lay back of pacemakers with speed in reserve, was called on coming off backstretch, gained steadily soon after turning for home, then went out to clear advantage at finish. Vance, running in good position back of leaders, held on gamely to be second. Lord Glenlivet, far back to top turn, made up ground steadily and got up to be third approaching finish. Aspen also closed strongly in final quarter and picked up tiring leaders in stretch. Chicks Last and Railworker fought for lead to final eighth, then both quit and dropped out of it. # Budget Surplus Dips

OTTAWA (CP)—The federal budgetary surplus at the end of five months of the fiscal year was about $120,000,000 below what it was a year ago, Finance Minister Fleming said Friday night.

Figures in his monthly financial statement for August showed that since the start of the fiscal year a rise in revenues of $81,800,000 has been more than offset by a jump in expenditures of $201,700,000.

Mr. Fleming said that while the budgetary surplus at the end of five months was $224,800,000, compared with $344,700,000 at the corresponding time in the 1956-57 fiscal year, expenditures this year included $100,000,000 in April for the Canada Council and additional payments of $50,000,000 to the provinces.

Revenues in the April-August period amounted to $2,099,400,000, compared with $2,017,600,000 a year ago. Expenditures increased to $1,874,600,000 from $1,672,900,000 last year.

PLAQUE TO 'SWEETHEART' UNVEILED

Faubus Considers Closing of School

Better Than Bayonet Rule

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Arkansas Governor Orval Faubus said today he might try to close Central High School rather than continue its integrated classes at federal bayonet point.

"It would be a very pleasant development," he said.

Faubus said enactment of new laws at a special session of the state legislature would be a necessary prelude to such a step. Earlier, he said he was considering calling such a session.

Asked whether a law to close the school would stand up in court, Faubus replied:

"I don't see why it shouldn't."

The embattled governor talked to reporters after conferring with a mothers' group which beseeched him to close the school.

About 140 mothers of Central High School students asked that the institution be closed and then reopened "under new sponsorship."

Earlier, President Eisenhower said the governor had encouraged mob action in the crisis.

He said it would have been "tantamount to acquiescence in anarchy" and would have resulted in "dissolution of the union" had he not ordered in troops. (See story below.)

In reply, Faubus told reporters:

TUESDAY MEETING

Asked whether he would adhere to any agreement made by a committee of southern governors which will see Eisenhower Tuesday on integration problems, the governor said: "any deal would have to meet with my approval."

He indicated he is studying the possibility of calling an emergency session of the legislature.

Faubus said Friday night he may call the legislature within 10 days.

The governor had said earlier that many legislators "pressured" him to call them to Little Rock so they could fight back against the federal government's forcible integration measures. Faubus also said that some legislators even offered to serve without pay.

Jimmy Hoffa, What's He Like?

James Hoffa, who is fighting for the presidency of the powerful Brotherhood of Teamsters despite a rough time before the U.S. Senate committee investigating labor racketeering, is the subject of a feature article in Weekend Magazine in this issue.

Death Linked With Teamsters

WASHINGTON (AP)—A witness told the Senate rackets committee today an ailing Michigan auto dealer was told "they'd wheel him out in a casket" and later died during a Teamster Union strike backed by James R. Hoffa.

The witness was Joseph Kritch, now an automobile dealer in Northville, Mich., and once a big league baseball scout for the old St. Louis Browns.

Kritch also testified that Hoffa, leading candidate for the presidency of the Teamsters' Union, was the real backer of a Florida real estate venture which Kritch said sold useless lots to union members after a high-pressure advertising campaign.

Kritch said that an auto dealer named Love in Rosedale, a Detroit suburb, died during a strike in which Kritch said the Teamsters "put the pressure on" after learning that Love "had a bad heart."

Kritch said he heard the story from Henry Lower, one of Hoffa's lieutenants, and Mrs. Love.

FEW PICKETS

Kritch said the strike occurred in the early 1950s when Lower was head of Teamsters' local 376 in Michigan, which sought to organize automobile salesmen. He said Lower told him the union had only a few pickets at the company until Lower and Hoffa learned that "Mr. Love, who owned Rosedale Motors, had a bad heart."

Kritch quoted Lower as saynig the union then "put the pressure on" and sent in 50 to 75 pickets who made obscene remarks to Love's daughter. He said Lower personally acknowledged telling Love "they'd wheel him out in a casket."

Kritch said Mrs. Love told him:

"My husband died. It was a horrible thing. Actually that killed my husband."

Notts Forest Suffers First Home Defeat

LONDON (Reuters) — Nottingham Forest, Cinderella team of the flu-ridden English Soccer League, today suffered its first home defeat of the season at the hands of West Bromwich Albion.

Inside right Bobby Robson snatched a goal in each half to give Albion a 2-0 victory before 41,000 fans, the largest Nottingham crowd of the season.

The victory lifted Albion, undefeated this year on the road, into third place over league champion Manchester United, which toppled to a 3-1 defeat at the hands of Wolverhampton.

WIRE BRIEFS

Argentine Strike Ends

Hunt for Pair Dropped

VANCOUVER (CP) — An air search for two sports fishermen was called off today after five aircraft failed Friday to find any trace of them. Missing are Peter Van Kleek, 27, and D. H. Cherry, 35, both of Vancouver.

Soviet Reports Denied

LONDON (Reuters) — The foreign office today categorically denied Soviet reports that Jordan has asked for the return of a number of British officers dismissed from the Jordanian army after the expulsion of Gen. Sir John Glubb, former commander of Jordan's Arab Legion.

Seek Wage Boost

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP) — The Amalgamated Civil Servants of Canada (CCL) Friday decided at its annual convention here to ask the federal government for a salary increase.

Flu Closes Schools

TRAIL, B.C. (CP)—Closing of two more schools Friday brought to four the number shut down in Trail district as result of an influenza epidemic which started here Monday.

Ike Accuses Faubus Of Encouraging Mobs

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — President Eisenhower today indirectly accused Arkansas Governor Orval Faubus of encouraging "mobs of extremists to flout the orders of a federal court."

Eisenhower set forth his views in a telegram to Senator Richard Russell (Dem., Ga.) who had accused the troops sent to Little Rock of high-handed tactics reminiscent of Hitler's Nazi storm troopers.

On that point, the president told Russell in replying to the senator's protest: "I must say that I completely fail to comprehend your comparison of our troops to Hitler's storm troopers. In one case military power was used to further the ambitions and purposes of a ruthless dictator; in the other to preserve the institutions of free government."

In sharp criticism of how the Arkansas state government handled the situation in Little Rock prior to the call-out of federal troops, Eisenhower did not mention Faubus by name. But there was no mistaking that the criticism was directed at the governor.

The president said: "My conviction is that had the police powers of the State of Arkansas been utilized not to frustrate the orders of the court but to support them, the ensuing violence and open disrespect for the law and for the federal judiciary would never have occurred."

MESSRS. FAIR, WARMER STAY FOR WEEKEND

Weatherman Bill Mackie has fingers and toes crossed, for luck, but he's pretty certain of this weekend's weather.

"I'm optimistic. The weather should be even better than during the last two or three days. Skies will be sunny, and temperatures will be near 70 degrees.

"This is better than average for this time of year," he said.

City's 'Best' Go to Marilyn

Victoria's good wishes winged across 2,500 miles today as "our" swimming sweetheart, Marilyn Bell, became the bride of Joseph W. Di Lascio.

At a ceremony in Beacon Hill Park, tribute was paid to Marilyn and best wishes went forth for a happy married life.

Main purpose of the ceremony was to unveil a handsome plaque, carved in Toronto, and mounted on a cairn at Finlayson Point, directly above the spot where the plucky swimmer landed after her victorious swim. The added bonus was the opportunity to wish Marilyn the best on the occasion of her wedding, held this morning in Alderwood, Ont.

SENDS THANKS

Ald. Austin Curtis, chairman at the 10 a.m. ceremony, suggested "most of us can cast our minds back 13 months, to the time when a young Canadian girl arrived from the United States right down here."

At this stage of the proceedings Marilyn's voice was heard from a record thanking "the people of Victoria for a wonderful memorial to mark our swim."

Her famous coach, Gus Ryder, also was heard on the record.

"It was grand to be in that great western country and to enjoy its famous hospitality," he said.

The taped greetings made by Marilyn and Gus will be broadcast tonight over CJVI on the 11.05 p.m. sports program.

WON HEARTS

"Marilyn won the hearts of Victoria people soon after her arrival a year ago," he said. "We saw her as a typical Canadian girl, and we all came to love her while she was here. I'm going to unveil what will be a permanent memento of

Colorful Rite Unites Marilyn, Ex-Lifeguard

From BUP and CP Dispatches

ALDERWOOD, Ont. — Marilyn Bell, 19, Canada's favorite long-distance swimmer, and J. Wesley Di Lascio, an ex-lifeguard at Atlantic City, N.J., were married today in flower-decked St. Ambrose Roman Catholic Church.

The tiny bride was clad in a heavily brocaded gown of "Monastery" white.

"It's not an off-white or ivory tone," she explained, "it's just about the whitest white there is." Clouds of veiling fell from a pearl-encrusted bandeau atop the bride's blonde head, over the gently-scooped neckline and fitted bodice of her gown to her fingertips. Long-sheathed lilypoint sleeves and a slight sweep to the bouffant skirt

'MIKE' PEARSON SAYS:

Town Meeting Of World: UN

By HON. LESTER B. PEARSON

(Copyright, 1957. All rights reserved.)

The twelfth Assembly of the United Nations has been meeting now for almost two weeks. Its 82 delegations are hard at work on the 65 items on its agenda (many of them hardy perennials).

The great hall and the committee rooms on the East River in New York are resounding to the appeals and the accusations of orators from every corner of the globe. It is indeed the town meeting of the world and it is good that it is taking place.

PEARSON

Newspapers, radio and television are carrying these United Nations discussions into living rooms from Patagonia to Pakistan. Unfortunately, this will too often be done in terms of dissension and difference. Conflict is always news.

No one, however, is likely to hear much about a United Nations expert sub-committee working on the eradication of malaria in some African land or one which may be trying to improve food production in Afghanistan. This kind of quiet but essential achievement does not often have anybody to sing its praises—at least on the front page.

The United Nations is the subject of increasing criticism these days. Some of that criticism is constructive; much of it is ill-informed, or occasionally, malevolent.

It is true that the voice of reason and conciliation at New York is often drowned out by angry shouts; by appeals to prejudice or self-interest.

From my own experience I know that the assembly can become a rough forum for diplomacy and negotiation. But it is a realistic one, reflecting the world as it is today, not as it once was or as we would like it to be; and it is the only one we have

Red Feather Drive Under Way Tuesday

Advance canvassers of the Community Chest will swing into action Tuesday in a campaign reaching out to 400 local firms and individuals.

By Oct. 15, 1,400 volunteers will join in a two-day campaign of Greater Victoria homes.

This year their goal is $251,717, an increase of 14.2 per cent over 1956 returns.

"This amount is the minimum required if vital services of the 20-member agencies are to be maintained in 1958," campaign chairman H. L. Alexander said today.

"We have the team to do the job. To make their job lighter I would ask only one favor on their behalf. Please plan your contributions in advance so that 'call backs' are kept to a minimum."

Community Chest rally for canvassers will be held at the Odeon Theatre Sunday at 9 p.m., prior to a showing of "The Admirable Crichton."

The picture and theatre staff services will be provided free of charge to the chest.

Turn Clocks BACK One Hour Tonight

Clocks will be turned back one hour tonight to give B.C. residents the hour taken away from them last April when daylight saving time was started for the year.

Official timepieces will be turned back between midnight and 2 a.m. Sunday, but it is not necessary for householders to sit around sleepily before adjusting their own clocks and watches.

It can be done Saturday night before bedtime, Sunday on waking up, or can even be hoarded all day Sunday and not taken off the clock until Monday morning, when an extra hour of bedtime can be picked up before going to work.

The important thing to remember is — turn the clock BACK. Not forward. Back, not forward. Back, not . . .

I see Marilyn's taken th' plunge.

★ ★ ★

It is true also that there is often a yawning gap between words in New York and deeds at home. Indeed some good words, like peace, democracy, freedom, have been abused and misused at United Nations meetings to the point where the original meaning is in danger of being completely lost.

There is no rule against verbal aggression at these meetings and the president's gavel is not much protection against it.

More depressing—and dangerous—is the difference in the respect shown by various members for United Nations decisions. I know, of course, that resolutions under the charter are only recommendations, not orders; that confusion on this point is one of the main sources of unfounded criticism of the United Nations. But I know also that countries which have "a decent respect for the opinion of mankind" will be influenced by such resolutions passed by a two-thirds majority. Others ignore or treat them with contempt.

The attitude, for instance of the United Kingdom and France and Israel toward the Suez resolutions at the last assembly session was in startling contrast with that of the Communist members to those about Hungary. Even some Arab and Asian states—suspicious generally of Western motives and cherishing their "neutrality" in the cold war—acknowledged that difference.

This "double standard" has no sanction in the charter. It is the fault of the members concerned; nevertheless its demonstration in the Hungarian tragedy and the feeling of anger and impotence in the face of Soviet aggression at that time has been a main reason for increased criticism of the world organization.

Superstate Role Opposed

Would Hungary, however, be better off if there had been no United Nations. No, worse. Would its people have benefitted if those members of the United Nations, who wished to do so, had met the challenge of Russian intervention by force and risked a general war?

Certainly under the United Nations charter the assembly could not order such force to be used. Those who complain of this should recall that not one of the great powers at San Francisco would have tolerated for a minute giving the United Nations the power and authority of a superstate; the right to resort to force by majority decision. The Soviet was not alone in its fear of the effect of the United Nations charter on national sovereignty.

So today the United Nations is merely a collection of sovereign states. It can do only what those states are willing to do through resolutions accepted by them.

There is one exception to this; certain decisions in the security council which are binding on all under the charter. But these decisions can be taken only by the unanimous vote of the permanent members. That doesn't happen in "cold war"; though in San Francisco in 1945, we hoped it might happen.

What is required is the will and desire of nations to act together for peace and progress as laid down in the Charter.

What we must do is to keep trying to use our present organisation to better advantage; to strengthen it wherever possible; do our very best to come to acceptable arrangements even with those we have reason to fear; and to work out increasingly friendly relationships with those new nations who now represent a restless and insistent force in the world.

were other traditional choices Marilyn made.

They included some who watched the gallant little swimmer battle her way across Lake Ontario, the English Channel, and Strait of Juan de Fuca, schoolmates and old family friends.

Marilyn and Joe will settle in Camden, N.J., where the bridegroom has a job as a state parole officer.

BOUQUET A SECRET

Marilyn's bouquet, which she had kept a secret even from bridesmaids until the last minute, was a bright array of white gardenias, stephanotis and lily of the valley. The church decorations of white dahlias and mums echoed the simplicity of her glowing gown and the white-carpeted aisle.

The bridesmaids, her schoolmate Maria Brenk, who was maid of honor, her younger sister, Karen, and two cousins of the bridegroom from Atlantic City, Carmella and Mary Gertrude Caserano, were clad in etheral blue faille and carried showers of red roses, vivid pink carnations, and lily of the valley.

About 1,000 persons were on hand when the couple stepped smilingly from the church into bright September sunshine.

Some 600 persons jammed the small church during the long service, but no cameras had been allowed inside the door.

The Rev. William O'Brien, who brought Marilyn into the Roman Catholic faith 18 months ago, performed today's wedding ceremony and celebrated the nuptial low mass that followed.

Marilyn is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sydney Bell of nearby Port Credit.

this occasion. We are happy to do this for Marilyn, and I'm sure you will join us in wishing her happiness for the future."

"Maybe she could have been here to make the swim the other way," he said. "Today would have been a perfect day for it."

FINISH RECALLED

"When we started this community swim project, we knew we would have our troubles," he said, "but Marilyn's swim was perfect. The weather was fine, and there must have been 20,000 people to see her land."

Ald. Curtis led the crowd in saying "best wishes, Marilyn," and three rousing "hurrahs."

One other greeting sent to Marilyn from Victoria was a telegram wired Friday night by Canadian National Telegraphs.

Held at the office here during the week, it was sent off with the signatures of scores of Victorians who paid the 10 cents asked to have each name listed on the wire.

Sharp Slash in Spending U.K. Theme at Conference

(See Also Page 5)

MONT TREMBLANT, Que. (CP)—Britain probably will inform her sterling-area Commonwealth partners today they must reduce spending to prevent a run on their scarce dollar reserves.

As the sterling area's banker, Britain will lead off the Commonwealth finance ministers meeting with a review of the sterling area's financial headaches.

Informants said Peter Thorneycroft, chancellor of the U.K. exchequer, will emphasize there is need for belt-tightening.

This may throw a shadow over the talks which Canada hopes will lead to a full-dress Commonwealth trade and economic conference next year.

Many of the Commonwealth countries are reported to be badly in need of capital. Britain has already taken steps to reduce spending on her own domestic projects and now she wants other sterling area countries in the Commonwealth to take similar action.

There may be some balking.

Asian countries are said to be particularly determined to get ahead with their economic development programs. India has asked the World Bank for a huge loan of some $1,400,000,000. It is understood she had not met with much success.

Emerging from the meeting, too, is some cynicism over what a full-scale economic conference could accomplish. As the four-day talks got under way, it was learned that none of the visiting delegates had any authority from home governments to commit their countries to a full-scale conference.

Natural Gas Flow At Winnipeg

WINNIPEG (CP) — Natural gas arrived in Winnipeg Friday night.

Lieutenant-Governor J. S. McDiarmid and Premier D. L. Campbell of Manitoba turned a valve that officially opened the gate for natural gas to flow into the city and some of its suburbs.

It is the first gas to move to Winnipeg furnaces from the newly-completed western leg of the trans-Canada natural gas pipeline—a milestone in a project that sparked a national controversy last year.

The two officials capped a 30-minute ceremony near the southwestern outskirts of the city where the gas enters the Winnipeg distribution system through a pipe "gate."

SECTION COMPLETED

The arrival of gas completes construction of the western section of the pipeline, which starts just inside the Alberta border and traverses 586 miles across the southern Prairies to Winnipeg.

Distribution lines serve such centres as Regina, Brandon and Portage la Prairie. A seven-mile trunk line connects the 34-inch pipeline to the Winnipeg system.

Premier Manning of Alberta turned the valve July 23 that sent the first gas eastward through the pipe. Service to Regina started Sept. 18.

An $80,000,000 federal loan to help build the western leg was approved in a stormy session of the House of Commons in 1956, and was one of the major issues in this year's federal election campaign.

Work started in June, 1956. The loan has since been repaid.

WILL BE LONGEST

When the entire 2,294-mile line to eastern Canada is completed—at an estimated cost of $378,000,000—it will be the longest natural gas pipeline in the world.

In contrast to the pipeline debate and the early struggles to build the line, the only fire and heat Friday night came from the ceremonial flame and a huge natural gas grill where 30 chefs gave free hamburgers to the crowd.

Premier Campbell called it "an historic event" comparable to the arrival of the first boat here on the Red River and the first trans-continental railway from the east.

"This new fuel will contribute greatly to the economy of the province," he said.

A band and drum majorettes added to the festivities watched by N. E. Tanner, chairman of the board of Trans-Canada Pipe Lines Ltd., and other officials.

RIVALS MERGED

A merger of rival companies in the early phases of the development and the $80,000,000 government loan cleared the way for construction to begin in June, 1956.

A steel strike, delaying pipe supplies, was another factor that delayed arrival by a year.

In Winnipeg, St. Boniface, St. James and eight suburbs gas will be distributed by the Winnipeg and Central Gas Company which has extended an existing system that formerly carried manufactured and propane gas.

The company's 250 miles of mains at the start will serve an estimated 21,000 customers.

Hundreds of men and machines have worked on various sections of the line to push it across the prairie, through swamps and across rivers.

WEEK IN BUSINESS

U.S. Picture Still Remains Uncertain

By WALTER BREEDE JR.

NEW YORK (AP)—Signs of a fall pickup made a belated appearance at a couple of key spots in the United States' economy this week.

The over-all picture was still thoroughly mixed. The buoyant upturn businessmen had hoped for was missing in many lines. The immediate outlook remained uncertain—there was no way of knowing whether business would turn up or down. But by and large, widespread gloom seemed to be giving way to cautious optimism.

From Detroit came word that new car sales this month are exceeding all expectations, and running a good 20 per cent ahead of September last year.

BOOST PRODUCTION

This, said Ward's Automotive Reports, is causing auto makers to boost their production schedules for the approaching fourth quarter.

Dealers averaged 18,100 new car sales a day during the 10-day check period ended Sept. 20 This compared with an average 15,900 sales a day in September, 1956.

Steel production was still coasting along at about 82 per cent of capacity although the president of Armco Steel Corporation predicted 90 per cent of capacity operations later in the year.

New orders for machine tolls in August were down 50 per cent from a year ago. Surpluses of gasoline and fuel oil continued to pile up, despite cutbacks by refiners. Commodity prices sagged; stock prices were highly erratic.

The latest government pronouncements on inflation seemed to indicate that the government has no intention of easing present curbs on credit.

U.S. CONSUMER KEY

With business expansion and government spending levelling off, hopes for contiqued prosperity leaned heavily on the American consumer.

Despite high living costs and falling employment, the consumer seemed to be doing all right.

President L. L. Colbert of Chrysler Corp. said Americans have been buying new cars at the rate of 6,000,000 a year and next year they should easily top that figure.

Furniture sales to consumers are holding up well. Reflecting good retail demand, manufacturers' shipments of household furniture in August were up 38 per cent over July, and within 2 per cent of last year's level.

Department store sales in the week ended Sept. 21 were down 4 per cent from last year. Merchants continued to blame the weather. A bit of frost in the air, they said, would spark sales of fall apparel.

Imperial Investment Net Profits Jump

VANCOUVER (CP)—Imperial Investment Corp., Ltd., incorporated in B.C. seven years ago, Friday reported a net profit of $361,853 for the year ended June 30. Last year's earnings were $156,481. Total assets of the company at June 30 amounted to $52,070,256.

President Peter Saunders said the growth during 1957 was largely through the acquisition of interests in and the purchase of other acceptance companies.

Low Pay Charge Against Alcan At Wage Hearing

VANCOUVER (CP) — A representative of the United Steel Workers of America charged this week that Aluminum Co. of Canada paid low wages and exploited its advantages "as one of the few major world producers" to pay for expansion of its Kitimat plant.

Appearing before a conciliation board here Harry Waisglass said Alcan's workers are paid less than those with other major producers.

The union is claiming a 30-cent hourly increase for 2,900 workers at Kitimat and Kemano. The company has offered 45 cents over three years.

He said that for the period 1951-56, $353,313,574 was made available for reinvestment, out of sales totalling $2,175,189,550.

This was over three-quarters of the $400,000,000 quoted by the company as the total amount spent on reinvestment in that period.

"So the consumer is paying for most of the expansion and the shareholders, over 70 per cent of whom are in the U.S., get 21 cents out of every sales dollar, compared with 16.3 cents spent on reinvestment."

He denied a company contention, that there are competitive conditions in the industry.

2-Year Jail Term For Stockbroker

TORONTO (CP) — Stockbroker Robert P. Hunt pleaded guilty Friday to 33 charges of theft totalling $66,135 and was sentenced to two years in penitentiary.

He appeared before police Magistrate C. A. Thoburn to answer the charges based on a warrant taken out by the Ontario Securities Commission and covering a 10-year period.

Aconic Arranges $400,000 Loan

TORONTO (CP)—A loan of $400,000 for Aconic Mining Corporation has been arranged and a petition of bankruptcy against the corporation in Montreal has been withdrawn, Guy Falla of London, England, president of Aconic, has announced.

The announcement, released here, said the company has borrowed $400,000 from Thomas H. Jones of Cleveland, Ohio, and Albert A. List of New York, on a five-per-cent promissory note due Oct. 1, 1962. It said the investors have a right to use the money for the purchase of 1,178,995 shares of Aconic, until Oct. 1, 1962.

Mr. Jones has been elected a director, board chairman and treasurer. Gen. Royal B. Lord of New York also has been elected to the board.

COVERS WIDE RANGE

Steel Tariffs Hike Planned by Canada

OTTAWA (CP) — The Canadian government has decided to proceed with plans to boost tariffs on a wide range of steel products, it was learned this week.

Notice of Canada's intention to seek upward revisions in the existing rate structure has been sent to a number of countries including the United States.

Country-by-country negotiations on the changes are to take place at Geneva early next month under the 35-country General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade.

The decision to proceed with revisions results from recommendations of the tariff board which last year began the first major overhaul of the steel tariff structure in 50 years.

Ordered by the former Liberal administration, the board's study included not only basic iron and steel products but also pipes and tubes. It is understood the Progressive Conservative government has accepted many of the board's recommendations.

The specific items on which tariffs are to be renegotiated will include ingots and other primary steel products, structural steel, various pipes and tubes, pipe fittings and couplings as well as water, natural gas and oil casings.

U.K. Delegation Of Businessmen Will Visit Here

LONDON (CP) — The dollar exports council has announced that a British delegation will visit western Canada next month to investigate the prospects of increased sales of construction and allied equipment.

The delegation will be led by Halford Reddish, chairman and managing director of the Rugby Portland Cement Company Ltd., who led a similar delegation to eastern Canada last spring.

He will be accompanied by J. W. Whiter, managing director of Richard Costain Ltd., and Fred Davies of the North American department of the Federation of British Industries. Reddish expects to fly to Canada on private business before the end of the week.

The delegation will assemble in Vancouver Oct. 8 and its itinerary will include visits to Victoria, Edmonton and Winnipeg.

$65,000 Loss As Sawmill Razed By Fire

(From CP Dispatches)

NELSON — The Roseberry Lumber Company's sawmill near New Denver was completely destroyed by fire Friday, resulting in an estimated loss of $65,000.

The fire started in the engine room. Its cause is unknown.

The company said the planer mill was saved and will continue to operate for a short time after which the company plans to rebuild the entire plant.

ADMITS THEFTS

VANCOUVER—A 31-year-old man who police said was arrested as he was about to start out on a safe-blowing job pleaded guilty Friday to possession of an ounce of nitroglycerine and 11 charges of breaking and entering.

The man, John Fellows, was remanded to Oct. 1 for sentence by Magistrate Oscar Orr.

Prosecutor Albert Mackoff said detectives who arrested Fellows Sept. 23 found an ounce of nitro-glycerine in a small bottle, two small flashlight batteries and electric detonator.

NEW CONTROL TOWER

VANCOUVER — A new air traffic control tower is expected to go into operation at Vancouver's international airport next week.

Dr. Thomas How, district director of air services, department of transport, said the move from the old tower to the new $100,000 five-storey tower will be completed during a period when air traffic is at a minimum.

DRUG CHARGE

PRINCE GEORGE — Gordon Arthur Ross, 38, Prince George, was remanded for eight days Friday on a drug possession charge.

Ross was arrested late Thursday by RCMP, who seized a quantity of poppy heads.

Bail was set at $3,000.

Week's Market Picture Confusing

By RON ANDREWS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

It was a case of follow-the-leader this week with Canadian stock markets.

The leader in the scene was New York's Wall Street, which set a roller-coaster pattern for Toronto, Montreal and other Canadian markets to follow.

All the exchanges witnessed a near reversal of form which resulted in most sections rebounding from a heavy loss Monday, the sharpest of the year. Bargain hunters went into action during the next two days, sending prices ahead Tuesday as they took advantage of the low values. Most bargainers were on the selling end of transactions Wednesday, resulting in a decisive decline by the markets.

RALLY AT END

In the final two sessions of the week a rally was mustered and the final analysis showed only a few stocks with severe losses.

Most market observers agree that investment men have shifted from the day-to-day charts to public confidence factors and economic measurements for their indicators.

No longer does an investor regard the charts as the only "true and ideal way" to assess the market trends. Now other factors, such as money conditions and general business activity have a large share in the analysis.

But the latter factors haven't taken the place of charts. Two sections are used together and many people feel that a truer picture of signs and portents is the result.

The picture this week, however, was most confusing. One day the market was exceptionally weak, the next day strong. There were individual issues which worked in opposite directions to the trends. But at the end of the week the market was almost at the same level as a week ago.

A feature on the Toronto Stock Exchange was Wiltsey-Coghlan, a low-priced mine. Wiltsey climbed to 34½ cents a few weeks ago and then settled back to 16 cents, reached Thursday. Before that session was over, the stock advanced 24½ cents and added another three cents Friday amid a turnover of nearly 800,000 shares.

FEW CHANGES

Sizeable price changes among industrials were few but International Paper and Trans Mountain Pipeline each lost $5 and McColl was off $8 to $57, a 1957 low. Ford A gained $4 at $80.

The mining and western oil lists, with the exception of Wiltsey, were quiet. Changes among lower-priced stocks were confined to 50 cents or less and to $1 or less in the senior issues.

Trading at Toronto, led by Wiltsey, picked up steam and the final volume of 12,799,000 shares was heavier than the previous week's 11,380,000.

Index losses at Toronto: Industrials, 2.21 to 426.23; golds, .01 to 78.32; base metals, .23 to 16[illegible].84; western oils, 2.43 to 155.79.

Index changes at Montreal: Banks off 1.41 to 47.14; utilities off 1.7 to 133.6; industrials off 2.3 to 249.5; combined off 2.1 to 210.9; papers up 9.90 to 1091.60; golds off 2.14 to 71.84.

Week's volumes: 318,053 industrials and 1,731,662 mines, compared with 279,815 industrials and 1,510,387 mines the previous week. Of 376 issues traded, 44 advanced, 229 declined and 103 were unchanged.

It Looks Like the Easiest Road!

'Dull' Oak Bay Outing Still Too Much for Navy

By ERNIE FEDORUK

It is becoming increasingly apparent that anyone wishing to dislodge Oak Bay as champions of Victoria's Intermediate Canadian Football Union must first crack that cement wall that serves as Drakes' line.

Drakes rolled to their third straight victory of the season—and the most convincing yet—Friday night at Royal Athletic Park, but to hear them say it, the Oaks turned in a dull performance.

That 28-0 rout of Navy's injury-riddled Tars was, in Drakes' own words "nothing to crow about."

NOT ENOUGH GAMES

Playing coach Jack Patrick and end Pete Turko, who teamed up via the aerial route to spark Oak Bay's victory, both bemoaned "lack of competition."

"We're stale. The blocking was bad and there wasn't too much drive out there," the Turk said. "You can't play two games a month and expect to look sharp."

But the night's "honest" moans came out of Navy's dressing room. The Tars, already weakened by altogether-too-many injuries, also lost the services of their coach.

REEVES TOO!

His comeback was short-lived. Bert suffered a broken arm with less than five minutes gone while making a tackle. Navy suffered another blow later in the game when lineman Pop Reeves injured a leg.

Without their leaders, Navy could do little to budge the Oak Bay machine with the exception of Roy Bootland, who shook loose for several healthy gains to account for most of the Sailors' 117 yards gained rushing.

Turko scored two majors on passes from Patrick. The first came on a 45-yard play and the second, off a fake placement, on a 39-yard pass-and-run effort. Fullback Ken Higgs slanted off-tackle for a 16-yard sprint and Drakes' first touchdown while Red White added the other. White's proved to be the game's most electrifying run. He scampered 36 yards, displaying a brilliant bit of broken field running in the process.

Doug Brown booted all four converts.

Oak Bay's vaunted line, which has allowed the opposition in only nine points in three games, contained Navy to only 141 yards from scrimmage, including 24 in the air.

Joey's Just Going to Sit ---And Wait

CLEVELAND (UP) — Hard-hitting Joey Giardello said today he's "going to sit down and enjoy" his strengthened No. 2 middleweight contender's spot until either Sugar Ray Robinson or champion Carmen Basilio makes a decision about future plans.

Giardello enhanced his title chances Friday night by stopping Bobby Lane in the seventh of a scheduled 10-round bout. A series of right-hand smashes to the chin had Lane staggering helplessly around the ring when referee Tony Labranche called a halt to the scrap.

Giardello was satisfied with his performance, saying: "I thought I won every round," matching the estimates of ringside observers. "I just bought a new home and I'm gonna sit down and enjoy it—not go near a gym until this middleweight situation comes clear."

For Lane, it was a temporary setback after 10 straight victories. His stamina and ability to withstand the brutal rib punching by Joey marked him as a possible future front-runner in the 160-pound division. Prior to Friday night, he had knocked out six of his last seven opponents.

Lane danced gingerly for the first three rounds, landing only a few long reaches to the head before it turned into a funeral for his soaring ambitions.

Giardello's manager, Anthony Farrante, said that Joey's future now "depends entirely on what Robinson does."

The stocky New Yorker has no fears of how well he'll handle first-ranked contender Gene Fullmer, if any such bout is arranged.

REDS GET CARMICHAEL

Patrick Decides Bruce No Cougar

Victoria Cougars' hopes of getting Bruce Carmichael back for another season were shattered Friday with the announcement that the bustling winger would play with Providence Reds in the American Hockey League this season.

BRUCE CARMICHAEL

Announcement of Carmichael's assignment to the American Hockey League club came shortly after New York Ranger manager Murray Patrick had decided to send defenceman Bill Dobbyn, also with the Cougars last year, to Vancouver Canucks.

Dobbyn, who will join the Canucks at their Winnipeg training camp, will work with newcomers Brent McNab and Bill Folk and holdover Hugh Currie on the WHL club's blue line corps.

CANUCK ROOKIE

Also sent to Vancouver by the Rangers was Danny Belisle, a rookie from Guelph, Ont., who moves in with a crew of forwards which includes Red Johansen, Ed McQueen, Norm Usselman, Ron Hutchinson, George Wood and Harvey Fleming.

Acquired by the New Westminster Royals is John Lumley, rugged former defenceman with Nanaimo Timbermen lacrosse club, who enjoyed a good season with Sudbury Wolves in the northern Ontario senior league last season.

Royals also picked up Andy Voykin from Sudbury and Art Jones, a 96-point forward with Spokane Flyers last season.

Manager-coach Colin Kilburn will start the Cougars on their training chores at Nanaimo Civic Arena Sunday at 9 a.m.

Cougars will work out twice each day until leaving Oct. 6 for a three-game exhibition tour that will include games at Penticton, Kelowna and Vernon.

Pros Kick Off Football War

NEW YORK (AP)—The National Football League opens its 38th—and perhaps its most profitable—season Sunday with the two favored teams facing the rivals who may give them the most trouble this year.

New York Giants, defending champions, play their first league game in Cleveland against the Browns, who won the Eastern Division title six times before the Giants beat them out last year.

The bruising Chicago Bears go to Green Bay to help dedicate the new Packer Stadium and possibly to justify their pre-season selection as the team most likely to win the 1957 title.

Other opening-day games are Detroit at Baltimore, Washington at Pittsburgh, Philadelphia at Los Angeles and Chicago Cardinals at San Francisco.

Doug Peden

This has been a summer for the veterans, and Jackie Northup was right in step with the times.

It has been almost beyond belief how old codgers in some sports have been defying the years and the kids.

Take Archie Moore, 40 going on 44, the mysterious ring gypsy who blasted 22-year-old Tony Anthony to keep his light-heavyweight crown. Or even Ray Robinson, 37. The dancing dandy proved he his still one of the best in the beak-busting business although he lost the middleweight title to Carmen Basilio, a youngster of 30, in one of the toughest battles of our times.

Dr. Bud Taylor, 40, went to the finals of the U.S. Amateur and now the International Golf Association has named two players to represent the U.S. in international and Canada Cup matches at Tokyo next month. Who are they? Slammin' Sammy Snead, 45, and Jimmy Demaret, a jaunty grandpa of 47.

JACKIE NORTHUP

And who have wrapped up the major league batting titles? Two other guys who have been around for a long time—Ted Williams, 39, and Stan Musial, 36.

Right at home, the veterans had themselves a time as Victoria Shamrocks won their second Mann Cup. And leading the way was Northup, voted the most valuable player in the Canadian senior lacrosse final and winner of the Mike Kelly Medal.

Some may argue that Jackie's 30 birthdays hardly qualify him for a rating among the ancients. But he was playing his 13th season with the seniors in a game that certainly wasn't designed to promote long athletic careers.

There could hardly have been a more popular choice. Since he joined the Shamrocks in 1952 after seven seasons with New Westminster clubs, the durable veteran with the patented flat-footed trot has played every game as if it was an important one.

Winner of the Intercity Lacrosse League scoring title in 1950 and presented with the Maitland Trophy as the league's most valuable player the following year, it was Jackie's scoring ability that brought him to Victoria.

But this season, which led to his eighth appearance in a Mann Cup final and the third time he has had a share in the Dominion title, it has been his defensive efforts that have been outstanding.

Transfer to Defence Slot Helped

After a mediocre 1956 season, it appeared Northup might be on his way out as a Shamrock regular. But when coach Whitey Severson shifted him to defence, he took a new lease on life.

Despite those 13 seasons, he probably played the best lacrosse of his career during the latter part of the campaign and in the playoffs. There will undoubtedly be some changes in the Irish lineup before another season rolls around, but judging from the way Jackie handled his chores, there are no worries about at least one defence berth.

Severson, who stepped back into action late in the season and was one of the best Irish forwards in the playoffs, definitely won't be playing next year. One of the younger veterans claims he won't be back. And its going to be hard to keep some of the Junior Shamrocks from muscling into the roster of the Mann Cup champions.

Whether it is the Shamrocks or another Intercity League club that represents the west in the 1958 Mann Cup final, it appears almost certain that western teams are destined to dominate Canadian lacrosse for a few years.

Shamrocks proved they were the Dominion's best club by the manner in which they handled the Long Branch Pontiacs, who finished only two points behind Peterborough in the Ontario league schedule.

With the Petes shattered by the five-year suspension resulting from the Bobby Allan incident, it looks like the Pontiacs in the east again in '58. And they are at least two years away from matching the best of the Intercity League clubs.

They have the potential to be a contending club, but in the playoff they showed glaring weaknesses on defence, especially against the odd-man play, and a lack of finish and versatility on attack.

Most of the faults can be corrected, but it will need the slow-moulding process in the furnace of experience.

The Pontiacs are young, big, fast and eager. But no matter how you look at it, it should be the west again in 1958 and the Shamrocks should be the team to beat. When the chips were down, the Irish were a great team.

* * *

Showing of the Robinson-Basilio fight film at the Plaza Theatre next week will include an additional showing at 12.15 Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday in order to allow some fans to see the rugged bout during their lunch hour.

Fewer Whistles, More Speed!

The Western Hockey League will experiment with a new off-side rule this season in an effort to add more speed to the game and eliminate some of the now-too-many stoppages in play.

The league, in a release from the offices of president Al Leader of Seattle, said no drastic rule changes will be noted.

The new off-side rule provides that the puck receiver need not touch the puck before it crosses the centre red line on passes from the defending zone to the neutral zone. However, to be eligible to play the puck a player MUST be behind the center line when the puck crosses it if the pass was made from anywhere in the defending zone.

HAD TO TOUCH IT

Heretofore, a player in the neutral zone had to touch the puck before it crossed the red line before he was eligible to play a pass from the defending zone.

The pro circuit will also continue with its co-incidental penalty rule which permits immediate substitution of players on both teams if penalties, either minor or major, of the same length are given each squad at the same time.

This permits teams to remain at full strength on the ice a much larger percentage of the time.

Three minor changes deal with marking of lines, including a semi-circle in front of the timekeeper's bench which shall be known as the "referee's crease."

No player will be allowed to enter that crease to argue with the referee. Players doing so will be handed misconduct sentences. This will permit officials to give timekeepers instructions without being mobbed by players.

When a penalty shot has been awarded, no further penalty shall be given whether the goal was scored or not. Exceptions to the rule will be in vogue in the case of major or match penalties.

The league also added that the rule covering holding of the puck by netminders will be rigidly enforced. Goalies are allowed three seconds to get rid of the puck unless it is caught in his equipment or should he fall on it within "reasonable distance" of the goal.

Purdue Test Stiffest Yet For Irish Team

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

UCLA upset Illinois 16-6 Friday night as another big weekend of college football got under way.

A Los Angeles turnout of 48,714 saw UCLA take a 16-0 halftime lead and yield only a last-quarter touchdown to the Illini.

In other major Friday night games, The Citadel beat George Washington 13-6 and San Jose State took Denver 27-20.

There has been talk of discontent at South Bend, and if young Terry Brennan can gather his forces and come through with a good season, the chances are that the wolves will withdraw from his door.

It was Purdue that started the Irish on the road to a 2-8 season in 1956, their worst record in many years.

Flu Bug Hits Canyen Camp

MONTREAL (CP)—The current flu bug striking at the big hockey training camp of Montreal Canadiens and farm and affiliated clubs is claiming new victims at the rate of three a day.

There are about 85 players in all at the camp.

Five regulars of Canadiens team—among 28 of the squad working out as a Canadiens unit—are laid up.

"From all the clubs in camp we're getting an average of about three players daily reporting to the forum clinic with the flu," said club physiotherapist Bill Head. "Whatever type of flu it is, it seems to be comparatively mild."

Latest victim among the Canadiens squad is trainer Hector Dubois. Goalie Jacques Plante was ailing, but he worked out with the squad.

It Might Be Difficult To Miss Derby Prizes

Anglers taking part in the third annual Cerebral Palsy Coho Derby at Saanich Inlet next week may have as much trouble coming home without a prize as winning one.

Derby officials, expecting a record entry in the two-day event, announced this morning that there may be almost 60 prizes at stake when contestants hit the water at daybreak next Saturday.

Heading the list is the consolation prize of a glass boat equipped with an outboard motor. Top fishing prize is a moving picture camera and projector followed by a complete camping outfit for four and the third-place award of a clock radio.

Rounding out the prize list are a host of hidden-weight prizes that are expected to total at least 55 before fishing starts.

Co-sponsored by the Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association and Greater Victoria Lions Club this year, the derby raised a total of $1,563 for the Cerebral Palsy Association last year, and derby chairman Sparky Romano is predicting a record total will be turned over to the palsy association.

Tickets may be obtained from sporting goods stores, Saanich Inlet boathouses and members of the derby committee and Lions Club.

Fishing starts at daybreak Saturday and continues until 3 p.m. Sunday. Only coho salmon will qualify for prizes and weigh-in stations will be at Hall's Boathouse at Goldstream, the Anchorage at Brentwood and Holder's Boathouse at Deep Cove.

SPIESER FEELS DURELLE HAS TO PROVE HIMSELF

MONCTON, N.B. (CP)—Chris Shaban, manager of British Empire light-heavyweight champion Yvon Durelle, said Friday night Durelle stands a good chance of fighting Archie Moore for the world title. But he's not interested in an October bout with Chuck Spieser in Detroit at the moment.

"We have a pretty fair chance of getting a title shot," Shaban said. "As a matter of fact things look brighter than ever."

He was commenting on a statement in Detroit by Joe Spieser, brother of Chuck Spieser, that "Durrelle needs a good win in the light-heavy division before he can think of taking on Archie Moore."

Labor Hits Back At Strike Curb

Battle Chamber Proposal 'All the Way'—Unionists

Labor officials, collectively representing 120,000 B.C. workers, blasted back today at a B.C. Chamber of Commerce bid to have arbitration imposed on strikes and lockouts which threaten public health and safety.

Although not specified, the chamber proposal apparently was aimed at health, communications and transportation workers primarily.

The suggestion was made Thursday by a 15-man delegation which presented a chamber brief to the provincial cabinet.

"I don't think any government would take much notice of such a reactionary suggestion," said Vic Midgley, vice-president of the B.C. Federation of Labor, in an interview.

"But if it did, then labor would battle it all the way."

Jack MacKenzie, president of IWA Local 1-118 here, said he was "not at all surprised that the mouthpiece of big business in B.C. would try to follow the action of its U.S. counterpart. This sounds very much like the notorious Taft-Hartley law."

"If this is their type of thinking, it is no wonder there are labor disputes here from time to time," said E. T. Staley, secretary of the B.C. Council of Carpenters.

In Vancouver Friday, Bill Black, president of the B.C. Federation of Labor, summed up the feeling of labor leaders in Victoria when he promised "resistance with everything we possess" against the suggestion.

"We are well aware of the efforts of the employers' organizations to try to encumber the freedom of union movement and will resist any tampering with the Labor Relations Act," he added.

"Did the doctors, who arbitrarily raised their fees this week, think of public health or safety?" asked Mr. Midgley today. "Do lawyers negotiate increases in fees?"

'Unions Only Bargaining Groups'

"The trade union movement is the only group that gets around a bargaining table and negotiates its increases. Why doesn't the chamber try to curtail the doctors and lawyers?"

Mr. MacKenzie said the chamber "could better serve the public in this province by investigating the giving away of our natural resources to private interests and the huge combines that slowly but surely are driving small businesses to the wall."

Hugh Allison, representative of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees and Other Transport workers, said "the threat of arbitration has hung over our negotiations ever since 1950 when compulsory arbitration was imposed on us.

"The result is that our progress has been impeded and we have suffered directly."

The brief also suggested that all strikes should be prohibited until authorized by a majority of all employees affected by the strike action in a government-supervised vote.

"That kind of thinking shows the chamber apparently is against the democratic way we elect our governments," Mr. Staley said. "At present, a majority of all eligible voters are required in a vote before a strike can be held.

"The chamber apparently wants 51 per cent of all employees, whether union members or not. That isn't the way our governments are elected under the democratic system.

"The majority rules and only eligible persons are allowed to vote."

The chamber delegation told the cabinet: "We are opposed to any legislation which permits either employers or labor unions to acquire or exercise unreasonable power over either group or the public.

Against Sympathetic Strikes

"Sympathetic strikes, strikes due to jurisdictional disputes, mass picketing, intimidation and the secondary boycott are inconsistent with the right of individuals and the public interest, and should not be permitted," the chamber said.

It recommended that:

1. The Trade Union Act be repealed or amended to abolish special privileges granted to unions and not accorded to other individuals and organizations.

2. Proper legislation be enacted to ensure that trade unions—like other responsible individuals and entities — shall, whether as plaintiffs or defendants, be subject to the rule of law as administered in our courts.

The cabinet was also asked to relieve the municipalities of a financial burden by:

1. Providing for grants equivalent to taxes to municipalities where services are rendered on properties occupied by the government.

2. Rescinding the 70-cent per diem hospital payments in view of the fact that the social services tax was increased from 3 to 5 per cent of sales to provide for financing hospital operation.

Assault Charge Laid Against 15-Year-Old

Second Youth May Be Charged

A 15-year-old boy was charged with assault causing bodily harm when he appeared in city juvenile court today in connection with the beating Wednesday of a 17-year-old girl.

It was understood a second boy may be charged following interrogation by juvenile authorities investigating the alleged assault of Rona McCulloch, 850 Richmond, by two boys as she walked home after a church meeting.

She was given hospital treatment for abrasions to nose and abdomen, suffered when she was knocked to the ground close to her home at about 11 p.m.

The 15-year-old was remanded to appear in juvenile court next Wednesday. He was held in Coldharbor Road detention home.

FOLLOWED

They had made indecent remarks to her on the bus ride from town, she told police.

Mill Plans Await Insurance

Plans to rebuild or abandon the View Royal sawmill, two-thirds destroyed by fire Friday, will not be made until about the end of October.

All plans will hinge on the outcome of insurance investigations into the $150,000 damage to the Plumper Bay Sawmills Ltd. plant, John White said today. He is office manager of Highway Sawmills Ltd., which owns shares in the burned plant.

"I expect that to take two or three weeks," he said.

CITY STORES DIVIDED ON TOURIST WEEK PLAN

Victoria merchants are divided on benefits of the Chamber of Commerce-sponsored "Gift Shopping Week" Oct. 4-14 designed to attract tourists from the United States.

Committee chairman B. B. Tingley said bluntly that his organization "is confused, and somewhat disheartened" by the lack of co-operation by some merchants.

MONTE ROBERTS

My Favorite Wife awoke this morning with sneezes, sniffles, coughs, aches, pains and assorted rheums.

So I said to My Favorite Wife, you must have the Asiatic Flu.

But My Favorite Wife wheezed back at me:

"No, I cannot have the Asiatic Flu, because I caught this Occidentally."

Har de har har.

In the morning mail today was a small bit of paper addressed to "Monte Roberts, Chestnuts Department, Victoria Times."

On the small bit of paper was written:

"Mr. Jones was making a good living slicing bread. But he was ambitious. One day he bought a larger knife and found he could slice two loaves at a time. Then he bought a small sword and found he could manage three loaves at a time.

" 'You look happy, Jones,' said a friend who saw him. 'This must be your lucky day.

" 'It is,' said Jones. 'I've just found a four-loaf cleaver.' "

Har de har har.

And then there is this new young man we have at our office. And today he was asked to—among other things—distribute the mail.

And he called over to me "Here's an envelope marked 'letter to the editor,' To whom do I deliver letters to the editor?' "

So I called back to him "To the editor."

And of course you heard what Whistler said when he saw his mother doing a rock-and-roll dance in the living room?

"Good gracious, mother," he said. "Have you gone off your rocker?"

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Condition of Dr. Anne Steel, unconscious since May 6, 1956, following a riding accident in the interior of the province, remains unchanged, Royal Jubilee Hospital officials said today.

She underwent brain surgery when brought to Victoria two days after the accident.

Two crates containing 1,440 presto-logs were destroyed in a fire at a Stewart & Hudson warehouse at 6.30 p.m. Friday.

ASK The TIMES

Q—Jimminy, weeds are ruining my garden, and I'm growing callouses trying to take them out. Just what, please, am I dealing with? K.G.

A—A useless or unsightly plant, growing where it is not wanted, is a weed. Some weeds, K.G., are beautiful. Whether a plant should be called a weed or a wild flower depends on the use you want to make of it. Weeds impair the quality of field and garden crops, and reduce value. Not all weeds are bad. They grow where other plants can't survive and thus protect the soil from erosion. Weeds are hardy so they survive.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to The Times, addressed to "Ask The Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve conundrums.

REGAL TRIO TO HAWAII

Delegates Start Arriving For Big Chamber Convention

First of the more than 750 delegates and their wives attending the 28th annual meeting of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce — largest business convention ever held in Victoria—arrived at the Empress Hotel today.

Some 350 are coming over by boat from Vancouver Sunday afternoon and many more are expected by plane Sunday evening and Monday morning.

At least 150 delegates will be quartered in motels, apartments and hotels throughout the city because there is not room for them at the Empress.

CIVIC SUPPER

Hundreds of boards and chambers in all of Canada's 10 provinces will be represented at the meeting, which opens with a buffet supper given by the city council Sunday evening and concludes with a dinner Thursday evening.

Business conferences will be officially opened Monday morning by Raymond Dupuis, Montreal, president of the Canadian chamber.

Archbishop H. E. Sexton of British Columbia will conduct the invocation and greetings will be extended by Hugh Stephen, president of the Victoria chamber.

He recalls that this meeting was officially styled "The Conference of Boards of Trade and Chambers of Commerce of the Dominion of Canada."

"The Canadian Chamber of Commerce resulted from this first conference," he said, "and it has grown from 50 boards and chambers in 1925 to a present membership of 765 organizations.

Mr. Woodward said the purpose of the original meeting was to break down regional and provincial barriers by bringing business people together from all parts of the country.

RETARDED

"We felt then that Canadian progress was being retarded by divergent interests and lack of co-operation between different sections of the country."

Another Chamber veteran is Harry Patriquin, a past president of the Edmonton Chamber of Commerce.

"The Chamber has done a wonderful job of bringing Canada's businessmen together to discuss mutual problems," he said.

STRONG TIES

"In the old days Montreal and Victoria were as remote as the north and south poles. Today there are strong national ties between us and I think the Canadian Chamber has done much to achieve that result.

"By concerted effort the Chamber has had a considerable influence on federal and provincial governments — particularly in the field of taxation.

"That is to say we have been largely instrumental in ironing out discrepancies in taxation as they affect small and large businesses throughout the nation."

J. N. Kenney, a delegate from Yarmouth, N.S., believes the Chamber has done much to eliminate misunderstanding between eastern and western Canada.

"Regiously our problems may be different but as businessmen we have everything in common an our common interests are emphasized at these national conferences."

Charles Bantock, manager of the B.C. Chamber of Commerce, pointed out that, of the 765 boards and chambers represented in the national body, 103 are in British Columbia.

CONSTRUCTIVE

"The Chamber movement in Canada is one of the most constructive voluntary groupings in the world," he said. "It is significant that every group, whether large or small, has equal representation in our national policy decisions.

Twenty-five news and radio representatives from all parts of Canada will be reporting the conference.

Top issues related to productivity will be discussed at next week's sessions by five panels made up of prominent speakers, from the world of business, education, government and labor.

New officers will be elected and the policy of Canada's national business organization for the year ahead will be decided —and later presented to the federal government in Ottawa.

President Dupuis will give his keynote address at a luncheon on Tuesday. The same evening the B.C. government will give a dinner at which Premier Bennett will be the speaker.

The meeting winds up Thursday evening with the annual dinner at which past presidents of the Canadian Chamber will speak on "Major Canadian Issues."

'OVERFLOW' TO WATCH ON TELEVISION

Hundreds of delegates who cannot squeeze into meetings of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce next week will be able to "look in" from the outside.

A closed TV circuit is being set up in the Empress Hotel by which delegates and their wives can watch some of the principal meetings in the tea lounge and the dining room.

"It is the only way we can accommodate all of the 750 delegates and wives who will be crowding into the hotel next week," a Chamber spokesman said.

Witnesses Here Endorse Protest To Dominica

Three hundred Jehovah's Witnesses met here Friday night to approve a petition asking the Dominican Republic to lift its ban of July 25 restricting religious activity of the movement there.

The petition will back an original resolution adopted by 33,091 Witnesses at a regional assembly in Baltimore last August.

Addressed to Generalissimo Trujillo, it describes atrocities committed in the Republic, as reported by eight American Witness missionaries.

MONDAY MEETINGS

Gyros: 12.00 noon, Empress Hotel. Speaker will be Professor R. T. Wallace of Victoria College, his subject will be "Adult Education."

Unemployed Total Here Up Slightly

Overall total of unemployed in the Victoria area increased by 24 during the past week as 2,369 were registered.

The number of unemployed men dropped by 52 but 76 unemployed women were added to the total. Decreases were registered in both skilled and unskilled male classifications. The female increase was made up of typists, clerks and domestic workers.

FRESHMEN REBEL AGAINST INITIATION

College 'Soph' All Burned Up

By ANNE MAYHEW
College Correspondent

Giant effigy of a sophomore was put to the torch Friday by Victoria College freshmen who drew the line at crawling on hands and knees past rows of grinning sophs.

At initiation ceremonies on the campus, a knot of frosh decided they'd been humiliated enough by having to wear full, frilly skirts and make-up.

When it was their turn to humble themselves before the seven-foot paper soph, they charged up, crinolines flying, and brought the image to the ground.

Then the sophs, slightly crestfallen and still striving to assert themselves, took six busloads of innocent frosh on scenic mystery tours. The mystery being of course, that there was no transportation back. Lectures were to begin in an hour, at 2.30.

So hundreds of frosh, looking like Martians in yellow dunce caps, wended their way collegeward to the strains of a newly adopted Alma Mater song. . . Freshwomen marched with sacks scratching and pigtails dangling. Frothy-frocked freshmen tripped along, oblivious of crooked seams and slipped lipstick. Passing motorists stopped for pictures, or locked their doors and passed on the far side of the road.

And the frosh made it back for lectures!

Defenceless frosh were tried on no basis and found guilty of soph-slaughter, abduction of sophmore women and breathing of sophomore air.

Church Marks Anniversary On Sunday

St. Michael's and All Angels' Anglican Church, Royal Oak, will mark the 74th anniversary of the dedication and opening of the present church Sunday with special services commemorating the Patronal Festival of St. Michael and All Angels' Day.

Built mainly by volunteer labor, St. Michael's Church was opened by the Rt. Rev. George Hills, first bishop of B.C., on Sept. 29, 1883.

Until 1892 it was a mission parish associated with St. Luke's Church, Cedar Hill.

Four years ago, St. Michael's was enlarged and a gallery was added to accommodate the growing congregation. Just recently new pews have been installed.

The present rector, Rev. J. Rogers, came to the parish in 1956. He will be preacher at Sunday services.

Holy Communion will be administered at 11 a.m., followed by a thanksgiving service for the blessing of the Harvest and commemoration of all who contributed to building the church. Evening service will be at 7.30 p.m.

The choir, under leadership of Mrs. Mary Cleland, will perform special music for both services.

Memorial Organ Dedication Sunday at View Royal Anglican

New organ at All Saints' Anglican Church, View Royal, will be dedicated as a war memorial Sunday at 10 a.m.

Canon Stephen J. Wickens will conduct the dedication service with assistance from the choir and organist Cmdr. Fred Fairfull of St. Martin's-in-the-Field Church.

A brass plaque on the console of the organ dedicates it to "the glory of God, and in loving memory of those who gave their lives in the service of their country."

★ ★ ★

Rev. A. I. Higgins will preach in First United Church Sunday on "God Who Meets All Demands" and "The Great Renunciation."

★ ★ ★

Rev. Douglas B. Carr will preach at both services in Centennial United Church Sunday. His subject in the morning will be "The Unexpectedness of God" and at night, "The Fear of Loneliness."

★ ★ ★

Church school will attend morning worship at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church for the annual promotion service and presentation of awards. Dr. J. L. W. McLean's sermon subject will be "Teaching Religion." Evening service will be preceded by a half-hour of hymn-singing led by members of the Young People's Society. Dr. McLean will speak on "Check Your Weight."

★ ★ ★

"Certainties in the Midst of Life's Uncertainties" will be the topic of Rev. A. C. Hamill at Emmanuel Baptist Church Sunday. At night, his subject will be "Is the Morally Decent Person, Without Christ, Lost?"

★ ★ ★

Rev. Cecil Barner will preach on "The Need of This Present Restless Age" at the morning service in Douglas Street Baptist Church Sunday. "The Potter and the Clay" will be his evening subject.

★ ★ ★

At St. Aidan's United Church, Rev. A. I. Avery will speak on "Enchanting Lands" at the evening service. Harvest thanksgiving will be offered at the regular morning service.

★ ★ ★

Holy Communion will be celebrated in Christ Church Cathedral Sunday at 8 a.m., followed by a Consecration festival with matins and sermon at 11 a.m. Rev. C. M. Hubbard will preach at Evensong at 7.30. Rev. A. R. Penn will preach Evensong in James Bay Hall.

Teaching Mission In Royal Oak Parish

Rt. Rev. Philip R. Beattie, DD, Bishop of Kootenay, will conduct a teaching mission in the Anglican parish of Royal Oak from Oct. 27 to Nov. 3.

The mission will embrace congregations of St. Michael's and All Angels Church, Royal Oak, and St. Columba's Church, Strawberry Vale.

Opening service will be held in St. Columba's Church, Sunday, Oct. 27, at 11 a.m., when Bishop Beattie will preach and Archbishop Harold E. Sexton will be the celebrant.

Services will continue at St. Columba's on Monday and Tuesday, shifting to St. Michael's for Thursday to Sunday.

CONSECRATION FESTIVAL

Archbishop Harold E. Sexton will preach at a Consecration Festival in Christ Church Cathedral Sunday at 11 a.m.

The festival will recall the consecration of the cathedral 28 years ago on St. Michael and All Angels Day. Special lessons and hymns have been prepared.

Rally Day Service At Gordon United

Adults and Sunday school students will attend a rally day service in Gordon United Church, Langford, Sunday at 11 a.m.

Special speaker will be Willard Ireland, provincial librarian and a leading layman in Fairfield United Church.

Rev. H. P. Davidson reports several improvements in the new church, including addition of eight pews, landscaping, and decoration of Fellowship Hall.

DEPARTMENT OF CITIZENSHIP AND IMMIGRATION

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the Director, Indian Affairs Branch, Department of Citizenship and Immigration, Ottawa, Canada, will be received until 3.00 p.m. (E.S.T.) on October 29, 1957, for the construction by contract of:
1. Teacher's Residence, Power Plant Building and Diesel Electric Generating Equipment at Bella Bella Indian Day School, Bella Coola Indian Agency, British Columbia. Plan Index No. 1230.
2. Three-Classroom Day School with Power House and Two Teachers' Residences, Kitkatla, Skeena River Indian Agency, B.C. Plan Index Nos. 1275 - 1230.

To receive consideration a separate tender must be submitted for each project.

Contractors shall tender in complete accordance with the drawings, specifications and tendering documents supplied by the Department for that purpose. Contractors may tender on one or more of these projects.

The drawings, specifications and other documents will be exhibited at the following points from September 27th, 1957, until October 26th, 1957, inclusive.
1. W. S. Arneil, Indian Commissioner for B.C., 416 Federal Building, Vancouver, British Columbia.
2. J. L. Holman, Superintendent Indian Agency, Bella Coola, British Columbia.
3. R. H. S. Sampson, Superintendent Indian Agency, P.O. Building, 3rd Ave. W., Prince Rupert, B.C.

General Instructions to Tenderers, Drawings and Specifications are obtainable at the above offices upon deposit of (1230) $10.00, (1275-1230) $30.00 for each set of documents in the form of a certified cheque made payable to the Receiver General of Canada. This deposit will be refunded upon return of the drawings and specifications in good condition to the Chief, Engineering and Construction Division, Indian Affairs Branch, Department of Citizenship and Immigration, Ottawa, Canada, within one month from the date on which tenders close.

To receive consideration, tenders must be submitted on the tender forms provided and must be accompanied by a certified cheque drawn on a chartered bank in Canada, payable to the Receiver General of Canada in an amount equal to ten per cent (10%) of the tender price or Bearer Bonds of Canada or of the Canadian National Railway Company and its constituent companies, as specified in the form of tender.

The Department reserves the right to reject any or all tenders, and the lowest tender will not necessarily be accepted.

H. M. JONES,
Director.
Department of Citizenship and Immigration, August 29, 1957.

MP Jung to Foot Bill Of Trip to Red China

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP) — Douglas Jung, 33, Chinese-Canadian member of the Canadian House of Commons, said Friday night he plans to make a trip to Red China and other Asian countries but "not at the expense of the taxpayers."

"It is not my intention to go in on an officially sponsored government trip," he said. "I appreciate the diplomatic difficulties, especially with regard to Communist China.

"I intend to go as a private citizen at no cost to the taxpayers, but the mere fact that I am a member of Parliament will of course give my visit a certain weight."

Jung, 33, first Chinese-Canadian elected to the Canadian Commons, said that as a new member of Parliament he would be "extremely sorry" if Prime Minister Diefenbaker had received a wrong impression of his intentions.

NO PROTECTION

The Prime Minister told newspaper men in Ottawa Friday that anyone going to Communist China goes there on his own, having regard to there being no diplomatic relations between that country and Canada and hence no protection for the traveller.

Tri-Service Awards Presented
Tri-service challenge shields for sunset services during the summer were presented by 25 Militia Group commander Brig. John Adam Thursday night.

At the same ceremony, 89 Kinsmen Squadron Royal Canadian Air Cadets received the rose bowl award for indoor rifle competition, F/Sgt. Peter Roach accepting.

Others present were from RCAF women's division, 5 Medium Battery, and Canadian Scottish Regiment (Princess Mary's).

20 Citizens Accepted At Ceremony

Receiving certificates were: Mr. and Mrs. Andres A. Boas of Holland! Johann Eberl, Czechoslovakia; Mr. and Mrs. Niels K. Holst, Denmark; Mr. and Mrs. Warner Koppe, Germany; A. E. Marte, Austria; Horst K. Reichenback, Germany; Albert Renkema, Holland; Grigorijs Rusanovs, Latvia; Enil Schmid, Austria; Mr. and Mrs. Bertus Struyt, Holland; Willem Stad, Holland; Umberto Santarossa, Italy; G. J. M. C. Touche, Sweden; Mrs. Albine Murer, Switzerland; and Joseph Hippolt, Austria.

Yugoslavia Buys British Tractors
TORONTO (CP)—Yugoslavia has placed a third order with the United Kingdom subsidiary of Massey - Harris - Ferguson Limited, for 1,000 tractors and 6,500 implements. The order brings sales to Yugoslavia since 1955 to $18,375,000.

Manitoba Socreds Undergo Shakeup
WINNIPEG (CP) — The Free Press says a shake-up within the Manitoba Social Credit party has set former president Rev. Hugh Campbell adrift from power and apparently given it to Dr. Howard McGill, a physician from Edmonton.

"It came to a decisive point in Winnipeg Tuesday night when the provincial executive, an the recommendation of Solon Low, national leader, appointed Dr. McGill provincial organizer with wide executive powers," the paper says.

The Corporation of the District of Saanich

GOURMETS CAN RELAX, CAPONS OKAY

They said capon (under glass $3.50 and up) is delicious and harmless — even when doctored with female hormones.

This was by way of knocking down a warning from Copenhagen's Dr. Christian Hamburger, who said capon-eaters were liable to develop feminine characteristics. Hamburger is better known as the man who helped transform ex-GIs George Jorgenson and Charles McLeod into Christine and Charlotte.

Urban Sprawl Top Subject For Planners
Urban sprawl will be the leading subject at Community Planning Association conference in Vancouver Sunday to Wednesday of next week, where three Victoria engineers and planners will take part in discussion.

Oak Bay municipal engineer A. S. G. Musgrave, Canadian Construction Association housing chairman V. L. Leigh, and Capital Region Planning Board director Brahm Wiesman will be speakers.

Other speakers will include provincial secretary W. D. Black, highways minister P. A. Gaglardi, Newfoundland public welfare minister S. J. Hefferton, Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities director George S. Mooney and Mayor J. D. McAskill, Saskatoon.

Program includes a five-hour tour of Vancouver to examine urban development first-hand.

Sentenced for Revolt
HAVANA, Cuba (Reuters)—Thirty members of the Cuban naval base at Cienfuegos who took part in an abortive revolt against the Batista government Sept. 5, were sentenced to a secret court martial Thursday.

Three were condemned to death but have been permitted to appeal, reliable sources said. Ten others were sentenced to 30 years in prison. A sergeant received a 20-year sentence and 16 men were sentenced to 10 years each.

Fish, Chips Near Eton? —I Say Now!
ETON, England (Reuters)—Local authorities have decided there will be no fish and chips shop in Eton's High Street.

The council had before them a petition from more than 60 tradesmen in High Street protesting a proposal to sell this plebian fare near Eton, one of England's most famous private schools for boys.

The plan to sell fish and chips—generally regarded as a working class delicacy in Britain—to the young gentlemen of Eton had caused a rumpus in this old-world town.

"So they petitioned the council to upset a decision by the town's planning committee in favor of the fish and chip project.

The council decided Tuesday night to try

Town Meeting Of World: UN

By HON. LESTER B. PEARSON

(Copyright, 1957. All rights reserved.)

The twelfth Assembly of the United Nations has been meeting now for almost two weeks. Its 82 delegations are hard at work on the 65 items on its agenda (many of them hardy perennials).

The great hall and the committee rooms on the East River in New York are resounding to the appeals and the accusations of orators from every corner of the globe. It is indeed the town meeting of the world and it is good that it is taking place.

PEARSON

Newspapers, radio and television are carrying these United Nations discussions into living rooms from Patagonia to Pakistan. Unfortunately, this will too often be done in terms of dissension and difference. Conflict is always news.

No one, however, is likely to hear much about a United Nations expert sub-committee working on the eradication of malaria in some African land or one which may be trying to improve food production in Afghanistan. This kind of quiet but essential achievement does not often have anybody to sing its praises—at least on the front page.

The United Nations is the subject of increasing criticism these days. Some of that criticism is constructive; much of it is ill-informed, or occasionally, malevolent.

It is true that the voice of reason and conciliation at New York is often drowned out by angry shouts; by appeals to prejudice or self-interest.

From my own experience I know that the assembly can become a rough forum for diplomacy and negotiation. But it is a realistic one, reflecting the world as it is today, not as it once was or as we would like it to be; and it is the only one we have

Accuses State Chiefs Of Inciting Violence

From AP and UP Dispatches

NEWPORT, R.I.—President Eisenhower, backed by secret FBI reports, sharply accused the Arkansas State administration today of encouraging mob violence in Little Rock by using national guardsmen to keep negroes out of Central High School.

Eisenhower, in a rare display of anger in a public statement, implied strongly the strife never would have broken out if the guardsmen had received different instructions from Gov. Orval E. Faubus.

Eisenhower set forth his views in a telegram to Senator Richard Russell (Dem., Ga.) who had accused the troops sent to Little Rock of high-handed tactics reminiscent of Hitler's Nazi storm troopers.

On that point, the president told Russell in replying to the senator's protest: "I must say that I completely fail to comprehend your comparison of our troops to Hitler's storm troopers. In one case military power was used to further the ambitions and purposes of a ruthless dictator; in the other to preserve the institutions of free government."

In sharp criticism of how the Arkansas state government handled the situation in Little Rock prior to the call-out of federal troops, Eisenhower did not mention Faubus by name. But there was no mistaking that the criticism was directed at the governor.

The president said: "My conviction is that had the police powers of the State of Arkansas been utilized not to frustrate the orders of the court but to support them, the ensuing violence and open disrespect for the law and for the federal judiciary would never have occurred."

Faubus Considers Closing of School

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Arkansas Governor Orval Faubus said today he might try to close Central High School rather than continue its integrated classes at federal bayonet point.

"It would be a very pleasant development," he said.

Faubus said enactment of new laws at a special session of the state legislature would be a necessary prelude to such a step. Earlier, he said he was considering calling such a session.

Asked whether a law to close the school would stand up in court, Faubus replied:

"I don't see why it shouldn't."

The embattled governor talked to reporters after conferring with a mothers' group which beseeched him to close the school.

About 140 mothers of Central High School students asked that the institution be closed and then reopened "under new sponsorship."

Earlier, President Eisenhower said the governor had encouraged mob action in the crisis.

He said it would have been "tantamount to acquiescence in anarchy" and would have resulted in "dissolution of the union" had he not ordered in troops. (See story below.)

In reply, Faubus told reporters:

Colorful Rite Unites Marilyn, Ex-Lifeguard

From BUP and CP Dispatches

ALDERWOOD, Ont. — Marilyn Bell, 19, Canada's favorite long-distance swimmer, and J. Wesley Di Lascio, an ex-lifeguard at Atlantic City, N.J., were married today in flower-decked St. Ambrose Roman Catholic Church.

The tiny bride was clad in a heavily brocaded gown of "Monastery" white.

"It's not an off-white or ivory tone," she explained, "it's just about the whitest white there is." Clouds of veiling fell from a pearl-encrusted bandeau atop the bride's blonde head, over the gently-scooped neckline and fitted bodice of her gown to her fingertips. Long-sheathed lilypoint sleeves and a slight sweep to the bouffant skirt

City's 'Best' Go to Marilyn

Victoria's good wishes winged across 2,500 miles today as "our" swimming sweetheart, Marilyn Bell, became the bride of Joseph W. Di Lascio.

At a ceremony in Beacon Hill Park, tribute was paid to Marilyn and best wishes went forth for a happy married life.

Main purpose of the ceremony was to unveil a handsome plaque, carved in Toronto, and mounted on a cairn at Finlayson Point, directly above the spot where the plucky swimmer landed after her victorious swim. The added bonus was the opportunity to wish Marilyn the best on the occasion of her wedding, held this morning in Alderwood, Ont.

Ald. Austin Curtis, chairman at the 10 a.m. ceremony, suggested "most of us can cast our minds back 13 months, to the time when a young Canadian girl arrived from the United States right down here."

At this stage of the proceedings Marilyn's voice was heard from a record thanking "the people of Victoria for a wonderful memorial to mark our swim."

Her famous coach, Gus Ryder, also was heard on the record.

"It was grand to be in that great western country and to enjoy its famous hospitality," he said.

The taped greetings made by Marilyn and Gus will be broadcast tonight over CJVI on the 11.05 p.m. sports program.

WON HEARTS

"Marilyn won the hearts of Victoria people soon after her arrival a year ago," he said. "We saw her as a typical Canadian girl, and we all came to love her while she was here. I'm going to unveil what will be a permanent memento of LONDON (Reuters) — Nottingham Forest, Cinderella team of the flu-ridden English Soccer League, today suffered its first home defeat of the season at the hands of West Bromwich Albion.

The victory lifted Albion, undefeated this year on the road, into third place over league champion Manchester United, which toppled to a 3-1 defeat at the hands of Wolverhampton.

CANVASSERS READY

Red Feather Drive Under Way Tuesday

Advance canvassers of the Community Chest will swing into action Tuesday in a campaign reaching out to 400 local firms and individuals.

By Oct. 15, 1,400 volunteers will join in a two-day campaign of Greater Victoria homes.

This year their goal is $251,717, an increase of 14.2 per cent over 1956 returns.

"This amount is the minimum required if vital services of the 20-member agencies are to be maintained in 1958," campaign chairman H. L. Alexander said today.

"We have the team to do the job. To make their job lighter I would ask only one favor on their behalf. Please plan your contributions in advance so that 'call backs' are kept to a minimum."

Community Chest rally for canvassers will be held at the Odeon Theatre Sunday at 9 p.m., prior to a showing of "The Admirable Crichton."

The picture and theatre staff services will be provided free of charge to the chest.

Turn Clocks BACK One Hour Tonight

Clocks will be turned back one hour tonight to give B.C. residents the hour taken away from them last April when daylight saving time was started for the year.

Official timepieces will be turned back between midnight and 2 a.m. Sunday, but it is not necessary for householders to sit around sleepily before adjusting their own clocks and watches.

It can be done Saturday night before bedtime, Sunday on waking up, or can even be hoarded all day Sunday and not taken off the clock until Monday morning, when an extra hour of bedtime can be picked up before going to work.

The important thing to remember is — turn the clock BACK. Not forward. Back, not forward. Back, not . . .

It is true also that there is often a yawning gap between words in New York and deeds at home. Indeed some good words, like peace, democracy, freedom, have been abused and misused at United Nations meetings to the point where the original meaning is in danger of being completely lost.

There is no rule against verbal aggression at these meetings and the president's gavel is not much protection against it.

More depressing—and dangerous—is the difference in the respect shown by various members for United Nations decisions. I know, of course, that resolutions under the charter are only recommendations, not orders; that confusion on this point is one of the main sources of unfounded criticism of the United Nations. But I know also that countries which have "a decent respect for the opinion of mankind" will be influenced by such resolutions passed by a two-thirds majority. Others ignore or treat them with contempt.

The attitude, for instance of the United Kingdom and France and Israel toward the Suez resolutions at the last assembly session was in startling contrast with that of the Communist members to those about Hungary. Even some Arab and Asian states—suspicious generally of Western motives and cherishing their "neutrality" in the cold war—acknowledged that difference.

This "double standard" has no sanction in the charter. It is the fault of the members concerned; nevertheless its demonstration in the Hungarian tragedy and the feeling of anger and impotence in the face of Soviet aggression at that time has been a main reason for increased criticism of the world organization.

Superstate Role Opposed

Would Hungary, however, be better off if there had been no United Nations. No, worse. Would its people have benefitted if those members of the United Nations, who wished to do so, had met the challenge of Russian intervention by force and risked a general war?

Certainly under the United Nations charter the assembly could not order such force to be used. Those who complain of this should recall that not one of the great powers at San Francisco would have tolerated for a minute giving the United Nations the power and authority of a superstate; the right to resort to force by majority decision. The Soviet was not alone in its fear of the effect of the United Nations charter on national sovereignty.

So today the United Nations is merely a collection of sovereign states. It can do only what those states are willing to do through resolutions accepted by them.

There is one exception to this; certain decisions in the security council which are binding on all under the charter. But these decisions can be taken only by the unanimous vote of the permanent members. That doesn't happen in "cold war"; though in San Francisco in 1945, we hoped it might happen.

What is required is the will and desire of nations to act together for peace and progress as laid down in the Charter.

What we must do is to keep trying to use our present organisation to better advantage; to strengthen it wherever possible; do our very best to come to acceptable arrangements even with those we have reason to fear; and to work out increasingly friendly relationships with those new nations who now represent a restless and insistent force in the world.

were other traditional choices Marilyn made.

They included some who watched the gallant little swimmer battle her way across Lake Ontario, the English Channel, and Strait of Juan de Fuca, schoolmates and old family friends.

Marilyn and Joe will settle in Camden, N.J., where the bridegroom has a job as a state parole officer.

BOUQUET A SECRET

Marilyn's bouquet, which she had kept a secret even from bridesmaids until the last minute, was a bright array of white gardenias, stephanotis and lily of the valley. The church decorations of white dahlias and mums echoed the simplicity of her glowing gown and the white-carpeted aisle.

The bridesmaids, her schoolmate Maria Brenk, who was maid of honor, her younger sister, Karen, and two cousins of the bridegroom from Atlantic City, Carmella and Mary Gertrude Caserano, were clad in etheral blue faille and carried showers of red roses, vivid pink carnations, and lily of the valley.

About 1,000 persons were on hand when the couple stepped smilingly from the church itno bright September sunshine.

Some 600 persons jammed the small church during the long service, but no cameras had been allowed inside the door.

The Rev. William O'Brien, who brought Marilyn into the Roman Catholic faith 18 months ago, performed today's wedding ceremony and celebrated the nuptial low mass that followed.

Marilyn is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sydney Bell of nearby Port Credit.

this occasion. We are happy to do this for Marilyn, and I'm sure you will join us in wishing her happiness for the future."

"Maybe she could have been here to make the swim the other way," he said. "Today would have been a perfect day for it."

FINISH RECALLED

"When we started this community swim project, we knew we would have our troubles," he said, "but Marilyn's swim was perfect. The weather was fine, and there must have been 20,000 people to see her land."

Ald. Curtis led the crowd in saying "best wishes, Marilyn," and three rousing "hurrahs."

One other greeting sent to Marilyn from Victoria was a telegram wired Friday night by Canadian National Telegraphs.

Held at the office here during the week, it was sent off with the signatures of scores of Victorians who paid the 10 cents asked to have each name listed on the wire.

Sharp Slash in Spending U.K. Theme at Conference

(See Also Page 5)

MONT TREMBLANT, Que. (CP)—Britain probably will inform her sterling-area Commonwealth partners today they must reduce spending to prevent a run on their scarce dollar reserves.

As the sterling area's banker, Britain will lead off the Commonwealth finance ministers meeting with a review of the sterling area's financial headaches.

Informants said Peter Thorneycroft, chancellor of the U.K. exchequer, will emphasize there is need for belt-tightening.

This may throw a shadow over the talks which Canada hopes will lead to a full-dress Commonwealth trade and economic conference next year.

Many of the Commonwealth countries are reported to be badly in need of capital. Britain has already taken steps to reduce spending on her own domestic projects and now she wants other sterling area countries in the Commonwealth to take similar action.

There may be some balking.

Asian countries are said to be particularly determined to get ahead with their economic development programs. India has asked the World Bank for a huge loan of some $1,400,000,000. It is understood she had not met with much success.

Emerging from the meeting, too, is some cynicism over what a full-scale economic conference could accomplish. As the four-day talks got under way, it was learned that none of the visiting delegates had any authority from home governments to commit their countries to a full-scale conference.

Fishermen Fined Total Of $900

A special sitting of Sooke police court Friday collected a total of $900 in fines and $27 in costs from nine fishermen found guilty of violating a new federal Fisheries Act regulation.

The fishermen were all charged with fishing unlawfully with purse-seines on the seaward side of a line between Bonilla Point and Tatoosh Island lighthouse. The line runs roughly north and south between the United States and Vancouver Island.

One fisherman, Joe Cerezin, Vancouver, was acquitted.

It was set up last April by international agreement between Canada and the United States to protect the salmon runs.

A federal fisheries patrol boat found the fishermen fishing with nets just outside the limit. The offences took place in August.

Soap Box Champion Four-Time Winner

CHEMAINUS—Some kind of a record for soap box racers on Vancouver Island was set this year by David Woodley, 10-year-old Chemainus boy, who built his own car and scored four wins and one second place in five starts.

He also won the Chemainus Community Centre all-Island grand championship trophy, Chemainus Taxi championship trophy, and Key Furniture junior trophy in two races here.

In addition, he won a trip to the B.C. soap box derby finals at Mission next July 1, where the winner becomes B.C. representative at the world championship at Akron, Ohio, with his expenses to and from Mission to be paid for by Port Alberni sponsors of the meet.

Other prizes include a new bicycle, bat and ball, baseball glove and merchandise scrip.

He indicated he is studying the possibility of calling an emergency session of the legislature.

Faubus said Friday night he may call the legislature within 10 days.

The governor had said earlier that many legislators "pressured" him to call them to Little Rock so they could fight back against the federal government's forcible integration measures. Faubus also said that some legislators even offered to serve without pay.

Nanaimo Murder Trial Evidence Concluded

NANAIMO—An Assize Court jury today retired to prepare a verdict in the case of Vernon Ernest Breckon, 34, charged with the March 17 murder on Quadra Island of William Wallace, Indian resident of the island.

Court opened at 10.30, when Mr. Justice J. G. Ruttan made his charge to the jury.

Breckon, who was on the witness stand Friday afternoon, said he had been attacked earlier by the Indian he was accused of killing, and was carrying a knife to "scare" the man.

Following a St. Patrick's Day dance at the island community hall, Breckon said, he saw how a friend, Max Loch, had been beaten up. He was on his way for the police and a doctor, he said, and was carrying the knife and a club when an Indian "hit me with something long and thin over the shoulder."

"I swung my stick and it went out of my hand," Breckon said.

"I raised the knife so he could see it. He then stuck his head in my stomach. I went forward, then straightened up, and he bunted me again. I pushed with the knife somewhere between his shoulder blades. He straightened, then began running around hollering and fell to the ground."

Breckon said he telephoned police and "told them everything" when they arrived from Campbell River.

He took the knife, he said, because Indians had been seen prowling about stripped to the waist, and he was afraid.

Death Linked With Teamsters

WASHINGTON (AP)—A witness told the Senate rackets committee today an ailing Michigan auto dealer was told "they'd wheel him out in a casket" and later died during a Teamster Union strike backed by James R. Hoffa.

The witness was Joseph Kritch, now an automobile dealer in Northville, Mich., and once a big league baseball scout for the old St. Louis Browns.

Kritch also testified that Hoffa, leading candidate for the presidency of the Teamsters' Union, was the real backer of a Florida real estate venture which Kritch said sold useless lots to union members after a high-pressure advertising campaign.

Kritch said that an auto dealer named Love in Rosedale, a Detroit suburb, died during a strike in which Kritch said the Teamsters "put the pressure on" after learning that Love "had a bad heart."

Kritch said he heard the story from Henry Lower, one of Hoffa's lieutenants, and Mrs. Love.

FEW PICKETS

Kritch said the strike occurred in the early 1950s when Lower was head of Teamsters' local 376 in Michigan, which sought to organize automobile salesmen. He said Lower told him the union had only a few pickets at the company until Lower and Hoffa learned that "Mr. Love, who owned Rosedale Motors, had a bad heart."

Kritch quoted Lower as saying the union then "put the pressure on" and sent in 50 to 75 pickets who made obscene remarks to Love's daughter. He said Lower personally acknowledged telling Love "they'd wheel him out in a casket."

Kritch said Mrs. Love told him:

"My husband died. It was a horrible thing. Actually that killed my husband."

Ex-Courtenay Alderman Dies

COURTENAY (CP)—William Henry Kirkwood, 79, who was a member of this city's first council in 1915, has died in New Westminster.

In partnership with John Sutton he established the Sutton & Kirkwood Funeral Parlor here. Three years later he sold his interest to Mr. Sutton and moved to a farm at Stettler, Alta.

Seek Wage Boost

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP) — The Amalgamated Civil Servants of Canada (CCL) Friday decided at its annual convention here to ask the federal government for a salary increase.
